

Winterwonderland

Silver Coated Tree Limbs Bowed Down To Pay Homage To Mother Earth.

Homeless Birds Searched The Icy Grounds For Signs of Nourishment.

And Just For Once Classes Were Cancelled.

Captions Clockwise From Above: Another one bites the dust (photo by Rooney Coffman); Molly Hartsell, our new international editor, isn't hiding any snowballs (photo by Marla Gower); Encased in ice — a portrait of nature (photo by Rooney Coffman); A friendly game of football keeps spirits high but not dry (photo by Marla Gower); "I hope we don't slip!" (photo by Durrell Bishop); Graffiti and ice covered branches — a rare sight on campus (photo by Rooney Coffman); Leah works on her fast ball (photo by Durrell Bishop).

