

Knight Cagers Hit Cold Spell, Lose To W&L And Lynchburg

St. Andrews cagers pulled ahead from a thirteen point deficit in the last minutes of the first half to lead the College of Charleston, 24-22, at the half. Behind the shooting of Brent Rhue, the Knights again came from behind in the second half to finally win, 63-47.

Rhue, the game's leading scorer, put in nine baskets from the floor and had a perfect night from the foul line, 8 for 8. The tall center matched his 26 points with 26 rebounds. The latter is a record for SA, snapping the record of 22 set by former star, Roger Dixon. Jim Saleeby hit for 14 points while Doyle Calloway had 11.

The squad traveled to the home of the Washington and Lee Generals Friday, February 3, to be routed by their hosts. The Virginia team vanquished the Knights by a lopsided score of 77-26.

It was a cold night from the floor. St. Andrews hit only 11 for 54 from the floor for 20% and 4 for 12 from the foul stripe for 33%. Rhue led the team in rebounds and points, 13 and 9 respectively.

After the loss, the Knights traveled to Lynchburg to try to repeat the early semester 66-65 victory over the Hornets.

Lynchburg built up a ten point lead before Coach Griffin's boys began to hit. However, by the close of the first half, the Hornets had ballooned to a 50-24 lead. In the second half, SA matched baskets with Lynchburg, each team hitting for 18 buckets. Wayne Proffit, the Hornet's leading scorer, was held to 4 points in the second half and 15 points for the game.

Leading the Knights in scoring were Calloway with 19, Rhue with 18 and Butch Drawdy with 15. Rhue and Drawdy dominated SA rebounding with 16 and 15 respectively. The team total for rebounds was 60.

Following tonight's home game with Asheville-Biltmore and the season final tomorrow night against Washington and Lee, the Knights will be idle until the D. I. A. C. Basketball Tourney at N. C. Wesleyan, Thurs. - Sat., Feb. 16-18.

150 Mile Relay Run To DIAC Tourney

From the earliest of time, man has used his legs for transportation. Even in today's highly mechanized society, there still exists a small group of individuals who have a notion in their heads that running great distances is fun.

There was the Phantom Finn, Paavo Nurmi; Roger Bannister, the first man to crack the four-minute mile; Glenn Cunningham, the American runner who bounced back from a childhood fire that seemed to have destroyed his legs; and the Canadian Indian, Tom Longboat, whose long distance running feats commanded the greatest honors around the turn of the century.

Sixty-five years after the Indian set all the running records, a group of men emerge from North Carolina who plan to run from Laurinburg to Rocky Mount, N. C., a distance of 150 miles.

All members of the St. Andrews College community, the crew includes students; Ned Leslie, Larry Mathes, Scott McCrea, Mike Mullinnix, Jim Query, John Royall, Jim Smith, John Walker, Brian Weger, and thirteen other boys.

Five brave and hearty faculty members also plan to make the long journey: John Dahl, art professor; Andrew Long, math professor; Ballou Skinner, physics instructor, Lester Whitley, biology teacher and Charles Johnson, English professor and an old hand at the running game.

The event takes place on next Thursday, February 16, and will begin at 1:00 a.m. in front of the Student Center. The tentative schedule plans for a 6:30 a.m. arrival in Fayetteville. The next point of contact will be Dunn at 9:30 a.m. Following a 3:00 p.m. arrival in Wilson, the runners plan on reaching their destination, Rocky Mount, at 6:30 p.m.

The group of harriers must average 9 miles an hour or 13 minutes for each 2 mile jaunt. Each man will run a 2 mile leg and then pass the baton to the next runner. It is estimated that each man will run three legs or a total of about six miles.

Jim Smith has stated four purposes for this grueling human endeavor: (1) to create interest for the upcoming Basketball Tournament at N. C. Wesleyan College. (2) To create support for St. Andrews in the tourney. (3) To further the interests of long distance running. (4) To create excitement for the basketball players and runners themselves.

A bus will carry the pep club and cheerleaders - all interested should drive up and support our school.

Congratulations to assistant basketball and soccer coach Benny Brockwell and Tillie Van Dyke on their recent engagement. The word is out that Coach Spencer Boyd is engaged to a young lady from Atlanta, Georgia.
