Cheek, Drawdy In Runoff For Freshman Presidency

The tabulation for the freshman class elections last night resulted in three two-man runoffs. With 260 of a possible 277 votes accounted for, John Cheek and Charles Drawdy topped the four candidate field for class president with 92 and 87 votes respectively. Drawdy, a resident of Kings Mountain Dorm, is a native of Graham, North Carolina. Active in club leadership while in high school, Drawdy is a member of the Knights basketball team.

Leland O'Brian from Mecklenburg, pulling 70 votes from his classmates, fell out of the running as the final precinct was tabulated. Concord's Barbara Bryant had 11 votes.

Cheek of Mecklenburg Dorm is a Fort Lauderdale dweller. In his campaign, Cheek has urged that the freshman class be more aware of the need for fuller participation in class activities and in campus wide school spirit.

"I would like the class to be run not by just a select few, but by every fellow classmate who is willing to give his ideas and opinions freely at all times," said candidate Cheek.

Mike Ferrell vice-presidential candidate from Kings Mountain Dorm, lacked two votes of a single majority 128 of 259 and will be running against Linda Stewart of Concord who finished second with 39 votes.

Ferrell, from Fayetteville, N. C., served among positions in high school, as Vice-President of his student body.

Ferrell has expressed his support in the dress regulations bill concerning the academic side of the lake. He feels that the individual should be able to decide for himself what stand to take in the issue.

As a Senate representative to his class, he feels that it is the Vice-President's duty to consult his freshmen students before taking a stand on any Senate legislation.

Stewart, a native of Liverpool, England, is presently serving as a member of The Highland Players and is on the Lamp and Shield staff.

"I would like to see the formation of an interclass council which would be a part of the Cabinet and would consist of class officers," said Stewart. "The purpose of such a council would be to promote relations between students and administration."

Candidate Stewart is in support of the academic dress bill and would like to have extended women's hours, however she feels that the fraternity issue is not in stride with St. Andrews' social curriculum.

With 60 and 53 votes respectively, Gail Kuingedal of Wilmington and Julia Wilson of Pine Acres are vying for the secretary-treasurer position.

Run-off voting will be tonight from 6-11:15 p.m.

Honor Society Honors '70 Vardells

The nine members of the St. Andrews Honor Society "honored" the ten freshmen Vardell Scholars last Monday evening at Plantation Restaurant.

Senior Ted Foy, president of the Honor Society, was the main speaker at the banquet. President and Mrs. Moore, Dr. and Mrs. Davidson, and Dr. Reddick, advisor of the Honor Society, were also present.

Susan Cotton, Catherine McKinnon, Martha Sue Henley, Catherine Van Sciver, and Margaret (Peggy) Alexander are five of the freshmen Vardell Scholars.

Sandra Gaddis, Mary Margaret

Harris, Carol Holmes, Joan Bardin, and Jane Johns are the other top students of the class of 1970.

Members of the Honor Society and top students of this year's senior class are Ted Foy (president), Scottie Warren (vice-president), Suzanne "Sem" MacLeod (secretary-treasurer), Lawrence Calhoun, Bob Anderson, Jean Brock, Donna Southers, Helen Gregory, and Carolyn Ehardt.

Members of St. Andrews Honor Society must have an over-all quality point average for five semesters' work at St. Andrews.

Dean Davidson was instrumental in the formulation of the society.

Mike Ferrell, lacked two votes

Residential Dress Code Passes, Hours, Academic Dress Delayed

The Senate Welfare Committee bill concerning dress regulations on the residential side of the lake has been signed by President Moore and is now in effect.

The bill states that "good taste" in dress is expected at all times; however, casual attire may be worn to all meals except Sunday noon, and shoes must be worn in the Student Center at all times to comply with health regulations.

The Senate has also passed a bill calling for a twelve o'clock closing hour for girls' dorms on Friday nights. The bill will now be sent for approval to Bob Anderson, president of the Student Association.

Another bill is being considered concerning dress regulations on the academic side of the lake. The Senate is preparing a questionnaire to get student opinion on this bill. Students should realize that if this bill is passed, a professor may still request that students not wear casual attire in his class.

Because of the increased number of day students and the students living at Pine Acres, the Senate has taken steps to appoint additional senators to represent these students.

The Cabinet has referred to the Senate Rules Committee the investigation of establishing as Interclass Council, which would have a voting member on the Cabinet. This council would help to coordinate the school calendar and to encourage class spirit and class competition.

Traffic Regulations Become Steeper Committee Stiffens

The traffic committee calls the following motor vehicle regulations to the attention of all students:

Students with less than a 2.0 average for the previous semester, or who are placed on probation, or who have probationary status under appeal, may not use, operate, or maintain a motor vehicle within the Scotland County limits.

It is an Honor Code offense to register a motor vehicle in another person's name.

A fifty-cents fine is charged for each traffic ticket not paid for within seventy-two hours after the time of violation or if a written statement saying that the student wishes to contest his ticket is not sent to the traffic committee chairman, campus mail.

The gymnasium is slowly becoming a reality as laborers are nearing completion of the outside of the building.

Gymnasium Progress Ahead Of Schedule

Progress on our new physical educational building is ahead of schedule, and Mr. Pat Gamble, foreman of the construction crew, does not anticipate any difficulties. In fact, work on the outside should be completed within the next ten days.

In addition to the basketball court and the locker and shower rooms found in any gymnasium, there will be three handball courts, a girl's basketball court, a six lane bowling alley, and an olympic-size pool. There will be underwater viewing ports from which to observe dives from the three boards, one of which is a three meter board. An observation platform will overlook the handball courts and the pool. Also included in the plans are three classrooms, staffrooms for both men and women, and storage rooms. There will be a wrestling room, a weighing room, and for billard buffs, a game room with a stepped ceiling.

Both construction and landscaping should be completed in August. Although Mr. Gamble is primarily concerned with beams and bolts, this building means something more to him. In his words, "This is not just another building. It is a tool that young people use to better themselves."
