

Ensemble To Have Four State Tour

The Choral Ensemble will be going on Spring Tour beginning Friday, March 7, through Wednesday, March 12.

They will be performing in the following places: On March 7, a performance will be given in Hickory and Asheville. The following night, the Ensemble will be in Maryville, Tennessee. Sunday, March 8, they will be in Knoxville and Nashville, Tennessee. Manchester, Tennessee is the next stop for the Spring Tour.

Moving south, the Ensemble will perform in Rome and Atlanta, Georgia on Tuesday. To finish the tour, the last performances will be held at Gainesville Junior College in Gainesville, Georgia and Clemson University in Clemson, South Carolina. The ensemble will return Wednesday, March 11, and go home for the rest of spring break.

The Choral Ensemble is the official touring group of the college. It is in its 12th year of performing. The group consists of 26 male and female members. They have made over forty appearances and have done an excellent job of recruiting for the college. The ensemble is under the direction of Dr. Jerry Hill.

These students take time from their spring break to tour and represent the college. By performing and touring, the group receives experience in singing and fellowship with each other.

"The Starry Messenger" Next In Film Series

A series of films have begun showing at Gardner-Webb on the Ascent of Man. This compiled documented series deals with the history of man as a phenomenon in which science emerges as a natural activity in each age of life. It is a program concerned with cultural evolution and man's progress in this evolution. The late Dr. Jacob Bronowski, noted scientist, mathematician and writer narrates the series.

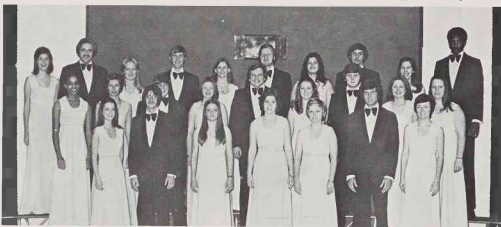

The Starry Messenger, the sixth, has as one of its themes the conflict between dogma and science—a problem that faces man today. The Majestic Clockwork, is about two intellectual giants who have greatly added to man's knowledge of the universe. The Driver For Power is next high shows a series of revolutions; two political, the other industrial. All three, according to narrator Dr. Bronowski, are social in nature.

The Ladder of Creation

delves into the paradox of life sciences which the theory of evolution seeks to explain. World Within World is the tenth of the series in which Dr. Bronowski goes from an ancient salme to Oak Ridge, Tennessee, and its huge atomic reactor to show in a colorful way what is matter.

Knowledge or Certainty is Dr. Bronowski's personal view of the moral dilemma that confronts today's scientists. Generation Upon Generation is next, which shows the importance of sex as a means of diversification of species.

The Long Childhood is the last of the series, shows the importance for science to be humanistic is urged. Everyone is urged to attend the series. They can be seen Monday at 4:00 in the Hamrick Building. Special showings can be seen in the library at 8:00 on Monday evening.

Mission Fellowship Newest Addition

"And ye shall be witnesses unto me . . . and unto the uttermost part of the earth." Acts 1:8. An organization called the "Mission Fellowship" has started on campus. It is a member of the B.S.U. of Gardner-Webb and the officers and members are looking forward to a semester of accomplishments and work. The purpose of this organization is "to participate in the promotion of Christian Missions by mission programs."

Mr. Robert Trexler the advisor for the organization said, "We aren't having some club just to be having one. We want to supplement and work along with the other religious organizations on campus. We hope this organization will become very meaningful to others."

The officers for the Mission Fellowship are as follows: President, Gary Threat; Vice-President, Pam Smith; Secretary, Janie Barton; Treasurer, John Sutton; Prayer Chairman, Ann Elliott; and the Outreach Chairman is Keith Dickson.

The Mission Fellowship organization provides information, inspiration, and programs that center around missions. It believes in two important things: prayer and outreach. The organization feels that a person's relationship with God must be okay, before he can reach out to others. So, through Bible Study and prayer they hope to strengthen their relationship with God so they can reach out to other students on campus. They hope with their outreach programs they can go into churches and get some churches and communities more involved in missions.

Some future plans for this organization include: a drama mission group, a few groups who will go out to different churches and help them understand how important missions really are, a group of summer missionaries who will go out and share their experiences and finally, they want to start a lay evangelism in communities.

Mission Fellowship has 60 members at this present time and they are wanting to increase this number and even get the whole campus involved. Regardless of your major, if you are a christian and are interested in missions then you are welcomed to join. If for some reason you cannot support this organization by your membership then at least support them through your prayers.

Circle Who

The Circle K Club of Gardner-Webb College has had little trouble starting an active program. Our lack of members has held us back a great deal. So far, all we have been able to do is collect money and donate it to those in need of hospital and medical needs.

Now our club is ready to do nothing but move forward. Those who are in the club are ready to make Circle K the best club on this campus.

Circle K is an international college club, and is a highly respected club on every campus where there is a club.

The theme for the 1974-75 Circle K International is "Challenge to Action" and you can be a part of that action here at Gardner-Webb.

If you are interested in becoming a part of this action, then come to any of our meetings on the first and third Tuesday of every month at 5 p.m. or get in touch with Tom Keener (this year's President) who lives in Lutz-Yelton Dorm or any Circle K member. No matter what your sex is you are welcome and needed in Gardner-Webb's Circle K. Come and become a part of the "Action."

FCA

Recently, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes' Chapter at Gardner-Webb met. The Fellowship is a national organization which focuses on the importance of God and christianity in the life of each athlete.

During the meeting, plans were made to establish better FCA programs in various surrounding high schools. Several high school coaches attended the meeting. Committees have been chosen to help establish a more enriching chapter at Crest, Shelby, and Burns High Schools.

Due to the success and accomplishments of the chapter at Gardner-Webb, an adult chapter in Shelby is in the process of formation. Acknowledge: George Giliam Vice President of FCA
