

Last Fall Foreign Film Comes December 4-5

The final foreign film in the fall series will be shown at the Center Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 4 and 5. This is Bergman's release "Winter Light," second in his trilogy about man and God, the first of which, "Through A Glass Darkly," was shown last year.

"Winter Light" involves the minister of a parish in a small Swedish coastal town, his mistress, a fisherman, and his pregnant wife. In one day the minister discovers there is no longer any communication between God and himself, a discovery made through his disastrous relations with the fisherman and the mistress.

Time magazine says: "Sweden's cinematic poltergeist, Ingmar Bergman, once more haunts the dark and chilly corridors where man loses God, and once more the soul in torment seems to be that of Bergman's. Has God (as Bergman poses the question through the film) spoken a lesson of his authority and man's humbleness? Bergman draws no conclusions."

And from the New Yorker review: "Winter Light" is the latest installment of Ingmar Bergman's running debate with God -- a God who, for him has either the rudeness to pretend to be deaf or the nerve to be non-existent. A forbidding sounding movie but it is, I assure you, a beautiful one as well. Still another reason for bravely committing yourself to it, is the presence of several members of the Bergman repertory group, including Gunnar Bjornstrand, Ingrid Thulin, and Max von Sydow, as the pastor, his mistress, and the doomed fisherman, respectively."

David Bar-Illan

David Bar-Illan, Concert Pianist, To Play Tonight

David Bar-Illan, young Israeli pianist, will be presented here at the third of the Concert-Lecture Series Friday, November 22, at 8:00 p.m. in the Laurinburg Guard Armory.

The recital will open with Mendelssohn's Capriccio, Opus 14. Following this will be Paul Ben-Haim's Suite, Opus 34 (My Native Land); Schubert's Fantasy in C major, Opus 15 (Wanderer); Prokofiev's Sonata No. 3 in A minor, Opus 28; Chopin's Barcarolle in F sharp major, Opus 60; Five Chopin Etudes; Chopin's Nocturne No. 8 in D flat major, Opus 27, No. 2; and Scherzo No. 3 in C sharp minor, Opus 39, Chopin.

NATIVE OF ISRAEL

Bar-Illan was born in Israel in 1930 and started his training in Haifa. He soon won a scholarship for study in the United States. This musical study was interrupted when he returned to his native land where he joined the Israeli army during the War of Independence. Later he completed his studies and graduated from the Juilliard School and the Mannes College of Music.

Mr. Bar-Illan has been engaged for a 20-concert tour with the San Antonio Symphony for this season. He will also make debut appearances with the Philadelphia and Cleveland orchestras and will make guest appearances with other major United States orchestras as well as a nationwide recital hour.

"A POET OF THE KEYBOARD"

Bar-Illan's interpretations of the great classics of the repertory have marked him as "a poet of the keyboard" (New York Post), however, he is equally at home in the modern idiom. He has introduced many works by his Israeli countrymen, such as Ben-Haim, whose Suite will be performed here Friday night.

Music Teachers

The National Association of Teachers of Singing will meet at St. Andrews on Nov. 30 to hold the singer of the year auditions. Seven contestants, ready for professional careers, will participate, with a $1,000 scholarship and concert engagements going to the winner. On Dec. 27-30, the winner will represent the south-east at the national convention in Detroit.

SNEA Members At Conference

Seven members of the St. Andrews Student National Education Association attended the annual fall conference of the Student North Carolina Education Association held last Saturday at Raleigh. Main speaker for the event was Miss Lois V. Edinger, president-elect of the National Education Association, who spoke on the 1963-64 theme, "Creativity and Culture: Emphasis on Excellence." A session of circle discussions followed Miss Edinger's talk.

In the afternoon a three-student panel spoke on the committees, projects, and programs of SNEA chapters.

Those who attended were Sybil Thomas, president of the SA SNEA, Peggy Dillard, Toulia Yeapanis, Lane Deese, Charles Quick, Brenda Johnson, and Miss Marion Hamilton, assistant professor of education.

Students Plan Recitals For Every Wednesday

Student recitals have been a part of the Conservatory curriculum since its beginning at Flora MacDonald College. They are presented each Wednesday at 5:00 P.M. and are open to the public. Although most of the students who perform are music majors here, some are students who are taking music courses in addition to their regular curriculum.

Wednesday, November 13, the program consisted of Boellmann's Suite Gothique, Toccata, Maxey Foxworth, Organ; Handel's Ombra mai fu, and Arm, Arm, Ye Brave, Walter Boyce, Bass, and Roger Lamb, Accompanist; Bach's Trio Sonata No. 2 in C minor, Bob Gant, Organ; and Beethoven's Bagatelle, Opus 117, No. 11, Mary Field, Pianist.

It is stressed that these recitals are not for music majors alone, but are open to the public.

Committee Discusses Problems

The senate food committee, which has recently had two meetings, had discussed the problems concerning the food in the cafeteria and the students-complaints.

The committee plans to meet every other week. At the meetings Thomas S. Kanonas, director of food services, will present the menu for the ensuing weeks. The members of the committee will look over and discuss these menus.

Ed Howard, committee chairman, said that anyone having complaints concerning the food should contact Mr. Kanonas if the problem can be taken care of immediately. They may also contact Ed concerning such matters.

The members of the food committee are, Robert F. Davenport, assistant dean of students, Silas M. Vaughn, business manager, Charles Stephens, manager of auxiliary enterprises, Mr. Kanonas, Ed Howard, Bill Perryman, Margaret Price, Sue Opydyke, and Rebecca Carter.

Highland Players Plan Production

The Highland Players are preparing for their production of Tennessee Williams' play "Summer and Smoke," which will be presented Wednesday through Friday, Dec. 11-13, at 8 p.m. in the Liberal Arts Auditorium. Professor Thomas Johnson is director.

McDonald Talks At Meet

Professor Arthur McDonald, assistant professor of drama, led a session on religious drama at a workshop at Campbell College last Saturday. Professor McDonald directs Theatre Montreat at Montreat, N.C., and is editor of the theatrical quarterly, "Southern Theatre."

Hosts for the event were the Campbell Players. Workshop delegates attended the Saturday evening performance of "The Field God" at the college as guests of the Players.

PBL Hears Lee Speak

The Honorable Jamie F. Lee, attorney-at-law and member of the House of Representatives of the South Carolina General Assembly, was the speaker at the November meeting of Phi Beta Lambda. Mr. Lee, a native of Bennettsville and representative from Marlboro County, graduated in Economics and Law from the University of South Carolina.

He explained the procedures through which legislation takes place in his state and the duties of the state legislators. He also discussed opportunities for young business graduates in government and politics on the state level, stating that a background in business administration is the very best preparation for careers in governmental positions.

Mr. Gordon Sanders, a president of the St. Andrews Chapter of Phi Beta Lambda, presided at the meeting. Mr. Robert Hatcher, Program Chairman, introduced the speaker.
