

UPCOMING EVENTS

Let's SEA What's Happenin'
 Oct. 6--"The Birds" 9 p.m.
 Oct. 12--The Imperials Concert
 Oct. 13--"Psycho" 9 p.m.

That's Entertainment

Off the Wall

By Noel T. Manning, II
 Entertainment Editor

Sometimes I find myself reading headlines of the world's greatest newspapers...so, for today, I will share with you some of those fantabulous stories that you may have missed!!!

Off the Wall News

"Drip, drip"--Weekly World News--Sub-title: Man bleeds to death--while watching TV! A German man cuts four fingers to the bone with a knife, just before a TV comedy show was due to air. "The man actually held his hand over a big plastic bucket so he wouldn't bleed on his carpet. His sister found him dead in an easy chair, TV blar-ing, when she visited his apartment the next day." Local police say, "For his sake, I hope he had a good time watching his show. For his sake I hope he died laughing." (Oh, that's a horrible thing for those law enforcement officers to joke about.)

"Ants Invade Man's Brain"--Sun--Sub-title: Docs drill hole in his skull to spray insecticide! Baffled medical authorities in Brindisi, Italy, had no recourse but to call an exterminator. (In my medical opinion, I think it would have been more cost effective to have bought a can of Raid Ant and Roach Killer.)

"Man Jailed for Beating Doll"--National Examiner--A laughing tale about a guy fined $130 for punching out a plastic, inflatable blonde on a street in Wake County, North Carolina...(Yea, great, this is the kind of stuff North Carolina is going to become famous for.)

"Worshippers Send Millions to Holy Elephant God"--Sun--This takes place in India...not the Asheboro zoo!!!

"Naked Thief Turns Into Human Icicle"--Weekly World News--Another strange story from New York about a burglar who stripped to squeeze through a vent in a Chinese restaurant. He got stuck and, after 10 hours, froze to death in five degree weather...(I'm sure if I had the time I could come up with a few cold jokes about this one.)

And, finally. "Elvis Spotted in Russia"--Sun--More lies about the guy that is actually giving out pizza and coupons on the campus of Gardner-Webb. The story says he was first seen near Kiev in the wake of the Chernobyl disaster. ("I think he wanted to do something, help in any way he could," notes a U.S. Elvisologist). Now, according to a Russian bystander, "He's developing a keen interest in Soviet classical music. He was tired of rock music. He wants to learn about great composers like Tchaikovsky and Rimsky-Korsakov." (Now that's the part I have a hard time believing...The KING of Rock and Roll changing his tune!!! No way!!!)

And I'm afraid that just about wraps it up for a look at Off the Wall News! Oh, don't cry!!! So, until I decide to disgrace you with my presence once again...I'm Noel T. Manning, II asking this..."Why does Fred Flintstone have only three toes???"

Don't Forget!
 Homecoming is Oct. 27!
 This year's theme is
"Tradition of Excellence"

Love's Still Changing Hearts

THE IMPERIALS
 Friday, October 12, 8:00 p.m.

Edited by Russ Williams

The premier contemporary Christian pop group, the Imperials, will bring their high-spirited, message-filled show to Boiling Springs on October 12. The concert, sponsored by the Gardner-Webb Student Entertainment Association, will be held in the Paul Porter Arena of the Lutz-Yelton Convocation Center at 8:00 p.m.

The Grammy and dove award winning group has been a pacesetter for over twenty-five years. They have performed with the likes of Elvis Presley, Jimmy Dean, Pat Boone, and Michael Omartian. Country singer Larry Gatlin was an Imperial for a brief time.

Today, the Imperials (Armond Morales, bass; Dave Will, baritone; Ron Hemby, lead; and newest member David Robertson, tenor) are surging ahead, making a major impact on the charts of Contemporary Christian music, effecting positively the lives of those coming to concerts. More than ever, the Imperials have a clear call and vision of seeing lives changed and God glorified.

"The Imperials have never compromised their ministry of music," says Morales, original member of the group. "And even more exciting is how God continues to refine and renew the vision and ministry of the Imperials individually and corporately."

With new member David Robertson, the Imperials not only have a strong new lead singer but a fresh and serious songwriter as well. Robertson comes to the Imperials from Hollywood, California. He was a session vocalist for a variety of television programs and movie scores. With David's father being a pastor, he has been a part of music and ministry since childhood.

The Imperials newest release with new label Star Song "Love's Still Changing Hearts" not only affirms the Imperials trademark vocal harmonies and artistic presentation, but this album is a classic portrait of why the Imperials continue to reign in Contemporary Christian music. Simply, they strive for the freshest sound and most innovative presentation of their music.

The Imperials are now touring their 36th recording which has shot to the top of the radio play as well as the sales charts.

Please join the SEA on Friday, October 12 at 8:00 p.m. Admission is free with GWC ID. Tickets for non-students are available. For further information, call the SEA Event Hotline at 434-2361, ext. 357 or 346.