

Truth

An energetic young singing group appeared on Gardner-Webb Campus on Tuesday Nov. 15. The group was Truth, a spiritually led group of young people who love the Lord and came to tell us about it.

This group was an inspiration to many students and faculty members. The message and music touched many hearts and there was a great response at the invitation. Truth mixes a combination of hymns, rock, pop and other types of music to bring an often forgotten message into everybody's language.

Comments such as "fantastic", and "far out" were overheard as the audience was leaving the gym. Many remarked they would like to see other groups like Truth come to Gardner-Webb Campus.

New Trustees

Gardner-Webb College today announced the new members of its Board of Trustees. They are: Miss Dorothy B. Anstell of Raleigh; John F. Ayers, Jr., of Charlotte; Mrs. Carolyn Baker of Lincolnton; Lloyd C. Bost of Shelby; Jess Croon, Jr., of Charlotte; Grady S. Duncan of Gastonia; George Elliott of Reidsville; Pete Hearn of Winston-Salem and Robert of Mt. Airy.

In the meeting of the Board of Trustees on November 18, R. Patrick Spangler of Shelby was elected to his eighth term as chairman of the Board and Hobart C. Smith of Charlotte was elected chairman of the executive committee and vice chairman of the Board.

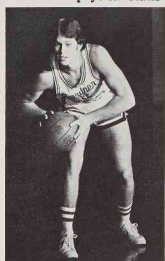

Honor Code Survey

In Convocation on November 29, the SGA distributed about 400 surveys on a proposed honor code at G-W.

Out of the 101 returned, 61 said "Yes, we should have an honor code," 35 said no, and five weren't sure. The SGA wanted to see what the students know about honor codes. But the majority of students are misinformed.

When asked about this problem, Pressley Stubs, SGA President, replied that students want more responsibility, and this is an excellent area to accept it in. An honor code is not another rule or burden. Its purpose is "to promote the responsibility of individuals, to promote academic excellence and integrity, and to provide mutual trust among the members of G-W society."

Playing this year in the high post, forward position is 19 year old sophomore, Ed Cook, from Statesville, N.C. He has the physical statistics that Robert Redford would envy - 6'6", and 210 lbs. Ed has been playing ketalball since the ninth grade when his older brother introduced him to the round ball and hoop. After playing for two years in a Prep School in Portsmouth, Va. Ed received a scholarship to Gardner-Webb. "I consider myself very fortunate to play ball here on a scholarship. In my opinion there isn't a better small college basketball program around."

Last year as a freshman Ed averaged five points a game. He has high hopes and expectations for this year's close-knit team. Ed's hustle, determination and desire to win are true characteristics of a dedicated ball player.

Joyce Hill

One of the new faces shining in the Lady Bulldogs Basketball team is that of Joyce Hill. Joyce is a 6' 140 lbs. freshman from Newport, N.C. is a strong reserve center for the team. Her high school record of 15 pts. a game, player of the year, and 3-A-All-Conference, gives the team a player with great potential and experience. Joyce feels this year's Lady Bulldogs have a all-around good team "As a team we stand tough. We have unity, good spirit and one goal - to win."

Alpha Chi Inductees

The Gardner-Webb College honor society, Alpha Chi, has inducted 15 new members into its fold.

Alpha Chi is open to juniors and seniors with a 3.4 or better average (B plus or better) and who are in the upper ten percent of their graduating class.

Alpha Chi members act as marshals at graduation and other official college functions. In addition, they may submit papers to be published or read at regional or national conventions of the Society. Alpha Chi members also compete for scholarships.

Yearly the Alpha Chi members on campus select the faculty member to receive their coveted faculty merit award.

Students Demonstrate Spirit

Approximately 50 students and faculty members participated in a Spirit Rally which started at 7:00 p.m. on Friday Nov. 18 and continued until 7:30 p.m. Saturday the 19th. The rally was planned by Tim Farmer, class president; Jamie Pilkenton, vice-president; and Mr. Prevost. The event took place at the track with someone running the "Spirit-stick" for the full twenty-four hours.

What could possibly motivate someone to participate in this event? For some it was a way of showing school spirit, for others it was a way to get attention, and some it was something to do.

The average runner ran four or five laps and stayed a couple of hours. But if it wasn't for the dedication (insanity) of Reid McKenzie, James Smith, and Joel Clary (they ran from 9 p.m. Friday until 9 a.m. Saturday) the rally would not have lasted. Wesley Biggestaff finished with 82 laps, about 20 miles.

When it was all over fifty students and four faculty members had run a total of 175 miles. Ray Louis came in 2nd with 50 laps. Pete Polletta came in 1st place for the girls with 26 laps and Charlotte Fletcher ran 21 laps.
