

Wrestlers Lose Big One; Heavyweights Encouraging

Dribblers Better; Patience Would Help

There were signs all over campus last Monday asking us all to attend the basketball game. I feel like a hypocrite because our own sports editor was unable to attend. He was introduced to the visiting poet on campus as the one who would introduce the poet at last Monday's lecture. Therefore, all this sports article is second hand information. Of course, all my information came from reliable sources. The most reliable information I received was the fact that we lost, 63-62.

Apparently, Gary Linn and Jimmy Haddix played very well, both on offense and defense. As usual, Bruce Taylor did a fine job under the boards. But again it was the turnovers in the first half that hurt. These turnovers were caused mainly by passing too much. In the past we have failed to take the open shot and the tendency was to pass to someone whom you thought could shoot better. This forced the shooter on the team to often force shots he normally would not have taken. From what I understand, this also got some of the fans irritated. We must remember that many of our players still lack experience and that timing of this nature comes with a lot of practice and hard work. Coach Whiteley realized this from the beginning and has accepted the fact that he can not make a team over night. I'm sure that patience would do all of us some good. The team's hope was to do well in the tournament at the end of the season.

However, there were very good signs of team improvement in the second half. Passing was much more accurate and I was even told that we scored our first fast break of the season. Coach Whiteley had said earlier that S. A. would not be fast breaking much for fear of having the opposition running up the score.

Also in the second half, shooting was better. Throughout, the whole game, our free throw shooting was remarkably improved over the past few games. The hustle that has been our strong point, still prevailed, and probably will throughout the season.

I was also told that our school spirit was aided (?) by the return of the zoo squad. I'm not sure what effect this might have really had, I can only guess.

For all you people who don't want to miss another game, the next one will be this Friday at 7:30. Maybe I'll see you there since it has been so much fun writing about something I didn't see.

Last Monday, it was a very close one as the wrestling team almost pulled it out against Lynchburg. Lynchburg was forced to forfeit two weight classes while we only had to forfeit one. In collegiate wrestling, a team scores six points when a team member pins an opponent, or when the opposing team forfeits a weight class. A team also scores three points for a decision or 2 for a tie. As you can see, scoring is very similar to football, hence a score of 32-28 is very close.

Now that you all know how to keep score, let's get into last Monday's match.

In case you weren't there, which is probably the case, it was very evident that Lynchburg was stronger in the lighter weight classes than we were. However, from 167 lbs. on up, we were very strong. Richard Bridgeforth was the first to get S.A. fans out of their seats and he was able in a very short time to pin his opponent. Marty McIntyre drew our second forfeit of the evening, but it still left us way behind in total points. Then Mark Goodnough fought a brilliant match against a heavier opponent and battled to a tie. At one point, he almost had a pin, but time ran out. Perhaps the most exciting event of the evening was when little Mac Johnson, at 190 lbs. was able to pin his 290 lbs. opponent. It was something worth seeing. Mac twisted his arm until Big Bozo politely rolled over on his back. Then he laid his skinny 190 lbs. on Fatty for awhile. Finally, Tubo resigned, and the referee slapped the mat with both hands. Thus, the match was ended. But not the excitement. Bill Furbish, who was inelligible to wrestle since he transferred from a four year school, was allowed to wrestle a Lynchburg student who was also inelligible. In no time at all, Bill wiped the mats with his opponent. His pin, had it counted, would have put the Knights ahead.

Although the Knights lost most of the lighter weight divisions, there were still some very fine efforts on the part of our lightweights. Buddy Creech at 142 lbs. and Bob Barto at 155 lbs. turned in very fine performances.

In case this article has sounded like an advertisement for blood and gore, wrestling is a very clean sport. Don't be turned off because wrestling sounds so terribly brutal. It is actually an art, as are most sports, combining strength and agility with intelligence and knowledge.

Our next wrestling match is with Davidson, here, on Friday. It starts at four o'clock, and if you have never seen a college match before, you owe it to yourself to see at least one. Who knows, you just might change your mind.

Review Awarded Council Grant

The St. Andrews Review was awarded a $1,000 cash grant from the National Endowment for the Arts. Notice of the grant came from Mrs. Gail Kong, the executive secretary of the Coordinating Council of Literary Magazines. The grant was awarded specifically for issues two and three, featuring Buckminster Fuller and Carolyn Kizer, respectively.

The awards were made by a committee of six judges, with Russell Banks, publisher, as executive secretary. The meeting for the awards was held in Houston, Texas, last week.

The money from the grant will be used to help finance the printing and distribution of the Review. The fourth issue will appear in January, marking Mr. Ron Bayes' last issue as editor. The succeeding issues will be edited by Dr. Charles Joyner.

Committee Makes Draft Changes

jobs that better serve the national health, interest and welfare. Under the old law conscientious objectors performing alternate civilian service were under the control of local draft boards. Under the new law the National Director of Selective Service has the responsibility of assigning and reviewing work assignments for these men.

a continuing activity. An informal survey for example, shows that we need to replace approximately one quarter of our local board membership because of the new maximum age requirements of the law. While the draft system will suffer from the loss of these dedicated men and women, we are eager to take advantage of this opportunity to replace them with young men and women reflecting the ethnic, educational and social backgrounds of registrants across the nation.

Appointed by the President upon the recommendation of the state governor, the local board member holds, perhaps the most important position in the Selective Service System. A young man or woman who might be interested in serving on a local board or in assuming other volunteer positions in the Selective Service System should contact the office of his or her governor.

Many young people are asking themselves these days with a greater degree of seriousness than was displayed by previous generations where their values lay, what activities make their lives meaningful, and how they can better contribute to society. I hope that many young men and women will recognize these new opportunities to serve in the Selective Service as a worthwhile means of social involvement and public service. We need their help.
