

Women's Basketball Promising

By Knight Chamberlain,
Sports Editor

Women's basketball is back and the typical thing to say is that the girls have tremendous potential. It is a safe statement to make and it won't hurt anyone's feelings, but it doesn't say much. Better, it would seem, to evaluate the team in terms of strengths and weakness and see how these strengths and weaknesses might stack up against the opposition.

Although the girls lost their opener against Methodist College by a score of 66-47, Joyce Dew scored 10 field goals and 7 free throws to lead the St. Andrews attack with 27 points. Joyce has been the mainstay of the team since last year and therefore brings experience as well as skill. Harriet Howard leads the team as point person, bringing the ball down court and setting up the plays. She as well as Judy Jordan have the same aggressive spirit as Joyce, but seem to lack the experience necessary for a balanced attack. Playing time will provide the experience as the season progresses but it is too early to tell how that experience will be utilized. Methodist players, Barbara Buie and Pricilla Wassen combined for a total of 41 points which tends to support the notion that the best defense is a good offense.

In the St. Andrews vs. Sandhills game our team again lost by a score of 57-47. Here the Sandhills displayed quickness combined with wicked outside shooting that the lady Knights could not overcome. Joyce Meadows, Brenda Hward, Corlis Reynolds, Joyce Dew and Janeen Taylor led a full court press with eight minutes left in the second half that was commendably effective. The Sandhills team was forced to turn over the ball several times and with two minutes left the score was 51-46, a ten point comeback effort on the part of the Knights. But, Sandhills recovered, scoring three straight baskets to our on e free throw resulting in the 10 point spread in the score. As is so often the case the game was decided at the free throw line where the Knights missed well over half the shots, several being one and one situations.

Rights

also appears as though student rights and disciplinary case procedures are meaningless with our present administration.

I am presently disappointed in our Presidents action and would appreciate from him a brief explanation of the course of his consideration. The course of action for Tom is not divided as appeal to the judgement of the President was his last recourse. It would appear tat the students of St. Andrews will have to surrender their rights and place themselves at the mercy of an apparently inequitable administration.
