

Students Represent St. Andrews at Symposium

Six students have been selected to represent St. Andrews at the 15th annual symposium sponsored by the men of the First Presbyterian Church and the Presbyterian Conference Center at Hilton Head, South Carolina.

Kevin Howard, Jeff Markosky, Josh Miller, Kiley J. Pike, Tracy Reuschling and Laura Van Riper will attend the symposium.

"Ethics and the Decision Making Process" November 5-7. Howard, Reuschling and Van Riper are education majors here at St. Andrews, while Markosky, Miller and Pike are business majors.

The students will be accompanied on the trip by Dr. O. Eugene Smith, chair of the St. Andrews Teacher Education Department, and accounting professor Bob Littleton.

Following registration and a dinner Thursday, the group will be welcomed by the president of the Men of the Church and the mayor of Hilton Head. Dexter F. Baker, chief executive officer of Air Products and Chemicals Inc. will deliver the keynote address. A reception will follow the opening session.

On Friday morning, the students will be involved in discussion groups that will look at a variety of case studies built around the theme of the conference. Friday afternoon, First Presbyterian Church will sponsor a variety of events. Guest at the conference will have an opportunity to tour the island, with the latter part of the afternoon devoted to a choice of golf, tennis, sailing and other beach activities.

The students will be house and dinner guest of members of the First Presbyterian Church on Friday. The highlight on Friday evening will be presentations of the colleges attending. Topics will include a variety of campus ethical issues. The conference will close

Saturday morning following a final case study discussion and summary presentation.

Special Writer's Forum, Nov. 5

Many of you may have noticed that St. Andrews has its very own writers forum. The forum meets every Thursday night at 8pm in Mecklenburg main lounge. On certain nights you may see and meet a famous author or, on other nights you may be able to see and hear one of your friends read some of their own creations.

Thursday, November 5th is a special night for the Writer's Forum audience. Special writers will be on hand to read and entertain the listeners throughout the evening. Sam Ragan, Clyde Edgerton, and Peter McNamara will be the major writers at the evening's entertainment. All of these fine gentlemen are well-known persons who write some of the best fiction and poetry.

So, don't forget about the special presentation on November 5th at Mecklenburg main lounge. Come on out and have an enjoyable evening, and make so new friends.

Six inducted into Alpha Chi

Six St. Andrews students received the honor Saturday of being inducted into Alpha Chi, a National College Honor Scholarship Society. At St. Andrews, juniors must have a 3.8 grade point average and seniors must have a 3.7 grade point average to achieve this distinction.

The new Alpha Chi members are: Machele AnnJanette Allman, Ruth Elizabeth Hayball, Heather Lee Jenkins, Rolf Peter Jeppson, Shad Kevin Luedke and Lisa Catherine Naczki.

Alpha Chi is a coeducational society whose purpose is to promote academic excellence and exemplary character among college and university students and to honor those who achieve such distinction.

A Few Words From The Editor

As one of the co-Editors of The Lance I would like to thank all of our writers for getting their work in on time. Also, I would like to thank Elaine Thomas, Communications, for her support during this first issue of The Lance.

Enough of the mushy stuff let's get down to the nitty-gritty. The next issue of The Lance will have many new and exciting improvements.

Keep an eye open for Knight Light, a positive and enlightening column of issues ranging from bungy jumping to world hunger.

Take a Look at Your Neighbor. This is the ultimate way you can gossip about your suite mates, friends or lovers without them even knowing. "How?" you might ask, because there are no names or identities used. Isn't that going to be fun?

Have fun St. Andrews, and remember not to eat the brown snow.
