

UNCMatmen Victorious

Wrestlers from the University of North Carolina beat the St. Andrews Knights by a score of 20-11 last Saturday in the new Carmichael Gymnasium at Chapel Hill. A good sized crowd, including several carloads from St. Andrews, saw the Knights keep the score even in the lower weights, but fall behind as the weight classes got heavier.

The match started out with a forfeit by Carolina to John Ogle, giving the Knights a 5 point advantage. In the 130 lb. weight class, Jim Goodwintied the score for U. N. C. by pinning Terry Jaywork in the first period.

The best match of the afternoon was in the 137 lb. weight class, Warren Maxon for St. Andrews and A.C.C runner-up John Stacey battled to a 6-6 tie in individual points, and Referee Charles Parker awarded the match to Stacey on the basis of riding time to put the Tar heels ahead of quickness and stamina against veteran Carolina wrestler Bill Cook. Though Buzz lost a 4-0 decision, he wrestled well and should be a valuable point maker in future matches.

Another Freshman, though a veteran wrestler, Tom Teal showed his experience in defeating Lane Verlenden in an 8-0 decision. Although never actually pinning his opponent, Teal kept his man on his back most of the match to make the score Carolina 11, St. Andrews 8.

Bowlers la Third As Diac Season Moves Along

In their first competitive meet of the 65-66 season, the kegglers of St. Andrews downed N.C. Wesleyan 3 to 1 in competitive points.

The Knights rolled a robust 880 first game to defeat their opponents by more than 110 sticks, and finished with an 829 to overcome Wesleyan by 31 pins. The second game was dropped by the Knights 849 to 796. The Knights won in total pins by 92 sticks, 2505-2413.

Sophomore John Burchill headed the team with a 235 game and a 565 set total. Following Burchill was Frank Ligon with a 517 set.

Second place Lynchburg College leads the league with a 902 team game average, followed by first place Charleston with an 876.

Scholarship to wrestle St. Andrews, makes better wrestlers of the Knights.

Tarheel coach Sam Barnes, himself a champion, spoke only praise for the improvement the Knights have made since last year. He complimented Coach Morgan on the Knight's performance, telling him that he was looking forward to an even closer match next year.

Frank Grier switches on Steve Lister of U. N. C. to win.

The Tarheels pulled ahead in the heavier weights with three decisions. Bob Armour lost a close one in the 160 lb. weight class to Jay Jacobson by a 3-2 decision. Carolina's Alan Marshall decisioned George Pistoris 13-0, and Fred Preister did the same to Frank Powell (8-0) to put Carolina ahead 20-8.

In the heavyweight division Frank Grier put in a decision over Steve Lister 4-2. Knarf fought well and might have had a pin had he been wrestling any other man.

Although the Knights lost the match, they gained valuable experience in the first bout of the season. Just the effort of wrestling men who are on

College Heads Copy In COACH AND ATHELETE

In the October issue of COACH AND ATHLETE, St. Andrews was honored as the school of the month. Mentioning all phases of the St. Andrews' curriculum, the article centered around our now expanding athletic program.

"Every student at St Andrews discovers quickly that the physical education department will preach two main sermons. One is on the necessity for physical fitness, and the other promotes the value of lifetime sports.

"This summer workmen installed a six-hole 'pitch and putt' golf layout near the all-weather track, which has been in full use for the past two seasons.

"This past spring the Knights dug their spikes for the first time into one of the best drained and most attractive collegiate diamonds in the South, dedicated in May as Clark Field in memory of J.C. 'Cap' Clark, former big league star and later operator of a sporting goods store in Fayetteville.

"New last fall was a soccer field which brought with it a new and rugged sport to the Knight's athletic program."

The newest tentative program of the athletic department is a $1,200,000. physical education building. Ground breaking for this project is expecting to commence sometime in February.

"Plans for this new structure call for four basketball courts, an extra-large swimming pool, handball courts, a wrestling room, bowling alleys, a physical fitness weight training room, a multipurpose game room, and a first aid training room as well as facilities for visiting teams and for classrooms.

"Two years ago St. Andrews took the initiative in steps to form the six college Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. Joining the other charter members Charleston and Lynchburg Colleges were Charlotte College, N.C. Wesleyan, and Methodist Colleges.

"All D.I.A.C. member schools offer no scholarships or other aids to students for athletic athletic abilities. This gives a wide-open opportunity for students without superior abilities to compete in an intercollegiate athletic program.

In addition to the nine men's varsity sports, basketball and tennis are offered to the women.

The article fully covers the intramural program as well as the physical education classes.

"Freshmen students get exercise in physical development and team games. The sophomore year is entirely co-educational and includes only activities with a high carry-over value as a lifetime sport.

The article exemplifies our well rounded athletic program, and shows the concentration on expansion and improvement that the department is putting forth.

St. Andrews' well known student director, Roger Lamb will lead his choir at Church in the Pines in their Christmas Program this coming Sunday at 11:15 a.m. The church choir is composed of many students here as well as members from the church. The Childrens choir, led by Nancy Lackey promises to add to the love and beauty of the service. Roger and all the other choir members join in wishing you all safe journeys and a Christmas brimming over with happiness and peace.
