

THE PILOT

Gardner-Webb College

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1975

BOILING SPRINGS, NORTH CAROLINA

New Campaign Begins Here

SPECIAL EVENTS CENTER

Choral Group Performs

The Gardner-Webb Choral Clinic presented their annual concert Tuesday, at Boiling Springs Baptist Church.

Dr. Eugene Simpson, a nationally known clinician from Glassboro State in New Jersey conducted the combined choral groups. The program was flavored with a Bicentennial theme. It consisted of three popular American works: Charles Ives' "Psalm 90," Howard Hanson's "Song of Democracy" (a poem by Walt Whitman), and the classic "Battle Hymn of the Republic," arranged by Peter J. Wilhousky.

The Gardner-Webb choral groups were assisted on the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," by selected local high school groups.

This is the fifth year that the choral clinic has been held. Dr. Phil Perrin of the Music Department explained that the purpose of the clinic is "to give our students an opportunity to experience the great, large choral works of each period of music history."

A concert for the spring semester is being planned.

RESIDENCE HALL COMPLEX

New Directory Is Available

Work is now underway for the formation of a student directory.

The directory will include the student's name, campus box number, dorm, room number and phone numbers. Day students will be listed with their name and phone number only.

In order for a student's name to appear in the directory, it is mandatory that he or she sign a specific form giving approval. The forms may be signed by resident students in their dorms. Day students will have an opportunity to sign a form after chapel.

Gardner-Webb has recently begun a campaign to improve living and learning facilities for students. The organizer of the campaign, Mr. Bill Briggs, and the workers in the campaign hope to raise the proposed $10 million needed to accomplish their goals, by 1980.

The $10 million is divided into three main financial goals. They are, endowment needs, new construction needs, and resource and equipment needs.

Endowment needs take up $5 million of the proposed $10 million. These needs include $2 million for operations. Operations involve the upkeep and continuance of the physical plant, and maintenance.

A second use of endowment needs is for student financial aid which takes up another $2 million. Financial aid includes $1 million for endowed scholarships and $1 million for a revolving loan fund.

The last $1 million of endowment needs is to be used for the salaries of faculty members. Salaries are somewhat below the national average. Not only do salaries need to meet the average and stay with or above it, but senior faculty need to be rewarded for many years of service.

The second aim of the campaign is entitled "new construction needs". The four buildings proposed total approximately $4,000,000.

The special events building, costing $2.5 million, is to be used for various activities of the college, such as large religious, cultural, and athletic events. It is to be large enough to hold a gathering of both the Gardner-Webb student body, faculty, and staff, and the public.

The residence hall complex ($500,000) is being planned of modular construction to provide easy expansion in response to demand. The apartments will be convertible to family living units also.

The School of Business building is being planned due to the fact that the present Business Department is outgrowing its facilities. With more industry moving into this area, the Business

(Continued On Page 3)

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS BUILDING

Bicentennial Program Begins

Recently, a Bicentennial program was approved for Gardner-Webb in conjunction with Cleveland County as part of the North Carolina Humanities Committee activities. Dr. Tony Eastman, a history professor here, is head of Cleveland County's "community action forums."

The community action forums are town meetings in which various topics will be discussed. The topics will come under the main topic of the relationship of today's society to the principles of the Declaration of Independence, entitled "Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness."

The discussions are designed to make people more aware of governmental problems today and help them to find solutions to the problems. Persons who have studied the philosophical side of the Declaration will be a part of the 12 town meetings. Topics will be discussed in relation to the local and national levels.

Five main topics will be discussed under the larger topic of "Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness." The first is "All Men Are Created Equal."

The first sub-topic under "All Men Are Created Equal" is "Health: Right or Privilege?" Some of the questions to be discussed are: what is the promise or threat of National Health Insurance? Is Cleveland County giving the best medical care available to all people, no matter their economic status?

The second sub-topic is "Education: Right, Privilege, Obligation?" The main issue will be the role of national and local government in education and whether they should be involved at

(Continued On Page 2)

SCIENCE BUILDING ADDITION

SNEA Holds Meeting

The Gardner-Webb Chapter of the S.N.E.A. (Student National Educational Association) held its second meeting last week. An interesting and informative program on school law was presented by Mr. Jess Taylor.

The theme for this year for the club is "Make It Happen," and this is exactly what they want to do. One goal of the organization is to work toward improvement in teacher preparation through personal involvement and experience. Eight projects have been proposed to work within this theme.

Any student, no matter their classification is invited to join. Contact Terri Sigmon and Debbie Goodson (HAPPY) or Judy Gillespie (Stroup).