

Guide To Obtain Summer Employment

The new enlarged 1960 annual SUMMER PLACEMENT DIRECTORY, the largest and most comprehensive listing of actual summer jobs, projects, and awards is now available. Copies can be examined at most University Placement or Deans' offices, college and public libraries, and school superintendents' offices.

This unique DIRECTORY completely revised each year, is particularly prepared for teachers, professors, librarians, and college students. Jobs for which high school seniors may also apply are clearly indicated.

Some of the over 12,000 summer earning opportunities listed throughout the United States and many foreign countries include an opportunity to be a recreation director at Washington's Olympic National Park; joining a group of young people from many nations on an archeological excavation to expose an ancient temple in France; and acting with a Bardstown, Kentucky summer dramatic group in "The Stephen Foster Story."

This year's DIRECTORY offers many special student training programs and openings of a permanent nature in hundreds of firms such as Chemstrand

Corporation, Addressograph-Multigraph Corporation, Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co., and the Ingersoll-Rand Co.

Study projects, camp positions, jobs and apprenticeships with summer and music theatres, and work at resorts and dude ranches are some of the other varied offers made to students and educators. Many branches of the U. S. Government throughout the country have also requested their openings to be included.

All openings have been submitted directly to the INSTITUTE and include job descriptions, dates of employment, necessary qualifications, number of openings, salaries, and the names and the addresses of the employers. Helpful information is given on how to apply for positions and each DIRECTORY contains a sample resume to assist applicants applying for their first job.

The regular price is $3.00. However, students and teachers writing on their school stationery can obtain this year's employment guide for only $2.00 from THE ADVANCEMENT and PLACEMENT INSTITUTE, Box 99N, Station G, Brooklyn 22, N. Y.

Societies Give Winter Carnival

Epsilon Chi and Zeta Theta Psi Societies held a very successful dance with the theme "Winter Carnival" on Saturday, January 16. Music was supplied by Jimmy Brown and his combo from Albemarle, a group who have played at FMC before.

The theme of a "Winter Carnival" was carried out in the decorations which consisted of big pastel-colored snow flakes on the backdrop, a three dimensional horse and carriage on a riser covered with "snow" in front of the backdrop, and pastel trees at the base of the riser. Balloons and other white and pastel decorations were used throughout the dining hall.

Nancy Thomas, EX, and Jane Woodard, Zetesian were co-chairmen with the following committees: refreshments, Betsy Culp and Judy Bledsoe; invitations, Judy Young and Jack

Watson; entertainment, Mary Mangum and Becky Thornburg; and decorations, Grace Kennedy and Marilyn McGrath.

Everyone who went and enjoyed this delightful break before exams gave these girls a round of thanks for all the work they did to make the winter dance one to remember.

High" and "Oliver Cromwell" two songs arranged by Benjamin Britten, were sung by Margaret Ann Martin. Although she claimed to have a sore throat, Judy Rembert sounded lovely in "Old Song" by Douglas Moore. In the instrumental line Alice Carol Huggins, voice, Lorine Mitchell, flute, and Jeanette Davis, played and sang their arrangement of "The Echo" by Hindemith. The program was concluded by listening to a selection, "Mars," from the recording of The Planets by Gustave Holst.
