

THE LANCE

A Weekly Journal of News and Events At St. Andrews Presbyterian College

1961 - Fifteenth Anniversary Year - 1976

VOLUME 16

LAURINBURG, NORTH CAROLINA

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1977

NUMBER 12

Dane Named Assistant Dean Of Residential Life

Robert Dane, presently Director of Housing and Education professor at Concordia Teachers College, will arrive here on campus Feb. 27 to begin his new post as St. Andrews' Assistant Dean of Residential Life. He was recently on campus where he was interviewed by a group of students, faculty, and administration, who selected him over a field of 65 other candidates.

"His letters of recommendation were excellent, and I feel all three groups

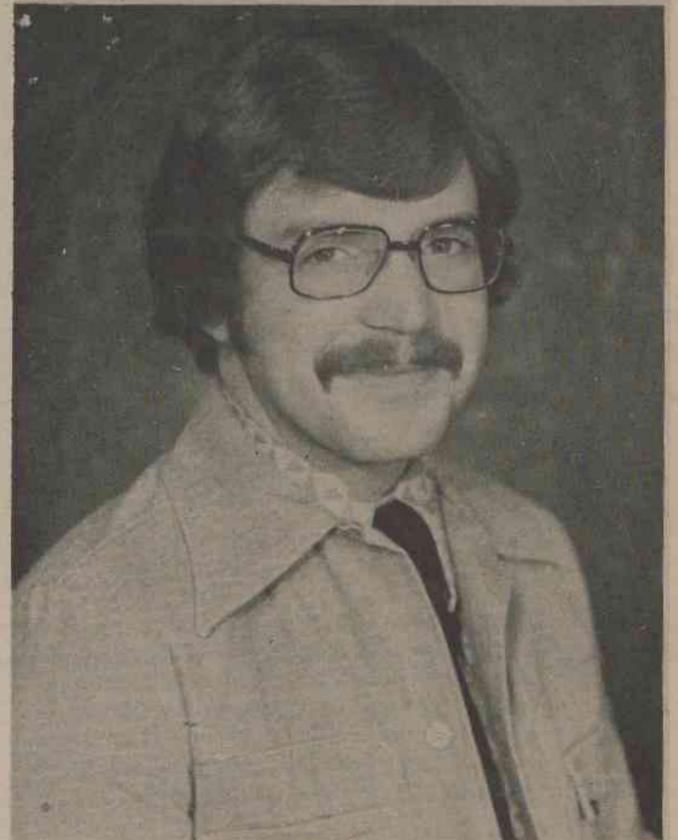

(students, faculty and administration) were fairly pleased with the choice," Dean Santa-Maria told The Lance. "We feel he is a very well-qualified person," she said.

Dane received a BA in Education and an MA in counseling at Concordia.

His duties will include the selecting, training, and supervision of Residence Directors, devising creative housing options for students, developing programs to involve the faculty in student life, and supervising the Director of Student Activities (a post to begin next fall). He also will be in charge of supervising the Conference Center and assessing the needs of the physical facilities.

Next year he will teach a course in leadership training, which student association officers, residence directors, and others in key student posts would be encouraged to take.

Robert Dane

Sexuality To Be Explored In Seminars

The College Christian Council is sponsoring six workshops throughout this upcoming week dealing with human sexuality and its understanding.

"We have seen a great need for students to understand themselves as sexual beings," Ms. Fillmore explains. "We hope that the answer to such an understanding can be found by students who participate in the discussions and group meetings with planned speakers during the week of February 14-20."

"Bara Ish - Bara Isha: An Exploration of Human Sexuality" is the title of CCC's human sexuality week. The title, Ms. Fillmore says, is derived from the Hebrews words for "created man and created woman".

The week will begin with a panel discussion at 7 p.m. Monday featuring Dr. Douglas Hix, pastor of Laurinburg Presbyterian Church, and philosophy professor William Alexander and Ms. Martha Marks, both of the St. Andrews faculty.

According to Ms. Fillmore, each member of the panel will approach the topic of human sexuality from a different angle. Hix will talk about the theology of human sexuality, while Alexander will consider the philosophy of human sexuality. Ms. Marks will present an objective view of society's attitude toward human sexuality and its alternatives.

A former St. Andrews student and director of Lighthouse, a nonprofessional referral and hel-crisis center, Mary Lou Brown, will be featured at 7 p.m. Tuesday when she talks to students about rape and the attitude of society toward rape.

"Too often homosexuality is considered outside the spectrum of human sexuality," Dorothy says. Dr. W. D. White, English and religion professor at St. Andrews, will approach homosexuality within the realm of human sexuality at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Dr. Daniel Zeluff, a clinical psychologist from Asheville, will talk about "A Therapist's Comment on Sex and Guilt" at 7 p.m. Thursday.

"Maleness and Femaleness" will be Dr. Edward Harrill's topic at 6:30 p.m. Friday. Dr. Harrill, associate dean of the college of learning and human development at Appalachian State University, will also lead a workshop in sex roles at 9 a.m. Saturday.

BSU Sponsors Black History Week

This week (Feb. 6-13) the Black Student Union is sponsoring Black History Week. Throughout the week there is an art exhibit in the Liberal Arts Building showcase, with drawings of great Black leaders and their history.

On Tuesday a student poetry reading took place in Albemarle Dormitory lounge featuring student poets Larry McDaniel, Dawn Clark, Brenda Howard, Robin Green and Allan Black.

Ms. Emma Darnell, city commissioner of Atlanta, Ga., spoke yesterday during Common Experience Hour in Avinger Auditorium. To a disappointedly small attendance of about 40 people she gave a brilliant and deeply moving speech, calling the economic and institutional discrimination that lacks and minorities face in the U.S. today "as rough a sea as Kunte Kinte (of Roots) ever had to cross," she said "Roots" was a lesson to be learned and not a story of triumph, for there has been no triumph of black families in America, she believes in order for us to make it through our "middle

(Continued on page 2)

Unpublished- New Literary Magazine

By Steven Kunkle, Staff Writer

"We're convinced that there are a lot of good writers here at St. Andrews who haven't been published for one reason or another," says Bob Haley. That's where the idea for Unpublished, a literary magazine created by a group of St. Andrews students, came from.

Unpublished is the brainchild of Haley, Jim Privette, Mitch Parker, Earl Roberts, and Ellen Tosh. "We're accepting contributions now, and so far have only had a rather limited response. Anything we like we'll print, whether it's poetry, essays, cartoons, photos, satire, or anything else." The magazine's creators are encouraging all students, faculty, and administration to contribute any writings or sketches they have done, provided they have not been previously published. This is an opportunity for everyone in our community to share their creative works, without feeling the pressure of submitting a masterpiece.

Unpublished will be published sometime in February, in an issue to number 20 to 40 pages, with 500 copies to be distributed free. If the magazine is well received, it will be continued on a regular basis.

Articles to be printed will include one how to raise hogs, and another on how to tear down a house. Because of its diverse sources Unpublished should exhibit a wide variety of interests and styles.

All contributions should be sent to campus mailboxes no. 855 or no. 42.

Teacher Of The Year Visits Tuesday

Ruby Murchison, National Education Association Teacher of the Year, will be special guest on campus at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, February 15.

All students, especially those in teacher education, are invited to meet Mrs. Murchison and the staff of the education department for a reception at 5:30 p.m. in the Student Union Lounge. Students and other guests will go through the regular cafeteria line at 6 p.m. before joining Mrs. Murchison for dinner in the President's Dining Room.

Mrs. Murchison, a native of Greene County, N.C. is presently teaching gifted and talented students in the 7th and 8th grades of Washington Drive Junior High School in Fayetteville. She is married to Seldon Murchison, assistant principal of Stedman Junior High School.

A magna cum laude graduate of A&T State University in Greensboro, the current Teacher of the Year has also been named an outstanding teacher in exceptional education and has studied and traveled in West Africa on a USEO grant.

College Christian Council Council Conference On Human Sexuality Feb. 14-19

- |                 |   |
|-----------------|---|
| Mon., Feb. 14   | Panel discussion on the Philosophy and Theology of Human Sexuality with Dr. William Alexander, Dr. Doug Hix and Martha Marks. 7-8:30 p.m., Avinger. |
| Tues., Feb. 15  | Workshop/discussion on Rape with Mary Lou Brown, director of Lighthouse. 7-9 p.m., S.U. Lounge.   |
| Wed., Feb. 16   | "Exploring One's Own Sexuality: With a Consideration of Homosexuality" - Dr. W. D. White. 7-9 p.m., Avinger.  |
| Thurs., Feb. 17 | "A Therapist's View: Sex and Guilt" - Dr. Dan Zeluff, Lake Junaluska, 7-9 p.m., Avinger.  |
| Fri., Feb. 18   | "Maleness/Femaleness" - Dr. J. Edward Harrill - Professor Appalachian State University, 7-9 p.m., Avinger.  |
| Sat., Feb. 19   | Workshop on Sex Roles - Ed Harrill, 9-12 a.m.   |