Fayetteville Presbytery Holds Christian Action Conference

March 4 St. Andrews students are invited to the Christian Action Conference sponsored by Fayetteville Presbytery to be held in the Student Center from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Elder James McBride Dabbs will lecture on "The Church and the Race Problem." Mr. Dabbs has served on the faculties of the University of South Carolina and Coker College. At the latter he was head of the English Department. He presently lives at Maysville, South Carolina. Dabbs has written over a hundred articles on domestic relations, especially race relations, for such magazines as CHRISTIAN CENTURY.

Following this address, Dr. Rudolph Jones will moderate a discussion on Dabbs' lecture. Jones is an elder in Fayetteville Presbytery and president of Fayetteville State College.

Dr. Merle D. Patterson has recently left the ministry to work with the office of Economic Opportunity in Atlanta, Georgia. He will speak on "The Christian Witness amid Affluence and Poverty."

The ensuing discussion will be moderated by Reverend Richard Park. Park is pastor of Ellis Presbyterian Church in Robbins North Carolina.

The final lecture will be given by Mr. Malcolm Seawell. His topic will be "The Church and the Rising Tide of Crime." Mr. Seawell was formerly Attorney General of North Carolina. He is now chairman of the Governor's Committee on Law and Order. He is also chairman of the State Board of Elections and executive secretary and general counsel of The Tobacco Association of U. S. and League of Tobacco Exporters Association.

The discussion on Seawell's lecture will be led by the Reverend Richard Brand, pastor of Erwin Presbyterian Church in Erwin.

Two prominent North Carolina citizens will serve as chairmen of advisory boards to provide a long-range support for St. Andrews. Dr. Warner L. Hall, pastor of Covenant Presbyterian Church in Charlotte, will head the Board of Advisors; and Howard Holderness, Greensboro insurance executive, will lead the Board of Visitors.

Davenport To Menninger Clinic, SA Races "Sparky," Grad News

Davenport

Our college pastor, Rev. Robert F. Davenport, has been chosen as a member of a small group to receive grants for study next year at the Menninger Clinic in Topeka, Kansas.

Mr. Davenport has been given a leave of absence from August 1 to June 30 by the college to pursue his studies in counseling under the Meninger Foundation grant.

"This selection is a very fine compliment to Mr. Davenport and to St. Andrews," said President Ansley C. Moore in announcing the news.

Sparky Vs The Hare

The student Cabinet has unanimously approved St. Andrews' entry of a turtle named "Sparky" in the international Turtle Race.

The race, sponsored by American University, is to raise money for a muscular dystrophy fund. Tufts University is the defending champion, and the word is out that the Free University of West Berlin is out to beat the champion.

Keep your fingers crossed for "Sparky"!

ADMINISTRATION NEWS

In an effort to aid faculty advisors and students planning graduate work, a library of graduate school catalogs, application forms and information on financial aid is now being established.

Snap That Photo, Lance Will Pay!

A photography contest, sponsored by the LANCE, is open to all St. Andrews students, faculty and administration.

There are three categories: Human interest, campus life (SA campus only) and sports action.

Cash awards of $5 will be given to the person whose picture is chosen as the best in each category. A $10 grand prize will be awarded for the best overall snapshot.

Pictures will be judged on a black and white basis. Color shots may be entered but will not receive any preference.

Contestant's name should be written on the back of each picture along with the category. Failure to do so will disqualify the picture.

All entries must be turned in no later than Thursday, March 9. Winning pictures will appear in a later issue of the LANCE.

Hammy Nettles prepares to zap Peaches Atkinson with a fluffy but frozen ball of white stuff. Snow in the Laurinburg vicinity is a rare thing, and the St. Andrews coeds demonstrates that females can take advantage of any situation.

Southeastern Company Seeks Bible Belt Salesman

Four St. Andrews students have been selected to participate in the summer sales program of the Southwestern Company of Nashville, Tennessee. The company, which sells Bibles and other religious books on a door-to-door basis, selects about 4000 college students each year to aid them in their sales distribution in the summer months.

The company provides training and experience in sales, business management, and in public relations. All salesmen are selected by interview by the campus sales manager.

Junior Bill Shomo, sophomores

Larry McDaniel and Jimmy Holler, and freshman Brent Rhue have been selected by the St. Andrews representative, David Henderson.

Henderson, who earned more than $1700 last summer, is now recruiting salesmen, and has openings for six more students. Henderson states that the average earnings are $735 a month. Anyone interested should contact him in Orange Dormitory.
