

disqualified after being the last to suck orange juice out of a baby bottle. Masayo was disqualified after proving that putting a pillow case on a pillow while wearing boxing gloves is not only extremely frustrating, but a man's job as well.

tumbling down first.

Seven bowls and eight trays proved to be too much for Kevin's equilibrium. Greg stuck it out and won the last finalist position. The audience expressed its enthusiasm, waving their arms and yelling their support.

Jarvis Kaler and his coworker Deb Weber work for Kramer International, the largest traveling game show circus in the country. Kaler says that he travels about 1400 miles per week. He has been to all 48 continental states and performed shows in 43 of them. He has also traveled in Canada, to places like Moosejaw, Manitoba.

Kaler enjoys his job. "The show is sensational, somewhat like a fantasy, but really it's for entertainment."

The students who attended the Blizzard of Bucks spectacular were not disappointed by the show.

-Andria M. Giorgi

Back to Front Page