

Poetry Contest By Freshmen Department

The Freshman English department is directing two separate poetry contests, one for students who are enrolled in English 102 and the other for those people within a fifty mile radius of the campus.

Three monetary prizes are being offered in each contest. First prize will be $15.00, second prize will be $10.00, and third prize will be $5.00.

The typewritten entries are to be submitted by February 15, 1966, on 8½ by 11 paper to the English 102 professor for the contest and to Dr. W. D. White for the general contest.

The text of the poem should utilize only one side of the paper. The name and address of the author should appear on the reverse side of the first page of the manuscript. Each contestant may submit only one entry which is unlimited as to length.

The primary selection for the freshman contest will be made in the English 102 section in which the student is enrolled while the primary selection for the general contest will be made by Dr. White and Alton B. Gibson, superintendent of the Laurinburg-Scotland County schools.

Final selection of winners in both contests will be made by Sam Ragan, executive editor of the RALEIGH NEWS and OBSERVER and RALEIGH TIMES and by Edwin Gill, treasurer of North Carolina and a native of Laurinburg.

The winners will be announced and the prizes awarded at "Happening IV" of English 102, Monday, March 14, at 7:30 P.M. in the Liberal Arts Auditorium.

Entries will be judged for originality and effectiveness in conveying experience. Beyond these criteria, it will be the prerogative of the judges to establish criteria for judging the poems and their decision will be final.

Scott Lieutenant-Governor To Speak At St. Andrews

Bob Scott, the Lieutenant Governor of North Carolina, will be on the St. Andrews campus Monday, February 14, 1966. He will be the guest of the St. Andrews chapter of the Young Democrats Clubs, and will speak to the members of the club at a supper meeting with them in the small dining room at 5:00. All members of the student body who are interested in hearing Mr. Scott speak are cordially invited to attend the supper meeting.

Mr. Scott was elected to his present position in the state government in the recent campaign which elected democratic nominee Dan Moore governor. Mr. Scott has long been active in the state Democratic party, filling various positions in the party and the state government prior to his election to the office of Lieutenant-Governor.

Mr. Scott is the first of a series of speakers which the Young Democrats Club plans to bring to the campus during this semester as part of an effort to acquaint the members of the club and the campus as a whole with the functions, programs, and aims of the Democratic Party, both national and state. Included in the program is Pat Taylor, Speaker in the North Carolina State House of Representatives, who will be here March 10.

All members of the student body who are interested in the supper meeting at which Bob Scott will speak are encouraged to attend and hear this member of our state government.

Business Department Plans Trip To New York For Seminar

Over Spring Vacation, Mr. Gentry Wade of the business Department will take a group of interested St. Andrews students to New York on a Field Seminar in Marketing.

This is the third year the trip has been made. The group of thirty-five students will hear discussions by executives of marketing organizations and will be given the opportunity to ask questions.

On Saturday, March 26, the bus will leave St. Andrews arriving at the destination point Hotel Shelbourne in New York on March 27.

The first on the schedule is the New York Stock Exchange. The group will wait in the Visitors Lobby on the twenty-eighth of the opening of the Exchange. Monday morning was selected since there is generally more activity after the weekend. At the Exchange, the group will hear an hour lecture by Dr. Allen Felix, the director of college relations for the Exchange.

Other highlights of the trip include visits and discussions at American Telephone and Telegraph Company, Diamond International, Burlington Industries, Humble Oil and Refining Company, the Chase Manhattan Bank, Young and Rubicam Advertising Agency, and J.C. Penny Company.

Mr. Wade feels that "this is one of the most educational experiences that a student can participate in." He invites all students interested in the seminar to contact him before February 15. It should be noted that the seminar is NOT limited to marketing majors. All are invited to participate.

According to Mr. Wade, it has been their experience "That the people that talk with them actually make the books come to life in practical business surroundings."

WRA Intramurals

The W.R.A. is in full swing rounding the corner of winter and heading into the spring semester.

Last week freshman Peggy Gamble of Granville Dorm won the W.R.A. single elimination ping-pong tournament downing last year's champ, junior Betty Ann Ford.

Participants in the W.R.A. will be bowling for the next three weeks to be followed by intramural basketball. Softball is planned for later in the spring.

Calendar

may find it hard to get back into the swing of things. Sharkey says that two weeks is an ideal length of time for Christmas break.

Mary Ann Sifford likes the new schedule because many of her friends--those going to Clemson and Winthrop--are now on this type of schedule.

J. T., student from a North Carolina university who dates a St. Andrews co-ed, favorably comments that it will be good not to have to carry things over until after Christmas and not have to worry about studies over Christmas. There should not have to be so much reviewing if students go directly into exams without having a period of two week in which to forget material. However, students will be more tired going into exams after so long a time of studying without a break.

J. T. dislikes St. Andrews' new calendar because the university he attends is on St. Andrews' original schedule and he and his St. Andrews girlfriend will now get out at different times and will be unable to work out a mutual ride to their home.

Frank Stuart wishes the calendar had not been changed so that there were more of a break before Christmas. He suggests either starting sooner or detracting some of the days from the month-long Christmas recess. He likes the original rest before exams and does not think the two week Christmas break hindered his performance on exams but gave him the needed rest before them.

Alana (Lanie) Custer likes the new calendar because many of her friends attend schools presently using it. However, Lanie looks forward to the Christmas activities on campus and with the new calendar many of these activities will be deleted. The Christmas activities which will remain on campus will be the first of December--to soon before Christmas.

Neal Watkins comments that it will be good not to have to worry about studies during Christmas break, but that it will be an awfully rushed first semester.

In general, students are favorable about exams being scheduled before Christmas and are skeptical mostly about not having more than one day break first semester.
