

The Lighter Side

In every issue of The Pilot, a section called The Lighter Side will appear. The section is designed to be satirical. Therefore, NONE OF THE STORIES ARE TRUE!! With this in mind, enjoy The Lighter Side of Gardner-Webb...

Noel T. Manning, II was accidentally mistaken for Wierd Al Yankovic at a recent Club GWC dance-a-thon. "Wow, what an honor..." Manning was quoted as saying.

Randy Kilby recently turned down a reported $1.1 million to play the Riddler in "Batman II: The Sequel". He was quoted as saying, "I'm waiting to play the Rooster."

More news on Kilby... A source from the Webb Building has uncovered a skeleton in the Associate Dean of Admissions' closet. Yes, that is Mr. Kilby (see picture). However, the lady pictured with him is not his then-girlfriend-now-wife, Dana. Notice how tenderly he has his hand around the woman, gently pressing on her arm as that smirky grin dashes across his face (the cat that ate the canary). Is it possible that they were trying to make a fashion statement or were they just caught "innocently" in each other's company? [Editor's note: Thanks, David R.]

An Update on the hostile WGWG takeover...

M. Allen Setzer has given in to the more beautiful music demands of Robert Harrelson, Joe Alverson, and the Fishman. Said Setzer, "I wanted to rock, but they wouldn't let me. I had no choice but to give in. I'm not through fighting yet, though..."

Resident Life Director Amber Culver recently won first prize and $11,569.93 in the 3rd Annual Annie Look-Alike Contest in Shelby. Congrats, Amber!

9-23-89 -- Tom Hanks Double
Feature -- 9pm
DCC Lounge

"The 'Burbs" - Comedy abounds in this hilarious tale of a suburban family man in his mid-30's (Hanks) who spends his one week vacation at home and gets caught up in his neighbors' apprehension over the strange behavior of the new family on the block. Their paranoia leads to uproarious misadventures, turning the quiet neighborhood upside down.

"Big" - Tom Hanks gives one of his finest performances in the gigantic comedy hit "Big." Hanks stars as a twelve-year-old boy who gets more than he bargained for when a fortune-telling machine grants him the ultimate wish - to be Big. When he is magically transformed into a 35-year-old man, Hanks feels lost and alone in a grown-up world. Penny Marshall's big-hearted romantic comedy about a bewildered boy trapped in an adult body is perfect entertainment for audiences of all ages - and sizes.

Coming Homecoming Week -
"Fletch Lives"
OMG Lawn

He's a Southern gentleman...a faith healer...a coon hunter...a termite inspector...he's Chevy Chase as the irrepressible I.M. Fletcher, the not-so-intrepid investigative reporter in this uproarious sequel to the 1985 smash hit "Fletch." Chase again masters his multiple disguises as our sleuthing hero travels to the sprawling plantations of Louisiana where he finds himself entangled in a hotbed of local intrigue when all he wanted was a little rest.

Questions/Complaints/Comments/Suggestions about the cafeteria? Paula Myers and Lana Chambers are heading up the Food Committee this year. They will be meeting with Ray Cooper of American Food Services, so see them for any comments or questions you may have.
