

The Lance

VOL. 20, NO. 189

ST. ANDREWS PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE

Friday, March 5, 1982

Picasso at St. Andrews!

By AL PERKINSON

Monday, March 8th is the opening of a truly significant show for the arts at St. Andrews. A collection of prints by master artists of the 20th century will be on display in Vardell Gallery from March 8th until March 31st. Pablo Picasso, Henri Matisse, Juan Miro, and Marc Chagall are among the masters to be presented in the exhibition.

The original prints being shown are from the collection of Jean Lareuse, father of Miche Lareuse a senior at St. Andrews. Jean Lareuse is originally from a small town in Southern France near Ceret and he now resides in Princeton, New Jersey. Mr. Lareuse is a painter and an art dealer and has accumulated a large part of his collection through personal associations with many European artists including Pablo Picasso and Salvador Dali. As a result, several of his prints are quite rare and not easily obtainable, which gives the show an added flavor.

The exhibit is being curated by Miche Lareuse as part of a Guided Independent Study project. Miche is an Art Major and plans to pursue a career with his father in arts management. This project will give Miche a taste of the business of art before he graduates.

A part of his project will provide educational information for gallery visitors on printmaking techniques and on the individual pieces on display. This aspect of the show is part of the St. Andrews Art Guild's on-going effort to further educate the college community in the arts while bringing quality exhibits to the campus.

Professor James Linehan will give a demonstration at the opening illustrating how prints are actually made and what materials are used to make them. This will aid interested viewers in distinguishing quality prints from photocopies and reprints being sold as originals by art dealers today.

A show of this quality is a treat for St. Andrews and an opportunity no one should miss. To celebrate this event a special opening reception is planned for Monday night at 8:00 p.m. in Vardell Hall. Refreshments will be served and the night should prove to be exciting and enjoyable for everyone. Be there or be square!!!

Prints by master artists displayed in Vardell.

Franz Stillfried - Honors

By MAUREEN INGALLS

Elections were held last week for the Senior Colors and Senior Class Speaker. The winners were Royal Blue and Franz Stillfried. Voted upon from an able list of contenders, Franz was chosen to speak at the Graduation Ceremony later this spring.

When asked about the content of his speech, Franz responded that the topic would remain unannounced at this time, but will prove to be "very upbeat" and will concern the 1982 Senior Class and the St. Andrews community.

He feels that graduation is a time of "mixed emotions" but wants to stress the positiveness of this landmark in one's life. He did say, however, that this speech "may cause some tears but may dry some too." Franz will take additional thoughts or suggestions about the nature of the speech, but as he states it, "that doesn't mean that I will necessarily use them."

What are Franz's feelings about St. Andrews? In his words, his time here at St. Andrews has been the most "rewarding and happiest years of my life, to date." He feels very positive about the future and believes that he is leaving here much more "open-minded" and "outgo-course such as African Politics, Chinese Politics as well as some of the other specialized Politics courses, has, as Franz stated, prepared him "adequately" for graduate training.

Photo by Jeff Aiken

A native of Scottsville, Virginia (population 300) along with a keen interest in people, Franz enjoys nature. He would like one day to become either a lawyer specializing in environmental law or civil rights. His interests prompted him to become active here on campus.

Franz's work with the PPC has helped educate others as to the problems and injustices that plague as individuals. As a long time Sierra club member he has attempted through his various activities to make others more aware of environmental and ecological issues.

In reflecting upon his years here at St. Andrews and the coming graduation, Franz stated "I'm proud to have been affiliated with this class and hope to keep up with some, if not all of the members of this class in the years ahead. It will be hard to say goodbye."

Franz's work with the PPC has helped educate others as to the problems and injustices that plague as individuals. As a long time Sierra club member he has attempted through his various activities to make others more aware of environmental and ecological issues.

In reflecting upon his years here at St. Andrews and the coming graduation, Franz stated "I'm proud to have been affiliated with this class and hope to keep up with some, if not all of the members of this class in the years ahead. It will be hard to say goodbye."

Global Glance

By COREY INGOLD

FOUR BOMBS WENT OFF ON WALL STREET as a protest by a Puerto Rican terrorist group called FALN. Their attack on "Yankee corporations" surprised FBI officials who thought that they had broken up FALN by arresting eleven of its members two years ago. The bombings marked a potential resurgence of the group onto the national scene.

THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT announced that interest rates of federally backed home loans would decrease to 15.5%. This was good news for the housing industry which has undergone hard time in recent years.

SOVIET PRESIDENT LEONID BREZHNEV AND POLISH PRMIER WOJCIECH JARUZELSKI met in Moscow for two days of talks. Among other things, Jaruzelski blamed American economic sanctions on Poland for creating greater tensions in his country. He also termed the relationship between Poland and the Soviet Union as "lasting and inviolable," and said that the decision to resort to martial law "serves the cause of peace in Europe."