Religious Emphasis Week D At Cardner-Webb

The Gardner-Webb Christian Emphasis Week will be held from February 10 through February 14, 1975. Every day in Chapel and each night, there will be special presentations by Christian entertainers.

The Chapel presentations begin on Monday with Ken Flowers, Ben Cook, and George Blanks. On Tuesday, Ron Moore will entertain. Pat Terry and his band will be on stage on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Ed Kilbourne presents two programs.

Special evening events feature musician Ron Moore and the comedy team of Ben Cook and George Blanks on Monday. They will provide the entertainment for the BYW Sweetheart Banquet at 8:00 p.m. in the Bulldog Room.

Tuesday evening, the Pat Terry Band presents musical entertainment. This Christian rock group will also perform in the Bulldog Room.

Ed Kilbourne presents some informal music assisted by the Pat Terry Band on Wednesday evening. This show will also be in the Bulldog Room.

Mr. Kilbourne returns to the campus on Thursday and Friday nights to perform in Bost Gymnasium. Each night he will present a new show.

ED KILBOURNE, A BEARDED FELLOW AT GWC

Ken Flowers is presently entertainment director at the Joyful Noise, a Christian night club in Atlanta. The Joyful Noise is an extension of the One Way Christian night club in Birmingham, Alabama, the longest running establishment of its kind in the United States. Ken is also a songwriter and a singer.

Ben Cook is both a Christian educator and sportswriter. He is at present working as Minister of Youth at Cloverdale Baptist Church in Atlanta and writes a weekly sports column for The Sports Page, an Atlanta paper. He began sportswriting 10 years ago during his college years. Ben, along with George Blanks, has been spreading the Christian gospel through their comedy routines for four years.

George Blanks is also a Minister of Youth. He works at Ensley Baptist Church in Birmingham, Alabama and tours with Ben telling of his belief in Jesus.

Ron Moore is a performer from Michigan. He expresses his Christian life through original songs and testimony.

Ed Kilbourne, a Colorado resident, is a singer and guitarist. He accompanies himself on both the acoustical and classical guitars and occasionally is backed up by the Traveling Chancel Band. At one time, Ed was a minister in the United Methodist Church, but now sings and records full-time.

The Pat Terry Group is from Atlanta and is comprised of Pat Terry, Sonny Lallerstedt, and Randy Bugg. Pat is a guitarist and lead vocalist and writes all the material for the group. Sonny is the lead guitarist and helps vocally. Before joining Pat, he was with the Group, "Dove." Randy plays electric bass and was also a member of "Dove."

All of these entertainers will be on campus during the week. If requested, they will make appearances in classes and be available for personal talks with students.
