Gilpin To Speak Next Tuesday

Dr. Larry Schultz, assistant professor of politics, announced Monday, that Dr. Robert G. Gilpin, associate professor of politics and public affairs at Princeton University will visit S.A. on Tuesday, April 18. Dr. Gilpin will appear here as part of the Piedmont University Center's visiting lecturers program.

Dr. Gilpin is scheduled to meet with any interested community members for an informal session at 9:30 Tuesday morning in LA 112.

Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Vardell Auditorium, Dr. Gilpin will deliver a lecture on the "Political Economy of International Relations."

Among the books Dr. Gilpin has written are "France In The Age of Scientific State" and "American Scientist and Nuclear Weapon Policy." He also co-authored "Scientists and National Policy Making."

The self-nomination period for positions on the staffs of The Lance and The Lamp and Shield will close Wednesday, April 26.

Folksinger Sonia Malkine will be at S.A. during the Folk Festival to perform with the lute.

Folk Festival To Feature Various Songs and Crafts

BY CHARLES JOYNER

The St. Andrews International Folk Festival is being held from April 19 through the 23 on the St. Andrews Campus, with over 50 participants. The event is expected to be one of the most outstanding celebrations of traditional song, dance, tales, instrumental music, and handicrafts ever held in the South. Anglo-American, Afro-American, native American Indian, English, Scottish, and French traditions are included.

Included among the musical performers are Lena Armstrong, Buna Hicks, Hattie Presnell, and Stanley Hicks of Beech Mountain, N.C.; Dave and Toni Arthur with John Harrison, one of England's top folk groups; the Bluegrass Experience, winner of first prize "Best Band" at this year's Union Grove Old-Time Fiddler's Convention, and the Charlotte Scottish Pipe Band, host band at the Grandfather Mountain Highland Games. Also performing will be the Eddy Tabernacle Holiness Singers, an Afro-American singing group from Murrell's Inlet, S. C.; flat-pick wizard Nick Hallman, who will conduct a guitar workshop as well as perform; dulcimer playing Robert Harman, from Blowing Rock, N.C.; Norman Kennedy, outstanding Scottish ballad singer and star of Newport Folk Festival; and French folksinger Sonia Malkine, who has participated in numerous American and Canadian folk festivals and starred in her own series on National Educational Television.

Joining in the festival will be the Moving Star Hall Singers of Johns Island, S.C., Afro-American spiritual singers who have starred at the Newport Folk Festival; Sister Lean McDaniel and the True Light Gospel Singers, an outstanding local group; Rev. Mack Norton and his Singers, a Lumbee Indian gospel group; Caroline and Sandy Paton, outstanding collectors and performers, and owners of Folk-Legacy Records; and Frank Proffitt, Jr., carrying on the outstanding traditions of his famous father and an outstanding dulcimer stylist in his own right. Rounding out the musical performances will be Almeda Riddle, the great Ozark ballad singer; Elizabeth Stewart of Fetterangus, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, a younger member of the legendary "Traveling Stewarts" of Northeast Scotland and a virtuoso musician, and Jeff Warner, son of the noted collector Frank Warner and himself an outstanding guitarist and star of the Newport Folk Festival.

In addition to musical aspects there is a crafts fair on Saturday which will feature rope-hammock makers and chair-bottom weavers, potters, banjo-makers, stonecrafters, leathercrafters, Scottish crafts, batik, flowercraft, macrame, and a variety of needlecrafts. These artisans will demonstrate their crafts and offer their handiwork for sale. In addition there will be third-world crafts for sale throughout the festival.

The program begins on Wednesday, April 19 with an Opening Concert at 8 p.m. in Far-ago, the campus coffeehouse. The performers are local and campus musicians, and there is no admission. If you play an instrument, bring it along and join in! On Thursday, April 20, a Festival Concert will be held in the Main Gym. The concert is followed by a Singaround at Farrago at 10 p.m. Friday April 21, is a day beginning with Craft Workshops all over campus from 3 to 5 p.m. At 8 p.m. a second Festival Concert will be held in the gym

EPC Acts On Curriculum And Teacher Education

In the April meeting of the Educational Policy Committee, recommendations from the Teachers Education, Winter Term, and Curricular Planning sub-committees of the EPC were heard and acted upon.

Dr. Daughtrey, Chairman of the Teacher Education Committee, presented three recommendations dealing with the formation of a steering committee for the Teacher Education Program, the establishment of mechanism to show student competency in certain areas of study required by the Teacher Education Program, and that the chairman of the Teacher Education Sub-committee of E. P. C. be a member of the E. P. C.

Dr. Melton, of the History Department, moved that each of the recommendations be adopted by the Educational Policy Committee. Dr. Melton moved

Elections Changed; Referendum Planned

BY ELAINE THOMAS

The Faculty Appellate Board ruled Monday night that the Elections Board has been functioning without a quorum, and therefore all they have done to present is invalidated. The Faculty Appellate Board had met to resolve a controversy over the constitutional requirement that a student must have a 2.0 over-all average in order to run for an elected position within the student government.

The original question, raised by Phil Rech and Whit Kehaya, was whether a student must have a 2.0 cumulative point average at the beginning of Spring semester, at the time of the election even though grades have not been turned in, or at the end of the Spring semester. The Faculty Appellate Board ruled that in order to run for an elected office, candidates must have a 2.0 at the time of self-nomination.

In this way a student may offer grade standards to date in courses presently enrolled in to establish a 2.0 overall. The Board ruled that Phil Rech met these qualifications but that Why Kehaya did not.

The Elections Board consists of 3 seniors from the Judicial Board, 2 seniors from the Faculty Appellate Board, 3 seniors appointed by the Senate, and a faculty advisor. The Board was acting without a quorum due to the failure of the Senate to appoint the 3 students required. Also, one member of the Judiciary Board had been formerly removed by judicial action.

The Senate met Tuesday night and appointed 4 members to the Elections Board in order to complete the membership roll. The 4 students selected were Sally Speer, Fran Vardeman, Dave Landis, and Hugh Helm.

The Senate also passed an amendment invalidating the section of the constitution requiring candidates for president and vice-president of the student government to have held prior elected offices. This amendment will be referred to Student Life today for approval. A referendum will be held within the next two weeks, after which a new elections schedule will be drawn up.

Loan Board

The Office of Student Personnel Services, in cooperation with the Student Cabinet and the Student Christian Council, is offering a short-term emergency loan service to St. Andrews students. For want of a more appropriate name, it is called the Loan Board and is temporarily housed in the Office of Student Personnel Services.

C&C Planning Committee To Study Course Future

In relation to the recent controversy over required courses and course reorganization, plans are now in the works for a study of the C&C core program and its requirements. Dr. Douglas Hix, Director of the Program, stated recently that the Educational Policy Committee had approved a study for revision of C&C and that a committee of professors and students has been selected to do this study.

The faculty members of the committee are Professors Alexander, Arnold, Bushoven, Crossley, Fulcher, Jones, Melton, Miller, Prust, and White. Dr. Alexander will serve as Chairman. Student members are Ross Alderman, Ann Blue, Steven Cook, Stevie Daniels, and Tricia Smith. The stated purpose of the committee is to "examine C&C and make recommendations about its future."

Since the C&C program is the basis of the curriculum and involves every student at St. Andrews, the investigation will involve asking fundamental questions about the structure of the entire curriculum. One of the questions of special interest to the committee, according to Dr. Hix, will be the relationship between C&C, STMS, and the Social and Behavioral Processes Program now being developed.

The time involved in this study is presently indefinite, but most of the next academic year will probably be involved.

The committee also hopes to find funds to bring in outside authorities for a more critical and objective evaluation of the C&C program and also as a source of new ideas.

first, "that the Teacher Education sub-committee serve as a program revision steering committee to determine and propose necessary teacher education changes and that the E. P. C. request the appointment of division sub-committees for each teacher program area."

Jimmy Stephens, a student member of E. P. C., moved to amend Dr. Melton's motion to include "that an additional student be added to the steering committee and that there be one student on each program area sub-committee."

Both the amendment and the amended motion of Dr. Melton's were approved.

Dr. Melton next moved "that Teacher Education students who demonstrate specified competencies related to selected pre-professional educational course
