

Campus Notes

Former Coach Robert Vaughn was married to Miss Valeria Ward in an impressive ceremony held in the Gillsfield Baptist Church, in Petersburg, Virginia, on June 16.

Mr. E. N. Smith has returned to the campus after a year's study at New York University.

Dean W. P. Jones is on leave for study at the University of Chicago.

Using as her subject "Reading in the Recreational Program," Mrs. G. J. Midgett, librarian, spoke to the class in Recreational Programs on June 19.

The gymnasium was a scene of activity when male and female, young and old, demonstrated their agility by doing fantastic square dancing recently.

Figures were called by Mary Allbritton, Joshua Crumm, and Bernice Palmer. The affair was planned by Miss Lambert and Coach Williams.

If you missed the community sing that was given by the music classes in the auditorium Wednesday, June 27, you have much to regret. The group featured novelty songs that you would enjoy teaching your pupils next year.

Favorable bits of comment may be heard here and there on the campus about the much-needed help teachers are getting in Miss Lambert's music classes.

The following persons were recent additions to the Summer Session Faculty: Miss R. M. Burrell, acting Dean of Women; Mr. L. M. Hatton, Audio-visual Aids; Mr. A. G. Bagley, Art.

Protect Your Skin

Health and beauty of your skin depend upon the healthy functioning of your body. If your skin is less than lovely during these warm days, you must follow a program of correct eating, outdoor living, exercise and rest that will build beauty from within the body. This procedure will help you to bring your natural skin beauty to a perfect color that will last you through the years.

Soaps, creams, and lotions are not magical, but they can normalize the skin's natural functioning and neutralize some of the agencies that make the skin ugly. Soaps remove the poisonous grime of dust and perspiration. Creams supplement the natural oils of the skin. Tonic lotions hinder the dulling of slow circulation. Remember, the skin needs this care because the weather and sluggish circulation continues to tear the fragile beauty of your complexion.

Dramatic Arts Effective Here

The Dramatic Arts Class under the direction of Mrs. Julia Moore Hoffer is learning the basic arts of choosing and directing plays, stage setting, make-up, lighting and costuming.

The class, divided into groups, gave many interesting pantomines, scenes from plays, and original productions. The group, when last visited, were doing individual projects that were varied and fascinating.

On one occasion Mary Allbritton, assisted by William Price, entertained the class with an original Spanish dance. She made her own gorgeous costume of cloth and colorful crepe paper.

On another occasion Mr. Price gave a demonstration on how to use make-up on children to give them the desired age.

Mrs. H. F. Creecy gave her original monologue with three imaginary characters. It was so effective that she made us see it as a three-act play with five characters. The name of the monologue was "Mr. Buzzard, the Conjure Doctor."

Mrs. T. Stalling gave an enjoyable monologue entitled "Rock Me to Sleep, Mother, Rock Me to Sleep."

Mrs. Aretha H. Smith entertained us with an enjoyable Mother's Day Program depicting the life of a good mother and her influence on the character of her children. Her pantomime left the class spellbound.

Miss Luvenia Swain, in substituting for her friend at Sunday School, presented a very enjoyable monologue.

Mrs. Mary C. Reid gave a very interesting May Day program of stunts, field marches, and baton twirling by two of her former third grade students from Norfolk.

Mrs. Rosa Hill entertained us with a monologue depicting the life of the inhabitants of Beaufort County, North Carolina, entitled "The Promised Landers." Their performance was superb.

Messers. Maude Ramsey, Mattie S. Bowen, and Nina C. Perry presented a one-act play entitled "Truant's Dream."

Mrs. Jessie S. Bush built a miniature stage with all of its parts, including seven flats. The materials used were very simple and inexpensive. She arranged the Navity scene and played very softly "Silent Night." Her second setting was the May Day Court with a queen and all of the attendants. It was a pleasure to note this creativeness in Dramatic Arts.

We are very glad that a form of dramatics that interests small children so much is one of the favorites of the in-service teachers.

Recreation Committee Entertains

Special plans were made to entertain the students of the College on July 4, as a means of recreation and entertainment.

A picnic supper was served on the infirmary lawn. After supper, there was lounging, lawn games, and various card games.

At 7:30 p.m. a movie "He Walked by Night" was shown.

Dodgers Place Three On All-Star Team

The Brooklyn Dodgers will land more players in the All-Star game than any other team. The three are Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella and Gil Hodges. The other teams of the Major Leagues will send two men each to Detroit for the 18th inter-League contest.

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals polled 1,428,383 votes to win the left field position for the National second in the balloting. Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn was fourth. Brooklyn's Pee Wee Reese lost out at shortstop to Alvin Dark, Fain over-shadowed first-baseman Eddie Robinson of the Chicago White Sox.

For the American Leaguers, Chico Carasquel won over Phil Rizzuto at shortstop by almost 100,000 votes. The line-up for the all-stars as chosen by the fans and their batting averages as of Sunday, July 1, 1951 is:

The Daily Menu

The daily menu should include all kinds of food needed to provide adequate daily nourishment for the body. If the three meals are planned at one time, it is easy to see that all requirements are met. These meals should be served at approximately the same time each day, as the digestive organs function better on a regular schedule.

The daily food should satisfy the needs of the body for warmth and energy, for the building and repairing of the tissues, for efficient functioning of the organs, and protection against disease.

Baseball Ranks First In American Sports

No other game is more typical of Americans than is baseball. No other American institution has a greater claim to "grass roots" origin than the national pastime—baseball, and no American institution is more proud of the fact.

As the professional phrase of baseball—the organized structure—moves into a significant anniversary year, its history—yes, its purpose is fittingly expressed in the single slogan for the anniversary celebration: "THE AMERICAN WAY — BASEBALL TODAY."

This year the Minor Leagues are celebrating fifty years of organized baseball, and their partners, the Major Leagues, are conducting similar observances.

Who has made baseball one of the leading sports in the world today? We find such men as Ty Cobb, Honus Wagner, Paul Richards, Lou Gehrig and our beloved Babe Ruth. Today we have such stars as Gil Hodges, Jackie Robinson, Ted Williams, Marty Marion, Billy Cox, Don Newcomb and the great DiMaggios.

These men have made great contributions to baseball on the American scene. Baseball fans may be found not only in our country but all over the world. Do you think any sport will take the place of baseball in this country? NO! THIS IS THE AMERICAN WAY — BASEBALL TODAY!

Ingram Chosen C.I.A.A. Champ

Charles Ingram, Jr., was chosen by the coaches of Hampton Institute as the most outstanding athlete for the period 1947 - 1951.

Honesty, good conduct, good character, integrity, endurance, cooperation, a willingness to work, and good scholarship were some of the tributes in the citation. For three years, 1949, '50 and '51, he was C.I.A.A. wrestling champ.
