The newly constructed "Chez Granville" will be opening its doors April 10.

Granville Reopens

On December 10, the last day of fall term, Granville Residence Hall met an untimely end. A fire that broke out in Suite 3 caused much smoke and water damage but no injuries to residents. The homeless were immediately shipped to Pate Hall as a temporary domicile.

Under pressure from the Granville Refugees and their parents, school officials stepped up the reconstruction plans on the resident hall. On April 10, four months after the tragic fire, the newly constructed residence hall will be opened to the displaced students.

The full scale reconstruction funded by an undisclosed source, has upgraded the structure and living conditions of the former hall.

Students and faculty were amazed at the quality of the new building.

"Gee, I bet this baby will stand for about at least 10 years," said one student.

The building now known as "Chez Granville", will house up to 100 students. Those students who were residents of the old residence were offered privates at no extra cost for the remainder of the term.

Students residing in other dorms noted that this was unfair and have since petitioned the school to upgrade their housing. One R. D. has taken this into his own hands. (See Bushoven page 1)

One Granville council member said, "Well, I think we deserve the new place. those students are just jealous because their dorm didn't burn down and get replaced. You think it was a picnic living in Pate?"

Extra fire precautions will be taken in the new building, said one administrative official involved in the planning of the new Granville.

These extra safety measures include the prohibition of cigarette smoking, candle and incense burning and electrical outlets. Students will be expected to use battery operated equipment. Electricity will be provided in designated areas. Weekly room inspections will be held in search of matches and other flammable substances.

One disgruntled Granvillite said upon notification of new house rules, "This sucks. I think I'll move to Winston."
