Senate

effectively ended any chance for the Senate to pass any legislation this year, as the process for doing so now requires more days than the present Senate has left in office. "Frankly," Meck Senator Lin Thompson, author of the vetoed bills, "I don't understand the President's attitude. Her veto reflects inadequate study of the constitutional basis for the Senate's action, and her claim that we didn't try to consult the Cabinet just doesn't hold water. I sent a message by way of the Vice-President the week before I introduced the bill inviting the President's input, and she never responded."

EDITORIAL

A Lot To Say This Week

Events this week dictate a scatter-gun approach. There are a number of events (or lack thereof) which deserve comment, so bear with us.

Maybe They'll Tell Us On The Ballot

We remember with some fondness a little habit acquired through the years, that of wandering into the Student Union two or three times a day to see who had self-nominated for what and watch the races shaping up. As of this writing, however, this pleasure has been denied to us all, as if the slot in that little box in Student Life Services was crunching up the forms.

It just strikes you as a little funny self-nominations have been open for days and our Elections Board has decided its unhealthy to let us know who the candidates are. Maybe they'll tell us on the ballots...

And while we're asking embarrassing questions about elections, heres one more: if you assume that the Elections Board (much like the phone company) is omnipotent and unaligned, why then was it the Cabinet whch conducted that little seminar on Election Rules Monday night?

Where's My Two Bucks?

Speaking of who is holding what, another little spring ritual seems also to have bitten the dust. Remember how PIRG used to offer you a two-dollar refund twice a year? Apparently they've been so busy they've let it slip their minds. Convenient thing, having the possible return of $2100 slip your mind.

Occasionally We Say Something Nice

Just so you don't think we're being unduly pessimistic, antagonistic and inflammatory, we do have something nice to say. That's about the Extravaganza, which certainly deserves notice as the best planned and executed event of the year to date. Credit should be heaped upon the Extravaganza Committee, who kept Beer, Bands, and Pig coming for as long as anybody wanted.

Twenty-seven Receive Sophomore Honors

By: Steven J. Kunkle

A banquet was held Tuesday night to recognize honor students at St. Andrews. New members were inducted into the St. Andrews Honor Society (for juniors and seniors with a 3.25 GPA or better) and twenty-seven sophomores were bestowed with Sophomore Honors (3.25 GPA or better).

The new members inducted into the St. Andrews Honor Society are: Ivy S. Baker; Rebecca L. Copeland; John L. Courtney; Diane F. Darling; James H. Fawbush; John A. Foil, Jr.; Judith P. Guerry; Laurel A. Hall; Grace E. Hardy; Robert F. Hester; Nancy R. Hinkle; Lu Anne Holt; Nancy Jackson; G. Jerome Johnson, Jr.; Trudee Levenson; Carole M. Lovin; Jean L. Lyerly; Rose M. Martin; Margaret A. McCoil; Jackson H. Morton; Claire G. Pearson; Pamela L. Pohl; Tonya Reavis; Joan F. Reback; Susan B. Russell; Cheryl A. Shapiro; Gary A. Shapiro; Mary C. Smith; Edward Somerville; Buck M. Tate; Margaret P. Thompson; Celeste M. Tillson.

The students bestowed with Sophomore Honors are: Nancy Allen; Vivian I. Bikulege; Susan A. Decker; Matthews B. Dever; Brian L. Dolge (*); John L. Doney; Clyde T. Dutton; Craig T. Eliassen; William M. Haselden; Rebecca Hayes; Anne P. Hinnant; Lee M.

Hornsby (); Timothy R. Hudson (); Thomas K. Johnson; Curtis G. Leonard; Lyn K. May (); David E. McCall (); Carol A. McLain; William R. Mosely, Jr.; Richard A. Scott; Wynne S. Segal (); Joseph S. Sherr (); James G. Somerville (); Teresa M. Staley; Carol E. Wall (); Patricia A. Ward (*); and Frederick Charles Wiss.

Those sophomores in the above paragraph with the asterisk have been granted the St. Andrews Sophomore Scholar, which includes a $500 scholarship.

These students will be mentioned as a part of the Honors Convocation to be held April 21st.

"McCabe And Mrs. Miller" This Week

The College Union Board Film of the Week will be "McCabe and Mrs. Miller" with Warren Beatty and Julie Christie.

Robert Altman's vision of life in the Wild West casts Beatty as an enterprising saloon keeper (in a town being built before your eyes) who strikes a business partnership with the equally enterprising Christie, a mada with a flair for profit.

7 p.m. in Avinger. Admission is 25 cents.

BSU Choir Festival

A choir festival, sponsored by the Black Student Union, has been set for 2-5 p.m. Saturday on the steps of the college union. The festival, entitled "Life Every Voice and Sin," will feature the Black Student Union Gospel Choir and other local choirs, including the Bethlehem Intermediate Choir, the Laurinburg Institute, the Ebony Harmonizers and the Bethlehem All-Male Choir.

Student Life Meeting

with well-trained people."

The idea of an experimental group of freshmen suites was discussed, but not approved, by the Committee. "I favor freshmen suites," said Dr. Leslie Bullock. Bullock stated that such suites have been shown to decrease the rate of dropouts and increase retention during the freshmen year. It was made clear, however, that such an experimental group would have to be large enough to make the study worthwhile, and to arrange for such a large group might require some type of recruiting effort which the Committee wanted to avoid.

Claytor said that the requests for information on some type of reshmen suites were running about ten per cent of the total prospective freshmen.

The meeting followed up last week's called meeting, which dealt primarily with the question of Resident Assistants, and preliminary discussions of the Freshman suite issue. The concept of returning to the hiring of a second residential staff person for each dormitory was endorsed with the provision that care be taken not to interfere with Student Government functions.

The Committee also received, for a first reading, a proposed set of judicial changes, heard sub-committee reports on the food service, and discussed the remainder of its rigorous meeting schedule.

Scotland, who received a Doctorate of Humane Letters (L.H.D.).

The awarding of four honorary doctorates at one time is unique in the history of St. Andrews. It is due to the long lapse since the last doctorate was bestowed. Such an occasion will not likely happen again.

Dean Crossley has stated that hopefully the Honors Convocation will be expanded next year to include outstanding students not only from the academic side of St. Andrews, but from social achievements as well.

The college will follow an abrieviated class schedule during the day of the Honors Convocation.

Concord "Steps Out"

Saturday Night

What gives Hawaiian Punch its punch? Well it isn't those F natural fruit juices. Find out what give Concord's Punch its extra added pizazz at Concord's "Stepping Out" this Saturday, April 15. The party will start at 9:30 p.m. and run until 1:30 p. m. under the Concord breezeway. Keenan Williams will provide the music. Williams was the DJ for the "Highland's Fling." Individuals may bring their own albums as long as they are well marked for identification purposes. Those who prefer something with a little less punch will be able to find that also. So "step out" in style with Concord this Saturday.
