Gen. Romulo To Lecture In Armory Monday Nite

St. Andrews' Concert-Lecture Series announces that General Carlos P. Romulo, noted journalist, author, international diplomat, and champion of freedom, will be the speaker Feb. 5 at 8 p.m. in the Laurinburg N.G. Armory.

General Romulo had formerly been scheduled to speak Dec. 4, but due to a national crisis, he was forced to interrupt his lecture series and return to the Philippines to assist the government.

Romulo, a graduate of the University of the Philippines and Columbia University, served during World War II as aide-de-camp to General Mac-

Arthur on Bataan, Corregidor and in Australia. He was promoted to Brigadier General in Sept. 1944.

Gen. Romulo is the recipient of the Philippine Congressional Medal of Honor, the Gold Cross, the Silver Star, and the Purple Heart.

He has been editor of several newspapers and head of the English department at the University of the Philippines for four years. He was president of the Fourth General Assembly of the U.N., 1949-50, after having been head of the Philippines Delegation to the U.N. from its inception until 1953. He has served as an ambassador to the U.S. and as Philippine representative on the U.N. Security Council.

In addition to his other abilities, Gen. Romulo has written such books as I Saw the Fall of the Philippines; I Saw the Philippines Rise; Crusade in Asia; and Friend to Friend; his latest book is an autobiography, I Walked With Heros.

In recognition of his literary accomplishments, Gen. Romulo received the Pulitzer Prize for distinguished journalism in 1942. Since that time he has been awarded the Gold Medal Award from World Government News for work in the U.N. as well as 35 other Gold Medal and international awards for his distinguished work for peace.

CHAMPION OF FREEDOM — General Carlos Romulo, international diplomat, will speak at the N.G. Armory next Monday at 8 p.m.

Dr. E. H. Jones To Lead Service On 'Who Am I?'

Dr. Edward Jones, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Norfolk, Virginia, will be on campus Feb. 13-15 for Services of Christian Growth. His addresses will be built on the theme, Who Am I?

The Prophet Co. Begins Service Thurs. Morning

Thursday's breakfast will mark the initiation of the new St. Andrews food service, installed in the cafeteria by The Prophet Co. of Detroit, nationally known firm for over 43 years.

Possessor of some 300 other accounts, including General Motors plants, colleges, hospitals, and public restaurants, the managing company plans very little change in the cafeteria organization, according to H. A. Montague, company head who is also president of the National Restaurant Association.

The scramble system will be retained with the bread and butter table being moved into the dining room to reduce confusion. Meals will be served at the usual times, and new tickets will be issued at the beginning of spring semester.

A student food committee, advised by W. Lawson Allen, new co-ordinator of student affairs, will be organized to approve menus for weeks at a time.

At lunch and supper students will have a selection of two meats as well as vegetables, salads, desserts, and beverages. Second helpings will be served in vegetables, beverages, and bread and butter.

During the year special meals, including Hawaiian luau, Roman banquets, chuck wagon suppers, holiday festivities, and smorgasbord dinners, will be served.

Present cafeteria employees and student workers have been offered positions in the new food service management. As southern district manager of the Prophet Co., Walter DeGraaf will be supervisor of the St. Andrews system.

Dorms Sponsor Zodiac Dance, Commemorate Semester End

Mecklenburg and Wilmington dormitories have combined their efforts to bring to St. Andrews a celebration, this in the form of a dance, to be held Feb. 1. It is to be in the cafeteria from 8 to 12. Advance tickets are on sale for $3 or $2 stag. They will also be sold at the door for $3.50 and $2.50 respectively.

The entertainment will be the Zodiacs of Charlotte. This group was formerly known as the Gladiolas, with such popular hits as "Little Darling" and "Sweetheart, Please Don't Go." The name of the group was changed in 1958 due to a legal technicality caused when they changed managers. This name was decided by the group and taken from a book.

Renowned Group

The group has been together for a long time and have acquired quite a reputation. They have appeared in New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, and many other places on the east and west coast, as well as on the Dick Clark Television Show. They are always popular on college campuses.

The leader of the group is Cal McKinney of Norfolk, Virginia who holds a degree in music from Columbia University. McKinney does all the arranging for the group and also writes. There are other outstanding men in the group including Albert Hill, Harry Ford and Willi Cathy.

Maurice Williams is featured vocalist for the combo.

Mary Collins Wins Beauty Contest

Miss Mary LeVan Collins, the first Miss Lamp and Shield, is being presented her official crown by Johnnie Hamrock, Business Manager of THE LAMP AND SHIELD.

Blue-eyed, brown-haired Mary LeVan Collins from Marion, S. C., was crowned Miss Lamp and Shield in the beauty pageant held here at St. Andrews on Saturday, Jan. 20. From a field of 14 semi-finalists, Mary went on to the finals and was chosen as St. Andrews' loveliest young lady.

Barbara Hasty was first runner-up, Diane Kearns, second, Diane Monroe, third, and Linda Steed was fourth.

19-Year-Old Queen

Miss Collins is 19, measures five feet seven and one-half inches, weighs 125 pounds and has light blue eyes and dark brown hair. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lee H. Collins of Marion.

In addition to her new title Mary LeVan holds the titles of Miss Marion, Queen Iris of the South Carolina Iris Festival, and Miss Merry Christmas of South Carolina.

Mr. Robert Gustafson, master of ceremonies, led the activities as the number of contestant was narrowed from 28 to 14. The five finalists chosen from these 14 were asked two questions and were judged partly by their answers to the questions.

Entertainment during the program was provided by Nyal Womble and Violet Culler, vocalists, and a singing duet, Elaine Ward and Elaine Batts.

Students To Try For College Choir

Tryouts for the St. Andrews College Choir will be held Friday, Feb. 2 at 4 p.m. in the Choral Rehearsal room (conservatory) for all interested persons who have not previously auditioned.

At this time, group ear and individual voice tests will be given.

Mr. Lawrence Skinner, Director, would like to particularly urge more boys to come and try out for the choir, especially bases.

The college choir represents St. Andrews both on and off campus. A tour, chartered trips, home concert, performance of major choral works and appearances in chapel constitute a major part of the choir's work throughout the year.

ATTENTION

Contestants in the beauty pageant are asked to check by THE LANCE office between 5:00-6:00 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 2, or call the Managing Editor regarding photos made at the pageant.
