Exciting Plans Announced For Sadie Hawkins

Nov. 27 through Dec. 2 has officially been declared as Sadie Hawkins week. During this week the Dogpatch custom of female-court-male will be the rule. Climax of the week will be a costume dance Saturday night.

Girls must favor the boys for the entire week. Dates will be carried out in reverse manner— girls will call for the boys at the boys' dorms. Girls will treat the boys to coffee, cokes, and such, and should be available for book-totin' on that long journey across the causeway.

During lunch and supper hours on Monday and Tuesday, Sadie Hawkins licenses will be on sale in the Student Center for ten cents. These Li'l Abner and Daisy Mae Tags, declaring that the possessor is a licensed hunter or legal bait (female and male, respectively) are to be worn all times while on campus for the entire week.

If a male (or legal bait) is caught without his license, the Dogpatch procedure will be temporarily suspended and the male will be required to follow the usual customs of treating the females.

The Saturday night dance will feature an eight piece string combo for square dancing, but the "twisters" will have a chance to perform to records played between the squares. Prizes will be awarded to winners of the novelty numbers and relays.

Admission to the dance will be 75c per person— unlicensed persons, that is; all those who wear their Sadie Hawkins tags will be charged only 50c.

Orders For College Rings Taken Tues. And Wed.

COLLEGE RING AS SKETCHED BY BALFOUR ARTIST

Orders Taken In The Student Center Lobby

Orders for the official St. Andrews ring will be taken Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 21, and Wednesday morning, Nov. 22, in the lobby of the Student Union. The ring is to be made by the Balfour company out of Charlotte N. C. The approximate cost is to be $30 to $40 for the men's ring and about $25 for the women's.

The general description of the ring is as follows: it is to be of 12-14-16 penny weight in size, with a heavy dark blue stone with a St. Andrews cross set in gold on the stone. It is to have the college seal and knight of St. Andrews on opposite sides of the shank, and includes the college name, class, year and degree around the top of the stone.

The orders are to include second semester juniors and seniors. There will be a five dollar deposit required, with the balance to be paid upon delivery. It is expected that the finished rings will be returned by the end of May.

Educators Meet On Campus

Dr. William C. Archie, director of the North Carolina Board of Higher Education, will address public school superintendents and high school principals from throughout the two Carolinas in the Liberal Arts Auditorium Tuesday at 3:30 p.m.

During the Inaugural Program educators will observe St. Andrews' new program and initiate the series of events leading to the installation of Dr.

DR. W. C. ARCHIE, Speaker

Ansley C. Moore as first president of the college in April 1962.

Dr. Archie, a native of Salisbury, was dean of Emory University's College of Arts and Sciences before assuming his present position early this year. Formerly dean of Wake Forest College, he was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's and Gen. Lucius Clay's French interpreter at meetings of Allied Control Authority in Berlin, July-November 1945.

"St. Andrews is happy to extend this invitation to public school leaders to see the contemporary-style campus and observe our exciting new educational approaches in action," said Dr. Charles G. Vardell, Jr., chairman of the faculty committee on the inauguration of the president.

Public school educators will be welcomed to Laurinburg by Mayor W. D. Lytch at the opening luncheon at 12:15 p.m. in the Student Center cafeteria. Following the meal, student guides will conduct tours of the facilities and explain the new curriculum and the program of campus life.
