

Clubs Provide Wide Range Of Opportunities

Law Club Has Plans To Educate

The LAW CLUB would like to personally invite all new and returning students to participate in this year's LAW CLUB. We have lined up an excellent fall program of events. This year's LAW CLUB will present guest speakers and films concerning aspects of the legal system. The LAW CLUB is an organization for all the members of the ST. ANDREWS community who wish to learn more about the legal process. It is the goal of the LAW CLUB to provide an educational service to the community of ST. ANDREWS, in which we all may gain valuable knowledge about the legal system. James C. Rollen is the president.

WSAP Broadcasts To Lonely Airwaves

Radio station...Oh yeah, the radio station, Well it's 91.1 FM WSAP on your cable system. It's somewhat funny because not a lot of students know we even exist. For many people it is a hassle to hook their stereos up to the cable. We understand this well.

That is why it would be nice to

Health-Science Club

Are you a science major? Any science will do-biology, chemistry, physics, even psychology. If you are, you're eligible to join the Health-Sciences Club.

We meet every other Monday night in the Wilmington Main Lounge. Our officers are: Howard Hall, president; John Lenham, treasurer; Michelle Taylor, secretary. Dr. Michael Torres and Dr. Dennis McCracken are the advisors. Yearly dues are $3. This entitles you to a mouth-watering steak dinner at our end-of-the-year Senior Roast. You remember steak, don't you? In addition to our Senior Roast, we have the phenomenal Mash Bash on February 21. Dress up like your favorite MASH character and "party up a storm."

At regular Monday night meetings, the club views films, listens to guest speakers, or just talks. "Toilet Talk" will begin in two weeks. All sorts of helpful health hints will appear in every toilet stall on campus. Aside from being fun, being in the club helps one feel comfortable with the science professors, particularly the advisors.

To join, show up at one of the meetings. Notices will be posted.

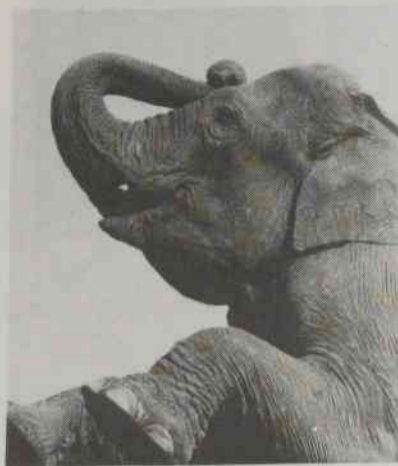

C.U.B. Organizes Social Life

The College Union Board, CUB, is a campus-wide organization concerned with St. Andrews social life. Movies, comedians, bands, seminars and other social events are supported and-or sponsored by the CUB. The organization keeps a monthly college calendar to help dorms and clubs organize their social functions. It assists dorms and organizations with financial support and with advice on college regulations and how to publicize events.

The CUB is made up of the Social Chairs of each dorm, one member of the Black Student Union, one member of the College Christian Union, appointed chairpersons of various committees and elected officers of the CUB. The elected officers are: Lynn Comer, president; Lori Dickey, vice president; Betsy Chafin, secretary; Daily Diaz, treasurer. Beth Elliot, Assistant Dean of Students, is the group's advisor.

CUB meets regularly on Wednesdays at 6:30 in the SGA of-rice. Everyone is welcome. If you have a question or comment that involves student activities, please feel free to attend the next meeting.

Yearbook Staff Optimistic

As editor of the 1986-87 LAMP & SHIELD, I am proud to announce that the yearbook is off to a great start. This is due to the outstanding support and interest of the St. Andrews community. The concern for having a successful yearbook was shown by the large turnout at the staff's first meeting.

I have appointed Linda Keener to be assistant editor. Together we have chosen 12 section editors. Under these editors, a large staff of thirty-eight have been divided. Mark Powell is the yearbook's administrative advisor.

The yearbook meets on Thursdays at 6:00 in Belk Meditation Room. All are still welcome to get involved and be a part of the staff.

If anyone is interested in having their poetry or artwork printed in the yearbook, I can be contacted at Ext. 485 or at the Lance-Lamp & Shield office (LA 185).

Art Guild

The St. Andrews community is lucky to have increased the strong support for the arts again this year through the help of the student Art Guild. Open to all interested students, the Art Guild organization provides the St. Andrews community with an increased awareness and appreciation of the arts. This is accomplished by bringing artists and art events to the campus, through the maintenance and improvement of new or existing art facilities, and by providing art services for other student organizations and functions.

The present members of the Art Guild are excited about this year's goals and projects. Many interested exhibits will be on display in the Vardell Art Gallery under the "Monday Night in the Arts" program. Opened with an elaborate Celtic celebration, the Sculpture Garden should undergo a complete renovation, in addition to the renovation of the Craft House to provide students with a place to create, display, and sell their pottery pieces. The Art Guild will also provide face painting for students on the eve of Halloween along with other fund raisers.

If you are at all interested in the arts, business fields, service projects, or just want to have a good time and meet new people, please contact Jim Schmid at ext. 441. Students are always welcome at any Art Guild meetings.

Young Republicans Organize

Thirty-five St. Andrews students launched the Young Republican Club at the college with a bang on club fair day—the largest show of interest in the 16 year history of the club. Club elections last Thursday named the following Young Republican leaders: Ralph Paradiso, President; David Turner, First Vice President; Brian Greene, Second Vice President; Deborah Kelly, Secretary; John Hall, Treasurer. Ron Bayes will be the advisor.

In addition to the elected leaders, chairpersons for the Broyhill for Senator, Hamby for Congress, Davis for State Legislature and Bill Goodwin for Scotland County Commissioner were named. Goodwin will be the key speaker at a Young Republican cookout at the home of Professor Pete Prosser in the immediate future.

The Club meetings will generally be held on Wednesdays at 6:00 in the Meditation Room.
