

CIRUNA Club

CIRUNA is the Council on International Relations and United Nations Affairs. Its purpose is to study local, national and international affairs, to interest each member in these affairs, and to relate their significance to him. All students are eligible for membership in this organization.

CIRUNA is a national student coalition dedicated toward constructive change in American foreign policies, and building critical support for the United Nations, its charter, and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. It is a channel through which students and young people throughout the country funnel their ideas and opinions to the top governmental and corporate leaders on international issues. CIRUNA is the only national network of students working the creation of better international understanding in this society and has approximately 500 affiliated campus groups.

Some of the objectives are to develop a body of effective student leaders in international affairs, not simply leaders of other students but individual are able to link the various elements of American society together at the community level for the purpose of understanding global problems and urging effective American action for their solutions; these are some facts and objectives of the national organization of CIRUNA.

The local chapter has a project underway involving a series of lectures by representatives of various groups on campus. Examples of the groups are foreign students, women, faculty and freshmen. It is hoped that these meetings will serve as a service to the college. Kemp Savage is the current president of CIRUNA.

The purpose of the Alpha Psi Omega is to stimulate interest in dramatic activities by promoting and producing plays that will develop and train the student in speech and drama. A student must be an active participant in the college theatre arts department, take part in play productions by either acting or working behind the scenes, and maintain a satisfactory scholarship to be eligible for the club.

The Psi Upsilon cast of Alpha Psi Omega honorary drama fraternity initiated nine new members on October 2, 1972. The new members are: Judy Stamey, Boiling Springs; Judy Greene, Richard Suttle, Charlotte; Paul Chang, Boiling Springs; Danny Spillman, Walkertown; Beth Honeycutt, Lawndale; John Byrd, Belmont; John Fowler, Cowpens; and Sue Hunnicutt, Black Mt. Assisting in the ceremony were Wanda Louise Haynes, President; Sharon Capps, Vice-President; Stan Napier, Secretary-Treasurer; and Scottie Thomas, Dr. Charles Cox is the fraternity's advisor- sponsor for this school year.

Psychology Club

president; Carolyn Robinson, secretary; Heath Livingston, treasurer; Vickey Cobb, program chairperson.

The purpose of the Psychology Club is to simulate the interest of psychology majors in areas of psychology in the academic and the non academic worlds. Club activities seek to reinforce in a positive and constructive way the classroom lecture. The sponsoring of a dance at Western Carolina Center for exceptional children and a retreat type program during the spring semester are two examples of the agenda for the club.

ALPHA NU OMEGA

The Interclub Council of GWC, Alpha Nu Omega, elected Bob Decker, Chairman; Leland Kerr, Vice-Chairman; Pam McCall, Secretary; and Debbie Gaskill, Gay Greene, Financial Coordinators. The members of Alpha-Nu Omega consist of the presidents or authorized representatives of recognized campus clubs and organizations.

The purpose of ANO-ICC is to unify all campus activities, facilitate communication among campus activities, co-ordinate the schedule of organizational meetings and activities, to further coordinate organizational activities for accomplishing common objectives, and to initiate new projects and club participation.

A recognized club is one which has been approved by a majority vote of the ANO-ICC and the Student Life Committee. Also the SGA Executive and Legislative branches and the publications are official members with full voting privileges.

Thirteen organizations of Alpha Nu Omega-Inter Club Council includes approximately thirty organizations. The council meets twice a month for a dinner meeting.

"Miss Anchor"

The ANCHOR staff has nominated twenty students for the title of Miss Anchor. She will be chosen on November 28, following a dinner. The judges will be two dice jockies, one from Shelby and one from Kings Mountain, and ANCHOR editor, John Fowler.

Miss Anchor will be presented to the study body during a chapel assembly. She will be selected on the basis of beauty, poise, personality, and school spirit.
