Senor Horacio Lopez, the colorful teacher from northern Spain, will be on the soccer field as assistant coach to Head Coach Hackney.

Last year's standouts, Yank Albers, center forward and leading scorer; Bob Welch, brilliant with his feet; and Brian Weger, the hustling junior who has held down the halfback spot for two seasons, are back.

Freshmen Joe Schoech and Gary Ball look like possible starters from their early season performance.

Ever kicked a soccer ball? Freshmen, arise and come out for our team.

Depth Questionable

The success or failure of our Cross Country team will depend on the number of runners.

A speedy group is returning from last year; however, more boys will be needed to give Coach Ollis' harriers the depth necessary.

Jim Smith, outstanding runner of the past, durable Larry Bowers, and David Betts will constitute the nucleus of the team.

All boys interested in running cross country should report to the PE hut on Monday at 4 p. m.

A six-hole par 3 golf course has been opened for play near the north entrance of the school.

Clubs may be rented from the PE department.

The fall intramural program will begin with horseshoes. Football starts in three weeks.

A dance organization, consisting of 8-10 girls, featuring Scottish dances, will be instructed this fall by Miss Ethel Bateman.

Pine Acres

Linda related some of the pressing problems from her point of view. There is no drawer space and the problem of study desks is still "up in the air," as she put it.

Explaining further, she said that the Pine Acres Restaurant served as the girls' "student center" when the girls were not on the main campus. Right now there are no phones and no intercom, but they do have a coffee machine in their lounge.

There are two floors, the first known as Spanish Hall. After things get settled, the girls on this floor, all upperclassmen, will speak Spanish in their daily conversation in the dorm. The second floor is presently all freshmen.

Eleanora Martha Morris, who is from Argentina, has come to live on the hall to help the girls speak Spanish. She last attended Amity Institute in Wisconsin and is here to aid the Spanish department in the classroom and to take some courses herself. Eleanora seemed rather reluctant to be interviewed but said of her experience here so far, "I like it."

The main building of Pine Acres is being leased by the college at what the motel management thinks is a loss. They have been filling these rooms regularly with their traveling businessmen. These travelers are the mainstay of all the Laurinburg area motel business.

Most of the coeds in "Pine Acres Dormitory" feel satisfied, and none of them is too worried about missing out on her social life. However, most of them are looking forward to moving on campus next semester, or at least next year.

Maybe with the trees, the pool, the carpeted rooms, and the addition of some phones and furniture, they'll decide to stay.

College Acquires Outstanding Professors

The 17 additions to the St. Andrews faculty do not represent a significant enlargement of the full-time faculty but are chiefly replacements of those faculty members who did not return to St. Andrews this year, according to Dean of the College, Robert F. Davidson.

Among the new faculty members is C. Allen Burris, who received his Ph.D. from Duke University and will serve as associate professor of history and political science. For the past seven years, he has been professor of history and government at Gardner-Webb College.

Mrs. Emily B. Cameron is a new assistant professor of education and is serving in a part-time capacity. Mrs. Cameron holds a M. A. from Western Carolina College and has done graduate work at Bryn Mawr. For the past several years she has been supervisor of instruction at the Raeford, N.C. High School.

A new instructor in piano at St. Andrews now is Phillip C. Clarke, who has received his M. M. from the Peabody Conservatory of Music. While at Peabody, Mr. Clarke was on the faculty of the preparatory department.

Dr. Delta W. Gier has assumed the position of professor of chemistry. Dr. Gier, who earned his Ph. D. at the University of Kansas, served as professor of chemistry and division chairman of Park College in Missouri and as chairman of the division of science and mathematics at Austin College. At Austin he was also associate director of the program of integrated studies. Dr. Gier comes to St. Andrews from a position as a research chemist with Chemagro Corporation in Kansas City.

A new assistant professor of history at St. Andrews is Charles W. Joyner, a former assistant professor of history at the University of Tennessee. Prior to that position, he was an assistant professor at Pfeiffer College.

Richard J. Lietz has been named college librarian. For the past two years Mr. Lietz has worked as social science reference librarian at the University of North Carolina. While there, he earned a master's degree in education.

Another new addition to the St. Andrews School of Music is Dady Mehta, who will serve as associate professor of piano. Mr. Mehta has completed both a bachelor piano performance at the Ecole Normale de Musique in Paris and also a master piano performance at the State Academy of Music in Vienna.

G. Tyler Miller, Jr., comes to St. Andrews from Hampden-Sydney College, where he was chairman of the department of chemistry. Holding a Ph. D. from the University of Virginia, Dr. Miller will serve both as professor of chemistry and as Assistant Dean of the College for Instruction.

W. D. Narramore, Jr., is a new instructor in speech and drama this year. Mr. Narramore has taught for the past year at Lakeland College in Wisconsin. Mr. Narramore's wife will complete her degree requirements in drama at St. Andrews.

A new associate professor in the department of religion is Robert W. Northup, who holds a Ph. D. from Yale University. Dr. Northup spent last year as a visiting professor in the school of International Service, American University, Washington, D.C. He has spent 10 years in Japan where he taught at several Japanese colleges. From 1960 to 1961 he taught at Yale Divinity School.

Andrew H. Oerke comes to St. Andrews this year as poet in residence. Mr. Oerke has been the manager of educational services of Look magazine and has written poetry which was published in The New Yorker, Mademoiselle, The New York Herald-Tribune, and The New Orleans Poetry Journal. He holds an M. A. from Baylor University and has studied at the Free University of Berlin, the University of Salamanca, and the Writers' Workshop of the University of Iowa.

Marion J. Rogers, a new assistant professor of music holds an M. M. from the University of Michigan. Mr. Rogers has served as conductor of the Fayetteville Symphony Orchestra, assistant to the conductor and personnel manager of the North Carolina State Symphony, and he was a member of the faculty of the St. Andrews Music Camp in 1961 and 1962.

St. Andrews Artist in Residence this year is Sidney Siegel, who has studied at Roosevelt University and at the Art Institute of Chicago. Mr. Siegel previously taught art at Brooklyn College, and his paintings have been exhibited in New York, Miami, Cleveland, and in Caracas, Venezuela.

David G. Singleton has joined the St. Andrews faculty this year as an assistant professor of mathematics. Mr. Singleton has completed his M.A.T. at Duke University and was with the Inland Steel Company in Chicago prior to his coming to St. Andrews.

A new assistant professor in physical education this year is Miss Jo Ann Williams, who earned her M. E. D. from the University of North Carolina. For the past seven years, Miss Williams has been instructor in physical education for women at Washington--Lee High School in Arlington, Va.

Jerry M. Williamson has joined the St. Andrews faculty as an associate professor of English. Dr. Williamson, who holds a Ph. D. from Florida State University, has spent the past two years as an associate professor of English at Hampden-Sydney College. Prior to that position, he was chairman of the English department at Mississippi College in Clinton, Mississippi.

Miss Geneva Drinkwater will serve this year as a visiting professor of history. Dr. Drinkwater, who earned her Ph. D. at the University of Chicago, was visiting professor of history at Sweet Briar College last year. She has also taught at Rollins and at Vassar.

Another new staff member is Miss Eleanora Morris, an instructional aide in Spanish. Miss Morris has studied at the University School of Languages in Cordoba, Argentina.

E. Drannon Buskirk, Jr., will serve for the first time this year as a laboratory technician and instructor at St. Andrews. He graduated from St. Andrews in May.

Mrs. Sue M. Setzer, a 1966 graduate of Queens College, will serve this year as program assistant in the Christianity and Culture program.

Drama Tryouts

Tryouts for the Highland Players opening production of the season "The Boy Friend," a musical comedy, will be held in the LAA, Sept. 6 at 7:00 p.m. There are roles for singers and non-singers.

Happenings I & II To Come

The CBS documentary film "The Berkeley Rebels" will be English Happening I. This documentary on radical student action on the Berkeley campus will be shown Monday, September 5, in the LAA at 8 p. m.

Scottie Warren, President of the Student Christian Council, will present questions that arise from the film in an effort to point out the issues inherent in student radical action.

English Happening II will be Monday, September 19, at 8 p. m. in the Armory. Robert Theobald will speak about "The Individual in the Community of the Future."

Another Happening planned for first semester is a seminar on United States policy in Vietnam and China with Senator William Fulbright as a possible speaker.

Later, the Foreign Film Festival on November 23-24 will present "He Who Must Die" based on "The Greek Passion" by Kazantzakis.
