NUMBER 7

Student Body to Elect Officers From March 6 Through March 21

Mary Archie Brown, President of the Student Association, in an interview, presents her suggestions for the student body to keep in mind concerning the approaching elections:

"The right to vote is a privilege for which men have fought to make themselves equal with one another. This equality rests upon the might and power of the ballot. Each individual who casts his vote in actuality is helping choose the one who represents his ideas and actions.

Therefore, I would ask that each member of the Student Body make these personal resolutions:

1. That I will accept the right of voting as a privilege and as a moral responsibility;
2. That I realize that those I help elect shall be capable representatives of the individual student;
3. That I will understand my part in student government as a growth experience;
4. That I will constantly pray that I will vote according to my convictions under the guidance of His Holy Spirit."

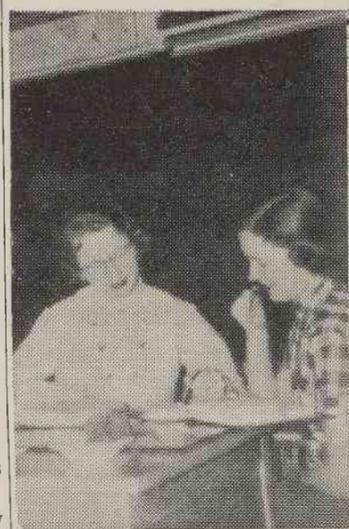

March 6 marks the initial day of elections here at Flora Macdonald College. Beginning on this day, the elections will be held through March 21. It is at this time that the student body will elect the campus leaders for the school year of 1956-57.

The schedule of elections is as follows:

Pixies Share Day With Junior-Senior

by Dotti Morris

Excitement is in the air! St. Patrick's Day is coming, and that is the big day of the Junior-Senior dance. The pixies are going to have to share their day with the upper-classmen of Flora Macdonald.

At a meeting of the junior and senior classes on February 16 the dance committees and the theme were decided upon. Eva Gray Davis, senior, and Norma Pittard, junior, are General dance committee chairman. Then for decorations Katherine Ray, junior and Mary Ruth Matze, senior, were chosen. Edith Ann Byrd, senior, and Jean Blalock, junior, were selected to head the refreshment committee, while Evelyn Taylor, senior, and Sarah Brawley, junior, are to decide upon the invitations.

The theme of the dance is to be of "Promise." It is to center around a rainbow placed on a backdrop with a couple silhouetted against it with a pot of gold at one end. The pillars are to have pastel ribbon and sprays of spring flowers on them while there will be pastel colored lights on the pictures. The theme music will consist of "Somewhere Over the Rainbow," "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," and "Lisbon Antiqua."

Lawrence M. Skinner, professor of voice and a bass-baritone, will give his recital Monday evening, March 5, 1956 at 8:15 p. m., accompanied at the piano by Charles G. Vardell, Jr., dean of the Conservatory.

His outstanding number of the recital will be, "Non piu andrai," an aria from Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro." Piece by Handel and Brahms and modern composers will also be presented at the performance.

On Friday, March 9, 1956, the Players Incorporated, whose remarkable teamwork was a predominant feature of performance at Flora Macdonald college last season in "Would Be Gentleman," will present Shakespeare's comedy, "Much Ado About Nothing."

The story of the comedy centers around two young ladies of Itlay, Hero and Bertrice, who involve themselves in complicated love affairs. The play ends on a "happily-ever-after" note in which each heroine gets the man of her choice.

Beginning at 8:15 p.m., the play will be given in the auditorium as fifth in the program of Concert-Lecture series of FMC during 1955-56.

Taffy Views Girls in Gymnasium

On one of my many trips to the gymnasium I met someone with whom I'm sure everyone is acquainted. She has large brown eyes, blond hair, and is about—hmmm . . . sooo—big. The blond hair is the reason for the name which I'm sure you've all guessed as Taffy, Miss Bateman's cocker spaniel.

Taffy and I got in a conversation and she proceeded to tell me just what she thought.

"To begin with," she said,

Taffy views the girls in her favorite hangout, the gym.

"how would you like to have your home be invaded everyday by 30 or 40 chattering females? One group is particularly annoying. They come out and kick their feet this way and that way and turn all around, which makes it very difficult for me to run and jump as I'd like to. I think it's called the Highland Fling, and after watching them, I'm not too sure why they haven't killed each other.

Another group comes that isn't too bad. They march and march and I can run up and down all I want. But my goodness, they'll never get in the army with that many girls marching out of step. Half of them don't know left from right!

"I guess you know I'm kidding—I love all the girls at FMC—especially since they provide such nice jackets to chew on!"
