Sue Mace shows why she was chosen Most Valuable Player.

The annual Powder-Puff football game was held on Wednesday, October 16, at 7:30 p.m. in Spangler Stadium. The opponents were the champion intramural team from Nanney and the All-Star team, picked from the best players in the other dorms. The "lovely cheerleaders" were selected by each player.

The ball was received by the All-Stars on the one yard-line and moved to the third by Sue Mace. The game continued in favor of Nanney, and with two minutes left in the first half, a touchdown and an extra point were scored.

The highlight of the half-time festivities was the crowning of the Powder Puff Queen. Many "lovely ladies" were in competition for the honor and the final decision was really tough, I'm sure. Finally after introduction of all the cheerleaders and their sponsors, first runner-up, Gary Robinson was announced. Moments later, Miss Powder-Puff 1974, Danny Cook, was crowned. Danny was attired in an adorable outfit: a light blue hip-bugger skirt with matching midriff top. It was really a unique combination!

Also during half-time, Sue Mace was chosen as the Most Valuable Player by the referees. Nanney Dorm was named the Most Valuable Girls' Intramural Team for 1974.

The second half continued with Nanney scoring another touchdown. The point was good, making the final score 14-0.
