

Golfers Have Best Athletic Record

The Knights of the Green at St. Andrews are currently swinging at a 900 pace. They have won 9 of their 10 matches this year. The only loss this year was to East Carolina. S.A.P.C. lost by only 2 points, 14½ to 12½. Last week our golfers beat E. C. on their home course 16½ to 10½. E. C. won the last match on the last hole with a 30 ft. birdie which put the icing on the cake.

Last Thursday the putters bounced back to outdo ACC 18 to 9. The strong ACC team wilted under the hot golfing of the Bills (Goodale and Zachary), both had a low 74. Coach Hoy said that Bill Goodale had been playing just great, and that he has been the most consistent on the team. He has been the medalist in at least 90% of the matches, shooting between 69 and 77.

Team Play Chief Strong Point
One thing that has helped the team a great deal this season is the fact that the last 5 men play close together. Everyone on the team has competed in at least 3 matches. This excellent depth and the ability to pick up points on the latter holes have helped the team's record. Commenting on the team attitude, Coach Hoy said "The attitude of the golf team was one of individualism at the starting of the season, but by the 6th match this attitude had developed into an attitude of teamness, they had jelled into a real team." This is an aspect of college golf that people often overlook, but is one of the most important aspects of college golf.

Coming Matches
There remains only two more matches for the golf team this season. Monday they compete in a triangle match with College of Charleston and Pfeiffer. Friday the Knights of the Green travel to Buies Creek to take on a very tough Campbell team. The Campbell team has shown to be a real stinker on its home course.

Baseball Team Bows To Pembroke

After the third inning last Thursday the Knights opened the gate at home plate and the Braves of Pembroke State stomped through. Going into the third inning, the Knights led 2-1. By the end of 8½ innings the score was 24 to 4. With the bench in the game the Knights came up with 6 runs in the bottom of the 9th.

Senators Fight NSA

ative Committee. Non-academic matters, other than those which would involve constitutional changes will have to be passed by the Administration before they can become effective. Matters involving constitutional changes follow a more complicated route: a two-thirds vote by the students, approval by the Student Life Committee, and final approval by President Moore.

Chief among the ideas advanced for constitutional alteration is to be a re-defining of legislative procedure. The new system would see legislation originating in the Senate, with that body giving detailed study to all matters before it through an expanded Senate committee system. All legislation in non-academic affairs approved here would go to a new body, the Legislative Review Board. All legislation approved here would then go directly to the President of the College.

Interpretation of the Constitution and By-Laws of the Student Association would be moved to the Student-Faculty Committee under the new proposals.

Another proposal would place the Food Committee under the Senate, which will establish new procedures for the choosing of the committee's membership. This new Senate committee, like several other newly recommended committees under this legislative body, will not restrict its membership to Senators only.

Judicial
A proposal was made to set up an Honor Court composed of five students which would handle cases of the type handled by the Honor Court and the Student-Faculty Judiciary Committee this year. A new Student-Faculty Court, made up of three students and three faculty members would review all cases in which the Honor Court recommended the punishment of expulsion or suspension.

The Student-Faculty Committee would also be an appeals body for all appeals from the Honor Court; this court would rule on all interpretations relative to non-academic matters provided for in the Handbook.

A suggested interpretation of "college jurisdiction" is that, other than concerning college sponsored or recognized affairs off campus, a student's conduct off campus is not subject to college jurisdiction unless his conduct casts unfavorable reflection upon the college.

Academic

The Academics Committee suggested a ruling concerning class cuts and the matter of overcutting classes. On the matter of overcutting, for each overcut of a class one semester hour and subsequent quality points could be lost in that subject. Of course, if a student should expend all his class hours in a subject in this manner he would receive an F in the course.

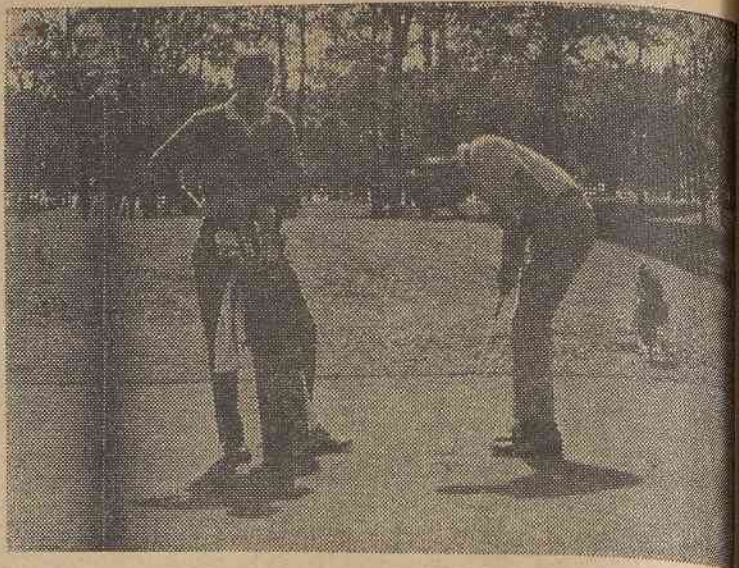

It was recommended that Freshmen students be given one class cut prior to the end of the first grading period. That is, a Freshman could cut once before he receives his quarter grades and be allowed an unexcused absence. This "free cut" would then be deducted from the number of cuts that the Freshman earned at the quarter.

Dorms

Restricting use of the telephones by Freshmen in the dorms during study hours was one suggestion of the Dorms Committee. Also, it was recommended that for the first semester Freshmen women be required to have lights out at midnight unless special permission is obtained.

Activities

The convention supported a recommendation from the SCC that a temporary chapel be set

Bill Zachary (l.) and Bill Grossman loosen up on the putting green.

DEPUTATION TEAM TRAVELS ABOUT STATE

The word "deputation" means a person or persons appointed to represent others. St. Andrews' Deputation Team represents not up, and that more student participation in chapel be incorporated.

It was also suggested that the SCB have the responsibility for coordination of all social events of the college.

These foregoings are only recommendations and suggestions, or matters that were merely discussed with no aim toward immediate modification. The avenues of permanent changes or establishment have been outlined, and each and every one of these previous proposals and recommendations must follow one of these routes only this school but all colleges in general.

Organized last fall, the group seeks to present a basic question to the many high school students they visit. "After High School — What?" is the topic the team members share in their Sunday afternoon treks to churches within a 100-mile radius of the college.

The traveling collegians have to know all the answers, for after they present their ideas inevitable onslaughts of questions begin. Questions are usually centered around faculty-student relations, college curriculum and dormitory life.

Chairman of the St. Andrews group is Melinda Webster, junior.
