The presidential election heats up

by Greg Carpenter
editor

To aid you in the voting process, The Pilot has compiled a mini-biography of each candidate including their platform, classification, field of study, extracurricular activities etcetera:

John Miller:

Senior,
Management Information Systems
Extracurricular:
U.S.A.R. Reserves
and Basketball Manager

Miller served his country during Desert Storm and feels that his experience in the military has taught him how to work with people to achieve a goal.

Miller wants to build a solid foundation and rebuild stronger relationships between students and the faculty. Miller also wants to work hand in hand with the students and see a joining of the body, mind, and soul.

An illustration of this is Gardner-Webb itself as the skin, the faculty/administration as the mind seeking to share knowledge, and the students as the soul who drive the whole learning process.

He wants a total involvement in all areas. To achieve this, Miller promises to work closely with students on a social and political level.

Unity is a very important issue to Miller in this election. He feels that you must have unity among Student Government officers, the student body, the faculty, and the administration in order to accomplish anything.

He also cites his experience with athletics at Gardner-Webb as a positive influence in learning how to work with people.

Miller will be able to serve a full term if elected president.

"I'll serve as a binding junction between the mind and the body,"

Jeff Price

Junior,
Political Science major
Extracurricular:
S.G.A. Vice President,
SAC President, Internist
for Congressman Alex McMillan, member of numerous committees

Price is relying on continuity to win the election. As in last year's election, he would like to see S.G.A. meetings on WEBBNET and see minutes of S.G.A. minutes published in The Pilot.

Also, student involvement is also a key concern for Price as it was in last year's elections.

Price also boasted on his accomplishments as S.G.A. vice president concerning his involvement with the new visitation and constitution.

Candidates for S.G.A. Treasurer

Crystal Higgins:

Junior,
Religious Education
Extracurricular:
Senator-at-large,
S.G.A. Secretary and Treasurer, SAC V.P., member of numerous committees

Higgins cites her experience as her main asset. In her address last Tuesday, she challenged the student body to make GWU what you want it to be.

"Experience makes all the difference."

Heather Robertson:

Junior,
Biology / Pre-Med.
Extracurricular:
Volleyball / Softball,
senator, presidential
associate, honors
program, member of various committees.

Robertson says that many students have no idea what goes on in S.G.A. and she feels that her job as secretary will be to inform students and invite them to senate meetings.

"A vote for me is a vote for you the student."

Unopposed Vice President

Kevin Bess:

sophomore,
extracurricular:
tennis team, senator, constitution committee

Secretary

Penny McMillan:

Freshman,
Chemistry / Pre-Med.
"S.G.A. is a trust; officers are trustees."

Candidates for Student Entertainment Association Chair

Kim Corns:

Junior,
Social Science
extracurricular:
R.A., R.H.A. President, Chair of the Dance Committee for S.E.A.

Corns wants to bring more diverse entertainment to campus in order to cater to all students. One specific idea is to have theme dances.

Her campaign theme this year is Colors of Diversity.

Michelle Dyer:

Junior,
Music Ed. / Sacred Music
extracurricular:
Concert Choir, Show
Choir, Alpha Psi
Omega (drama club),
S.E.A member, R.A.

Dyer promises to place emphasis on finding out what students want. She make more opportunities available for Christian entertainment and dramatists, but does not want that to overshadow bringing mainstream acts to GWU.

Dyer's them is Put a Little Magic Into Your Year.

Scott Elliot:

Sophomore,
Sacred Music
extracurricular:
B.S.U. and F.C.A.
council member, co-
chair of special events
for S.E.A., Band,
Choir, and Chorale

Elliot wants to see an end to the image Gardner-Webb has as a "suitcase university." He claims that he can make a difference and will strive for more student involvement and more diverse entertainment.

His theme is Make a Difference.
