Fiction & Fact From Jack's Almanac

The first member of the St. Andrews community to call 276-9763 with four correct answers will receive a 25$ Spring '89 credit at the Gathering Place.

1...There is a campus personality who lives on 220 Saratoga Drive and is the first in a long list while there is another individual, also a noted campus authority, who lives at 206 East Vance Street and is the last in an equally long list. Name the list and score here.

2...St Andrews is fortunate, we readily admit, to have representatives from Aiken, S.C. ; Smithfield, N.C. ; Charlotte, via Rockville Center, Long Island, N.Y. and Gloucester, Va., all of whom have something beside SAGE 422 in common. Burgundy is a clue in more ways than one. Guess the correct answer and call it in.

3...Chatham, Va. to Noelani, Hawaii is a long way to most but it's short when you think of this St. Andrews figure...who is it...a clue, there is an award in this person's name honoring those who, each year, make the greatest recovery in SAGE 222.

4...What do Riz Hassan & Lane Jefferies have in common that involves the lucky number 11?

5...Tammy of Moultrie and Sharon of Concord have something in common beside the state of Georgia...can you find it?

6...Three of these make a logical pair, three have been invented for The Lance...which are real... Sandra Foy and Eddie...Allison J. Bronwyn Frost and Robert...Greg Dorsey and Tommy...Kim Costello and Lou...Brendan Flynn and Errol...Susan Gumm and Judy Garland...

7...What do Joseph Court, Camac Street and Gulph Creek Road have in common beside Philadelphia area addresses?

Learning Self Defense is Matter of Life or Death

Mary Griggs

On February 15 and 16, the St. Andrews Campus Police sponsored a self defense class for interested female students. Lt Ronald Wagner, of the Laurinburg Police Department, conducted the two sessions. About 17 students in all took advantage of the opportunity to talk with a police officer about how to deal with an attempted assault.

Lt Wagner concentrated on common sense tips on avoiding potentially dangerous situations. Many women are assaulted by not thinking; being aware of the surroundings could go a long way in saving someones life. By taking regular precautions, like checking the back seat of the car before getting in or wearing nonrestrictive clothing when walking at night, a person can keep themselves from being a target.

Most people carry plenty of weapons on their person at all times. Keys, pens, handbags, and the body itself can all be used for defense. If ever someone is involved in an attempted rape, the key is to stay calm. When a situation becomes dangerous, begin to look for openings and have enough self-esteem to take advantage of it. Lt Wagner says, "Would you rather be tried by 12 or carried by 6? You must think, 'will I kill him or let him rape me and walk off,' the decision is yours." If the rape does occur, Lt Wagner recommends that the woman try to mark the assailent. "Get some of his flesh under your nails," he says, "do not take a bath until a doctor has examined you."

In many of the rapes that do occur the woman knows her attacker. In these sort of situations it is wise if the woman knows herself. She should know the limits that she has, and she should not feel guilty about saying "no" and getting out of an uncomfortable situation. Many women are ashamed of being raped, and so they keep silent about it. They should remember that unless the rapist is stopped, the crime will occur again.

Lt. Wagner, who has 16 years experience in law enforcement, believes that women should talk to one another and share information. He believes that common sense is the next best thing to proper technique. Lt Wagner is willing to invest his time instructing students about correct holds, throws, and mental attitude if there is interest on campus for it. Any person desiring more information should get in touch with Chief of Security Therion, Young. Assault is a violation of a person's rights. Self defense and personal security are the most important things in protecting oneself.
