Memorial Service Tomorrow

Wendy S. Phillips, an admissions counselor, was killed in an auto accident Nov. 7 in Montgomery, Ala.

The accident occurred at approximately 11:08 a.m., according to investigating officer Cpl. Jerry Keel of the Montgomery Police Department, shortly after Wendy concluded a recruiting visit at Montgomery Catholic High School.

Wendy was attempting to make a left turn onto Vaughn Road, a two-lane road which runs directly in front of the school. Her 1989 Chevrolet Cavalier was struck by an eastbound dump truck driven by Shawn Lockman, 19, of Montgomery, Keel said. The dump truck struck the driver's door of the Cavalier, killing 22-year-old Phillips instantly.

Vaughn Road is being widened to four lanes, said Keel, and Wendy's westerly view was apparently blocked by a cement mixer truck that was parked on the side of the road. Keel deemed the accident as unavoidable and said his department is not planning to file charges against Lockman.

"I don't think anyone believes it yet," said Lisa Gaw, an admissions counselor and Wendy's roommate. "Most of the faculty and staff are coming by the office. What can you say? A lot of people are grieving. Our office ran out of Kleenex. We just picked up the napkins on the coffee table."

"Wendy was an organ donor," Lisa said. "That was very important to her. She really believed in that. The corneas of her eyes have been donated to someone. That helps us, that a bit of her is helping someone else."

"She had so many plans," Lisa adds. "Her degree was in biology. Eventually, she wanted to go to graduate school. She wanted to end up working on the education programs in a zoo."

A former resident of Shelbyville, Ky., Wendy was a May 1990 graduate of St. Andrews with a B.S. degree in biology. Her many accomplishments included Vice-President of the Student Government Association, President of the student senate, a member of the Student Life (Faculty) Committee, a student representative of the Internal Affairs Committee of the St. Andrews Board of Trustees, secretary of the Health Science Club, a SAGE tutor, and a lab assistant. She joined the St. Andrews staff as admissions counselor on July 5 and had been assigned Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, and Kentucky as her recruiting territory.

There was a memorial service for Wendy this past Sunday, Nov. 11, at Shelbyville First Presbyterian Church. A memorial service will be held on campus Saturday, Nov. 17 at 4 p.m. Weather permitting, the service will be held between the Morgan-Jones Science Building and the lake. There will be some chairs available, but bring a blanket if you choose. In case of inclement weather, the service will be moved into the John Blue Lab.

$12 Million Campaign Launched

It was officially announced Nov. 1 the Campaign for St. Andrews, a three-year, $12 million campaign drive that has been launched to strengthen the facilities and financial base of support for the institution.

The campaign, which was approved by the Board of Trustees in October 1989, will continue until the end of 1992. Cash and pledges totalling approximately $6.1 million have already been raised in the "leadership phase" of the campaign.

Former North Carolina Governor James E. Holshouser, Jr., current board chairman, and James L. Morgan, Sr., immediate past board chairman, joined College President Thomas L. Reuschling in making the public announcement during a meeting of the College's Board of Visitors. Holshouser and Morgan are serving as the national co-chairmen of the campaign.

Reuschling explained that the capital funds drive has been in the planning since his selection to head the College more than two years ago. Following a feasibility and the development of a long-range plan for the institution, the Board of Trustees authorized the campaign. Included in the $6.1 million pledge total is a pair of million-dollar commitments. A $1 million pledge has been made in the Trustee Division and another outright cash gift of $1 million has been made by an anonymous friend of the College.

Results of the leadership gifts can already be seen on the Laurinburg campus. The main streets and parking areas surrounding student residence halls have been resurfaced. Several buildings have received new roofs. The Morgan-Jones Science Center is undergoing renovation of heating, cooling and ventilation systems, and classrooms and labs will be updated. Corporate grants have enabled administrators to rebuild the central boiler plant and to replace the exterior lighting system which serves the sprawling campus.

Renovation of campus buildings and grounds had been identified by alumni, board members, and other friends of the College who participated in the feasibility study. The physical plant improvements mark the first major facelift since the College was constructed and opened in 1961. Improving residential facilities will enhance the quality of life for current students and make the campus more attractive for prospective students as well.

Other major priorities to be addressed by campaign proceeds are the creation of a reserve fund to meet future facility needs, the reduction of debt, purchases of new equipment, and the establishment of new endowed funds for academic programs and scholarships. The $12 million goal also includes $4.5 million for operational support through the Annual fund for the three years of the campaign.

The Campaign for St. Andrews will be conducted among all the College's constituencies, including the Trustees and former Trustees, faculty and staff, alumni, foundations and corporations, Select Friends and the Laurinburg community.

"As we have gone to these constituencies in the initial stages of the campaign, we have been delighted by the unfaltering support of our friends and family," said Holshouser. "Everyone has realized the importance of this campaign in terms of maintaining the superior quality of higher education that St. Andrews offers."

"Time is a relative thing and there is only so much of it to go around. You should spend your time on things that are important. It was a logical decision for me to get involved with St. Andrews."

The St. Andrews faculty and staff was the first group to complete its participation in the campaign and faculty and staff members exceeded their goal by 27%. This portion of the campaign was led by Dr. William Alexander, chairman, and Dr. William Somerville, honorary chairman. Both have been professors at St. Andrews for many years.

"In a time of tight budgeting and lean staffing, the dedication and commitment to St. Andrews by this group has been very impressive. It shows that the people closest to the institution are committed to its mission and accomplishments," said Morgan.

Hector MacLean, Chairman Emeritus of Southern National Corporation in Lumberton, is leading the Trustees division of the campaign. A leadership gift of $1 million was pledged by The Morgan Foundation of Laurel Hill. Morgan is one of four trustees of The Morgan Foundation.

The Campaign for St. Andrews will be taken to the greater Laurinburg community in early 1991 and, like other divisions of the campaign, the initial stages have already begun. Several lead gifts are in and approximately $400,000 of its community $1 million goal has been raised.

The Alumni Campaign is being chaired by Benjamin B. Brockwell, Class of 1965, the CEO of Clincial Management Company, Inc. in Wilson. The alumni base is composed of over 7,000 alumni representing Flora MacDonald College, Presbyterian College and St. Andrews. Over 140 alumni volunteers will be enlisted to contact these 7,000 alumni and to help this group reach its $1.4 million goal. Steward M. Dansby, Class of 1978, Chief Financial Officer and Marketing Director at American Cadastre (AmCad) in Birmingham, Ala., is the honorary chairman.

The Select Friends Division and the Foundations and Corporations Division of the campaign will be conducted on an ongoing basis throughout the two remaining years of the campaign.

"We are so pleased with the results of the leadership phase of the campaign," said Reuschling. "At every turn we have been impressed with the dedication and support our volunteers, our faculty and staff and our friends and family. We know that this campaign will be a success as this level of commitment and enthusiasm spreads throughout our constituencies."

Asian Conference to be Held Nov. 28-Dec. 1

By Chad Esposito
Communications Assistant

St. Andrews Presbyterian College will host an Asian Studies Scholars Conference from Nov. 28-Dec. 1.

Designed to promote greater understanding and awareness of the Asian people, the conference is funded in part by a grant from the U.S. Department of Education.

The theme of the conference is "East and West: Working in Two Cultures," and the conference is open free of charge to the general public.

Dr. Julia Ching from the University of Toronto will give the keynote address on Nov. 28 at 8 p.m. Her lecture will be "Probing China's Soul: A Dilemma of Cultures." Ching is a professor of Religious Studies and the author of the book, "Probing China's Soul: Religion, Politics, Protest in The People's Republic of China."

Dr. Jan Bardsley of Wake Forest University leads off the second day with a 9:30 a.m. session entitled "Ritual and Culture in Japan." That afternoon at 2 p.m., Dr. John Chay, former history department chairman at Pembroke State University, will lead a roundtable discussion on "Changing Korean Perspectives." That evening at 8:00, there will be a Korean poetry reading and Chay will discuss a Korean film.

The third day of the conference kicks off at 9:30 a.m. with Dr. Thomas Benson of St. Andrews chairing a session of papers on "China." At 2 p.m., Dr. Neal Bushoven of St. Andrews will lead the roundtable discussion on "Images of India in the Teaching of India." At 8 p.m., the film "Cannibal Tours" will be shown and discussed by Margaret Houston, also of St. Andrews.

The last day of the conference, Dec. 1, will start at 9:30 a.m. and will be a presentation of student papers, which will be chaired by Scott Gregory. In the afternoon, a Job Fair and a Workshop will take place and is designed to acquaint students and the public about career possibilities relating to Asia.

For more information, contact co-organizers Margaret Houston and Larry Schulz.
