Johnson Player of Week

Michael Roberts

Alan Johnson has been named the Carolinas' Conference first player of the week. Johnson is a sophomore from Augusta, Georgia and plays midfield for the Knights. Johnson has been credited with a goal against USC-Aiken, and an assist against Averett.

As a team, St. Andrews is off to a 2-1 start. The Knights were victorious over USC-Aiken 3-1 in their home opener. Scoring for the Knights were Alan Johnson, Bobby Kulinski, and John Bair on an assist from John Roberts.

St. Andrews won their second match of the season against Averett, 2-1. Scoring for the Knights were Steve Hollanger and Sean Haynes.

The Knights suffered their first loss Wednesday against High Point College 4-0. Coach Lorenzo Canalis stated, "We were outsmarted and outthustled, but not outplayed." He went on to say that this is the best team that St. Andrews has fielded during his tenure here. He admits that there will be mistakes because the team is very young, but added that they are being very competitive.

Canalis stated that the loss of All-Conference performers Greg Dorsey and David Southwood-Smith to graduation hurt most from a leadership perspective. He added that junior Chris Koscho had picked up the team in that regard. He also added that Koscho is playing the best he has played since being at St. Andrews.

With an injury to goalie Travis Loeske, Anthony Tarsatana has assumed the keeping duties. Canalis stated that he is very satisfied with the play of Tarsatana, and that he has done an "extremely good job."

Canalis added that he is also happy with the play of Sophomore Steve Hollanger, who is expected to be a big factor in the scoring for St. Andrews.

The next match for the Knights will be Saturday at home against Montreat Anderson. Montreat Anderson brings a 2-0 record into the match-up.

The St. Andrews Lady Knights have not only gone unbeaten in their first three matches, they have gone unscored upon. The Lady Knights began their season by travelling to Tennessee Wesleyan, and returning with a 2-0 victory. They were able to match this feat by also defeating Maryville 2-0. Clearly their best performance was against Queens College, which is Division II, in which they outscored their opponent by a 6-0 trouncing.

Kathy Feeley has led the scoring by scoring seven goals in the first three

The next test for the Lady Knights will be Saturday against Lynchburg, and Sunday against Warren Wilson. Both matches will be held at Coker College matches. Joy Feinberg has played a very strong keeper position for the Lady Knights, and the leadership has been provided by the experience of Katie Vines and Mary Griggs.

Men's soccer coach, Lorenzo Canalis, stated that new ladies' coach Will Whitehead has done a tremendous job with this year's team, and expects many good things to come for the ladies' program.

Katie Vines and Coach Whitehead have a lot to smile about
