MR. LEWIS HOY

A Catastrophic Blessing?

Darkness, darkness, everywhere,

Throughout the Student Center;

Darkness, darkness, everywhere,

in the middle of the winter.

Technically, the present inconvenient lack of electricity in our Student Center is due to the failure of some vital transformer. Replacements are on the way, but although this is the so-called "jet age," they are taking centuries to arrive. The weeks are passing and still there is no sign of improvement in the lighting facilities in the house of fun and play here on the campus.

Just what have been the reactions of those involved? They are as varied as our individualistic student body is in every usual way, it appears.

The adjustment to remaining patient in an attempt to calmly get through a meal under those blinding spotlights after the food has been haphazardly selected in a cave-like cafeteria has been only one of the little hardships endured by all. Imagine the difficulty of distinguishing a spade from a club if playing bridge in a room sixty feet square which is brightened by a single fifteen watt bulb!

But there are also those who have quietened their complaining gripes to faint murmurs of approval as the merits of this emergency situation become more apparent. What could be lovelier than the late evening sunset reflected over the lake as viewed from a supper table immersed in semi-darkness? The lack of the bright lights is popular earlier in the day also as a sleepy-eyed breakfasters grope around groggily, thankful for the dimly lit area. And what about the wonderful possibilities offered to those who cherish that every minute spent in togetherness away from the maddening crowd and conspicuously-brilliant lighting effects. Romantic? Well, certainly as close to it as an S. A. Student Center could ever be!

The darkness is here, the darkness is there, The darkness is all around. But not for long we hope?

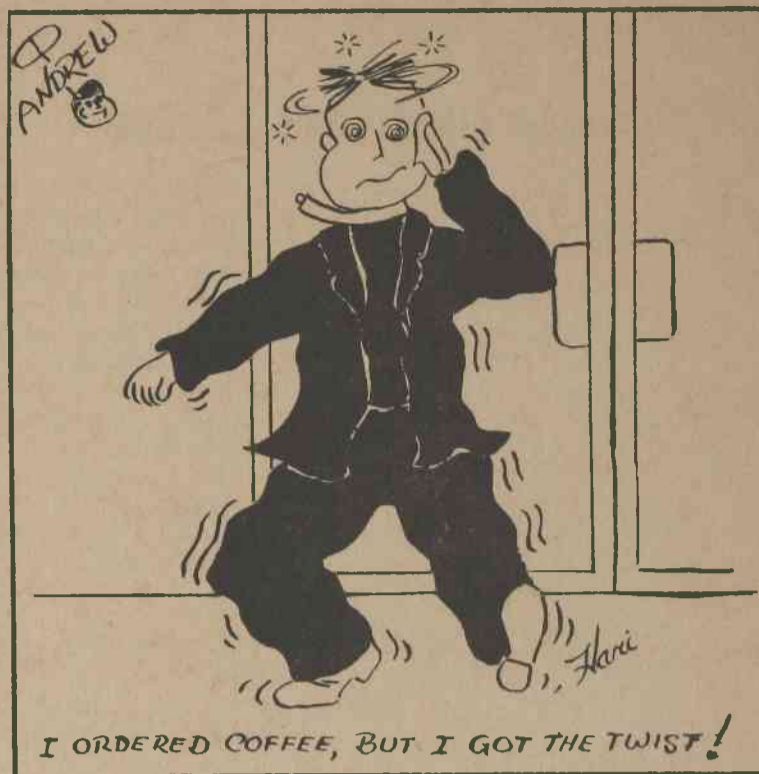

Students dine in semi-darkness wondering what they are eating and from whose plate they are taking it.

Bridge Club To Be Formed

An organizational meeting for a Duplicate Bridge Club will be held Friday night, March 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the faculty dining room. Mr. Jamison Hoskyns, who will be the Director of this club wants "all people who play bridge to come out." This club is for the benefit of those who are advanced in their bridge playing and wish to further their knowledge of the game through playing with preset hands.

Duplicate Bridge, the type of bridge played in the National and International Tournament Bridge Meets, requires special equipment to set up the hands and keep records of the way hands were played. The Club will meet every Friday night from 7:30 until 10:30.

At the organizational meeting, officers will be elected and it is hoped that a few hands of Bridge can be worked in. Mr. Hoskyns will explain the intricate art of this type of playing.

Center Theatre Features New Foreign Film Series

By BILL CAMPBELL

St. Andrews College students have a new experience in store for them with the foreign film series inaugurated by the Center Theatre in Laurinburg at the quest of several members of the college faculty. These faculty members feel that the cinema can be a fine arts form, and that while we do occasionally see American made films that fit into that category, our knowledge of film making is incomplete without an exposure to that art as practiced by film makers of other countries. This is not to say, of course, that all films produced in other countries are good, or that they are even better on the average than American made films. However, Professor Hoskyns feels that "like any other art form these days, the good ones are things that the informed person cannot well afford to miss. Thus the series is for, particularly, St. Andrews students and others who may be interested."

The series began 3 weeks before with Ingmar Bergman's unforgettable "The Seventh Seal." In the Spring months Ingar Bergman's equally famous "Wild Strawberries" will be shown. Through the Spring months the series will include such films as "Breathless," the shocker with Jean Seberg (another nouvelle vague creation), and "Two Women," the Italian film based on Alberto Moravia's novel by the same title, in which Sophia Loren stars. Miss Loren recently won the New York Film Critics award for the Best Foreign Actress of the year for her efforts in this film, and will undoubtedly be up for the same category in the Academy Awards. "Double Bunk," is a British farce in the great tradition of their recent comedies, and will follow Sophia Loren's performance. The series includes "Pather Panchali," a film produced in India and the first part of a trilogy, the latter two parts to be shown by the Center early next year. An important film recently made in East Germany by the Lutheran Church, "Question 7," shows the influence of Communism on the Iron Curtain youth. These are some of the types of films that will be shown this year and the interest of the faculty, students, and others will determine the number and quality for next year.
