Elizabeth City State Pirates Upset Virginia Union 80-76

E. City Pirates Shade Shaw Bears

Seeking revenge from two setbacks. the Pirates of Elizabeth City, spearheaded by Spencer Mayfield and William Hager, trounced the Bears of Shaw University by a score of 98-83 in a decisive C. I. A. A. basketball victory in the Williams Gymnasium. An enthusiastic crowd was on hand as the Pirates stormed to a victorious decision.

In the opening minutes of play, the Pirates employed the fast break and capitalized on careless ball handling on the part of the Bears in initiating the scoring attack. Finding perfect openings in the defense of the Bears, Trotman, Hager, and Mayfield combined to accelerate the score for the Pirates. Employing a stiff defense, the Pirates held the Bears scoreless after five minutes had elapsed, May-field, 6'1" forward from Suffolk, Va., found range both inside and outside the keyhole to notch points for the thirsty Pirates. His sensational onehand jumn shot could not be stonned and jump shot could not be stopped as he registered points. Not letting up on their scoring attack, Hager and Mayfield cruised the Pirates to a comfortable 47-33 halftime lead.

Mayfield initiated the scoring attack for the Pirates to start the second half of play in this contest. The tempo scoring for the Pirates did not slow down for the Pirates as they commanded the ball game. Never was there a time when the Pirates did relinquish their lead. Hager and May field reigned supreme throughout this kingly C. I. A. A. contest as they hit for points repeatedly. New Jer-sey's pride, "Marvelous, Marv Trot-man; New York's acme of basketball claim, Cameron Curtis; and calm and swift George Long, moved the ball wonderfully well to set the stage for the "guns"-Hager and Mayfield.

With five minutes remaining on the scoreboard clock and flashing a com-manding lead, Coach Bobby Vaughan beckoned his second team to sustain the scoring attack. Sutton, R. Hager, Baker, Godette and Woods repre-senting the 2nd team, finished the game with a score of 98-83.

Top scoring honors were accredited to: Mayfield, 24; Hager, 18. Followups were Curtis, 14; Long, 12; Trot-man, 12; and Sutton, 4.

We Were Spellbound

One of the culminating points of the unit on Alaska was a visit from Mrs. Estelle Eaton of Elizabeth City State Teachers College to the fifth grade class of the Harold L. Trigg School, under the direction of Mrs. B. H. Newell, supervising teacher and Sudie Gadson, student teacher Mrs. Eaton held the group spell bound with her rich variety of ma-terial on Alaska and her unique way of describing the 49th state in every aspect.

With her she had many souvenir which included the famous Alaskan Indian totem pole carved by the Indians of Alaska, an artificial gold nugget, the black diamond from which her ring had been made, and many slides and pictures.

She began by taking the class from the United States, across the Artic Circle and then to all parts of Alaska While in Alaska, she was inspired to write of its beauty. As a sort of dessert she concluded her talk by reading some of the poems relating to Alaska, from her book, OUT OF MY DREAMS.

Wake Up Girls

To you, girls, who are not partic pating in the intramural sports, you really don't know what fun you are missing. The girls who are taking an active part in the program are enjoying it immensely. The participation in these sports benefits one by giving the body exercise and the experience of competition. If you would take the time to try playing once, no one would have to ask you again You would be doing yourself a great favor

In the local college gymnasium before a near capacity crowd, the North Carolina College Eagles flew before to a 73-62 victory. The defeat by Elizabeth City marked the second consecutive year in which Coach Floyd Brown's Eagles have opened The starting quintet for the Pi Coach Bobby Vaughan's season with rates . . . Curtis, H. Hager, Long, a victory.

A statistical analysis of the game reveals that the Pirates, although backed by nine freshman players, will have to make some rapid improve-ments if they want to come through in th C. I. A. A. this year. Eliza-beth City out-guned North Caro-lina from the floor with 26 out of 73 attempts while the Eagles bagged only 29 out of 88. The Pirates managed to out-jump the passes which automatically threw the contest away That, plus the fact that they made only 10 out of 27 free throw attempts while the Eagles were hitting at a clip of .632 from the charity line means the difference between victory and defeat.

North Carolina, led by Prestor Lewis and Willie Benjamin, jumped to an early 26-7 lead after only ten minutes of action. With these two visiting high scorers ripping holes through the Pirates' defense, the Eagles climbed to a 40-23 halftime mar

Elizabeth City came back in the second half to almost shake off a first period state of panic and errors to come within ten points, 44-54, of notting the game. With Henry Hager pumping from the outside and Marvin Trotman driving through, the Pirates waged a see-saw battle from there on in.

The Eagles, getting ample support from Walter Benjamin, Lulius Boone, and Duncan Campbell, fought off Elizabeth City's late rally to increase their lead to 64-51 with only five minutes remaining. The Pirates, as indicated, weak on the free throw line on several occasions, failed to come through as hoped they would. Hager, the lanky 6-4 junior from Belmont, N. C., took the scoring and rebounding honors with 19 points and just as many rebounds. He was followed in the scoring department by the acrobatical shots of his mate, Trotman with 17 points. Lewis was North Carolina's lone high-point man who came to within four points catching Hager.
