Religious Emphasis Week

The only junior who will be preaching is Robert Pettyjohn. Robert is a Biblical Languages and Literature major. He will speak at the Thursday morning service.

Robert is from Camden, S.C. and plans to go to seminary upon graduation from Gardner-Webb. Although he is not sure as to which seminary to attend, he does know that he will go into some form of Christian service.

One reason Robert is attending Gardner-Webb is that Gardner-Webb offers what he needs for his future. Another reason for coming here is that "Gardner-Webb is in the blood. Members of my family have attended this school and I decided to come too."

In case of illness or emergency with one of the speakers, John Linderman will fill in. John is a sophomore psychology major from Kings Mountain.

After graduation, John plans to go to Southwestern seminary. He explains that "instead of being a religion major, I want to learn about people and understand them, a counseling type thing, and I would only duplicate courses at seminary otherwise."

John came to Gardner-Webb after two years in the Marine Corps. He was mainly seeking a "friendly, Christian atmosphere where he could not only give Christian love, but receive it as well."

John loves to work with young people and help them to understand God's love.

Special Olympics held soon

On April 29, the Special Olympics will be held from 9:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. The event will take place in Spangler Stadium.

The Special Olympics is an event designed specifically for mentally retarded children (trainable classification) ranging in age from 6 to 23 years old.

Mrs. Launtra Proctor, coordinator of the event, expects approximately one hundred children to participate. "Some are in wheelchairs and will have to be pushed," says Mrs. Proctor, "but they will compete."

Events will include the Wheelchair race, 50 yard dash, 220 dash, Running Broad Jump, High Jump, Shot Put, Basketball Throw, Football Throw, Frisbee Throw, Sack Race, and Softball Throw.

Competition is in the following categories: Under 8, 8-9, 10-12, 13-15 and Over 16. Boys compete with each other, as do girls.

Mrs. Proctor says, "This event is the climax of our Adapted Physical Education's (P.E. 402) weekly work with the children at the Children's Center. The stu-

M*A*S*H to be presented

by Rus Anderson

With most of its regulars standing by, the company of the 4077th Mobile Army Surgical Hospital sets its sights on, and characteristically prepares itself for, Operation M*A*S*H; with production target dates set for April 28, 29 and 30.

The action centers around the compound of the 4077th M*A*S*H unit; set somewhere in Korea, sometime during the Korean Conflict. Included in the Operation are scenes depicting the effects of war, (with some character orating moral judgments of it), the camaraderie of a company with a common purpose, and the humor that imagination, stirred by necessity and boredom, can bring.

The M*A*S*H compound is geographically located across the road from the intramural field. Students need only their I.D.'s and a bit of imagination to experience M*A*S*H.

The company of M*A*S*H includes: Len Keever as Colonel Blake, commanding officer of the 4077th; Chris Goethe as Trapper John; "Speedy" Milbrook as "Radar"; Michael P. Cox as Hawkeye; Syd Caudle as Duke; and introducing Debbie Hall as Major Margaret "Hot Lips" Houlihan.

Other troops are: Tom Swinney as General Hammond; Dana Dillon as Captain Bridget McCarthy; Aleeta Walker as Lt. Janice Fury; David Cox as Captain Frank "Quack-Quack" Burns; Kevin Moen as Father Mulcahy; and John Yvars as the "painless, Polish dentist," Captain Walt Waldowski.

Supporters in the cast are: David Fairchild, Larry Owens, Joy Burrell, John Sutton, Russell Anderson, Karen Clodfelter, Debbie Pierson, Donna Lail, Genael Wade, Melanie Rabb, Marion Gibson, Sharon Grindstaff, Diana Hartman, Wanda Turner, Jane Dick, Duane Dening, and Miriam Robinson.

The Commander/Director of the company and the man largely responsible for all this madness is senior student director, Tom Hutchens.

GWC receives new program

The School of Medical Technology at Charlotte Memorial Hospital has entered into an agreement with Gardner-Webb College whereby Gardner-Webb students may earn the bachelor of science degree in medical technology.

The program requires students to complete three years of study at Gardner-Webb and a full calendar year of instruction in medical technology at Charlotte Memorial Hospital. The degree will be granted by Gardner-Webb.

"We are excited to enter into this affiliation with Gardner-Webb for the purpose of increasing the effectiveness of both institutions in education for the important branch of medical technology," said Dr. John T. Cuttino, director of the School of Medical Technology.

Students enrolling in the program must complete the basic course requirements as prescribed by Gardner-Webb plus supportive studies and electives as outlined by the college. The major course in medical technology will be taken at Charlotte Memorial Hospital.

Gardner-Webb has a similar agreement with the Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest University.

Pre-registration begins

Pre-registration for the fall semester has begun as of Monday, March 29. Schedules of courses can be picked up in Mrs. Polly Wylie's office.

In order to pre-register, Mrs. Wylie instructs that the student should see his advisor to work out the individual schedule on the blue course card and to bring up to date the Academic Progress Report.

After this procedure, one should submit the blue card and the white copy of the Academic Progress Report to Mrs. Edwards.

Beginning on April 20 with student nurses and rising seniors, students can pick up their IBM printed schedule.

The Spirit of Truth will perform tomorrow morning in chapel and again after the evening revival service at 8:00 in Best Gym. The group is comprised of six young adults in full-time Christian music ministry.
