

GWU holds Parent Weekend September 25-26

by Mark Dixon
staff writer

The SEA congratulates the football team on their victory over Lees McRae. Now we are looking forward to parents weekend on September 25 - 26.

We encourage every parent of a Gardner-Webb student to attend these two days so that they might gain a better understanding of the departments and atmosphere of Gardner-Webb University.

On Saturday at 9:30 a.m., the annual Parent's Association Meeting will be held in the Dover Theatre. All parents are members of the association and are invited.

A social hour with the faculty follows the meeting and it will be held at 10:45 a.m. in the DCC Banquet Hall. This is an excellent time for parents to meet the professors from each department in a friendly atmosphere on campus.

After a morning of meetings, parents have the opportunity to enjoy a picnic lunch at the DCC before heading to Earnest W. Spangler

Dr. Bottoms consults his Psyche in order to welcome parents during last year's Parent Weekend.

Stadium to cheer for the Bulldogs.

On Saturday, the Runnin' Bulldogs will be in action against Newberry College. This is an exciting year for Bulldog sports as they compete in their inaugural season in the NCAA division II.

Then, following dinner is an "Evening of Jazz" featuring j-Street in the DCC Banquet Hall. This band is back for its second appearance at Gardner-Webb and adds a little class, style, and sophistication to the evening.

So put a little action into your day with the Runnin' Bulldogs and jazz up your night with the soothing sounds of j-Street.

The observatory will also be open beginning at 9 p.m. with Tom English on hand for tours and information.

Sunday activities includes a student-led worship service at 10:30 in the Dover Chapel.

This is a weekend you do not want to miss. For more information regarding this annual event, contact Audrey Sloan in room 237 of the DCC.

Parents may attend meals in the cafeteria located in the DCC. Non-students must pay at the door. Coffee will be served during registration on Saturday in the concourse of the LYCC

Parent Weekend Schedule

Saturday, September 25

8:30 - 9:30 a.m.	Parent Weekend Registration	LYCC
9:30 a.m.	Annual Parents' Association Meeting	Dover Theatre
10:45 a.m.	Social Hour with Faculty	DCC Banquet Hall
Noon	Picnic Lunch	DCC
2:00 p.m.	Football Game	Stadium
5:00 p.m.	Dinner	On your own
8:00 p.m.	An Evening of Jazz	Dover Theatre
9:00 p.m.	Observatory Open

Sunday, September 26

10:30 a.m.	Student-led Worship Service	Dover Chapel
------------	-----------------------------	--------------

An Evening of Jazz

by Andy White
staff writer

This Parent Weekend, the smooth sounds of j-Street will echo through the Dover Theatre. Listeners with a taste for hot jazz should not miss this promising band.

Students may remember j-Street from their performance on campus last February. Since then, good things have been happening with the group who have only been together for two years.

Their Shelby debut was in August when they opened for nationally known jazz vocalist, Marie Howell.

That appearance led to opening slots for Najee, Sade, and Digable Planets earlier this month.

GWU alumnus Llare Scott leads the band on keyboards. Bassist Harold Brown, sax man Clyde Cumberland and drummer Ben Brown complete the group.

Often compared to Kenny G and David Sandborn, j-Street's own brand of contemporary jazz is catching the ear of some very important people.

"(The band) is very excited about all the positive things that are happening," said Scott who invites everyone to "an exciting evening of music."

See j-Street on Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Dover Theatre.

Inside

BSU Calendar	page 2	Faculty Q & A	page 3	Sports	page 4
A Look Back	page 3	Ed Clark Profile	page 3	Have a nice day!	