Recycling Reforms

Underway

BY SUE LEWKE

BJ Tipton, a St. Andrews alumna and recycling coordinator at UNC Charlotte, visited our campus on February 21 and 22. She started the ball rolling for reforms in the St. Andrews recycling program.

Ms. Tipton, who has been working at UNC-C for four years, did a waste audit here at St. Andrews and found that we have a good start for our recycling program, but there is plenty of room for improvement. Right now most St. Andrews students recycle only cans, glass, and plastics if anything at all, because that is all that can be placed in the blue bins. However, much more can be recycled.

Ms. Tipton says that cardboard is UNC-C's number one recyclable; it makes up about 55 percent of all their recycling. During her waste audit here, Ms. Tipton found that, even though there is a cardboard recycling dumpster behind SAGA that is available to all students and faculty, there was a trash dumpster behind Morgan Jones with an abundance of cardboard in it.

Granville dorm has undertaken its own recycling program. Students living in that dorm have set up collection areas

Focus Groups A Success

In an effort to truly tap the thoughts of S.A. students, SGA hosted two Focus Group sessions last week in Granville Main Lounge. Subjects ranged from residential life and academics to student involvement and financial problems. The "fruits" of the meeting were then presented to Dean Nance and President Board. Original topics for discussion stemmed from previous residence hall meetings.

A second set of meetings will be held sometime after Spring Break which Nance and Board are expected to attend.

"The meetings were very productive," one attendee commented, "we covered a very diverse set of topics. This is a great chance to have your voice heard."

70's Party Rocks

BY TERRA MCVOY

Things were rocking even surprisingly early on Saturday, March 2, in Orange's tin-foiled courtyard this weekend. The D.J. was pumping disco favorites by ABBA, the Jackson Five and Parliament at the expected time of 9 p.m. Later, he would enthusiastically repeat these same singles multiple times during the night. Folks didn't seem much to mind.

Certainly the crowd was rocking. Students brought cameras, video recorders and a variety of 70's paraphernalia (Orange's own Stan Dura was rumored to be handing out treats which Mr. Ed would find irresistible) to keep track of this wild ride, but the costumes were certainly the best part of the evening...

St. Andrews citizens rarely hold back when it comes to getting flamboyant (especially when there's alcohol involved), and Vinny Eamma, Andee Lagoda, Jamie Peroni, Pam and Jose Ralat, Colleen Cunningham, Neil Davis, Josh Newman, Melanie Olkowski and Christie Peach were, by far, some of the best dressed that night.

Certain faculty members often come out of their bookshelves when they catch word of a hot party, and we were lucky to have Dick Prust, Dennis McCracken and Bill Throop as part of our gyrating throngs on Saturday.

Of course, all of this is gearing us up for The Party of the Year, Extravaganza on April 11-13, but more fun can also be had at the Women's Soccer Team Eighties party this Saturday in the Belk Main Lounge.
