Four Elizabeth City State College students, attended the Association of College Union's Regional Conference at North Carolina State University at Raleigh, October 28, 29, and 30. The theme of the conference was "How to Succeed in Union Programming by Really Trying." The program consisted of a series of 13 workshops which covered various phases of college union programming.

Delegates to attend were Joan C. Smith, President of the Light-house, Bettie J. Ashe, Vice President, Phyllis Ballance, Co-Chairman of the Hospitality Committee, and Shelly Willingham, Co-Chairman of the Forum Committee. The group was accompanied by Mr. Herbert Hilliard, Program Director and Mrs. Anna Bluford, Advisor to the Fine Arts Committee.

Elizabeth City State College was one of the colleges selected to present a workshop and serve as co-moderator. The topic was shared with the University of Virginia. The workshop was presented by Mr. Shelley Willingham, and the topic discussed by Bettie Ashe. The event that they presented was the International Week Program.

At each of the discussions, all of the delegates joined the discussion and presented programs from our College Union. The delegates feel that this exchange of knowledge will make the Light-house program stronger and the entire college family will benefit.

International Week Observed

November 14-19, 1965 was the International Week and College Union Celebration for the Light-house College Center. The theme was "Link to International Understanding—Brotherhood and Friendship."

The week was opened with an International Tea with Mrs. Charlotte House as guest speaker. Mrs. House discussed "Herbs Around the World" and brought samples of the herbs she discussed.

During the week there were travelogues, discussions, and exhibits from all over the world. Our special guests included Mrs. James Iverson from Elizabeth City, North

The faculty is proud to have Dr. Sutton as a member of Elizabeth City State College.

Talent on Display

By Rudolph Brown and June Faye James

Wondering what all the noise was about last Thursday night in Moore Hall's Auditorium? You mean you still haven't found out? All you had to do was ask somebody. You would have found that a "Talent Show" sponsored by the Omegas of E.C.S.C. was going on.

In spite of all the excitement, the show finally got on its way with a prelude by Dr. Carl Franklin and a number by the band.

The Emcee was John Roberston. he introduced a group, that sent the audience in screams, with "Stand By Me." Of course, this was the fabulous E. V. freshmen group Archie Davis and his Vicates—Linda Richardson, Barbara Futrell and Carolyn Ingram.

Before the audience could get

Dr. Rose Brown Sparks American Education Week

Coltrane, Achievement Week Speaker

Mr. David S. Coltrane, Director of Good Neighbor Council in Raleigh was the Guest speaker at the National Annual Achievement Week Program, November 14. The program was sponsored by the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

The theme for the evening was "America's Responsibility for the Development of Human Talent." This theme proved most appropriate as Mr. Coltrane elaborated on the progress of the Negro in his fight for freedom. He stated that the Negro is no longer one who can be ignored but a person who has a definite place in the future of America.

The progress that this institution is making towards the development of mankind was a statement of great significance brought out by Mr. Coltrane. To close out his most inspiring talk, it was said that, now since so many areas are open to the Negro, he must prepare himself to take advantage of these new opportunities, which can only be accomplished through a sound education.

On Thursday, November 10, 1965, the Education Department (with representation from Kappa Delta Pi and Student National Education Association) sponsored an assembly program emphasizing this year's American Education Week theme. "Invest in Learning," which proved to be interesting, inspiring, and intellectually stimulating.

The principal speaker of the day was Dr. Rose Butler Brown, who, prior to her retirement, was chairman of the Department of Education, North Carolina College at Durham, N.C.; Chairman, Department of Psychology, Virginia State College, Petersburg, Virginia; and Head, Department of Psychology, W. Va. State College, Institute, W. Va. and Head, Department of Education, Bluefield State College, Bluefield, West Virginia. Dr. Brown obtained her bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Rhode Island and Rhode Island College of Education, respectively, and her doctor's degree from Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts. She presently resides in Durham, N.C. where she is district chairman of the Bright Leaf Area Girl Scout Council and Director of the Happy Hour Child Care Center, and

Homecoming, A Gala Occasion

All expectations were fulfilled as over five thousand persons crowded the campus in celebration of homecoming during the college's 75th Anniversary, on November 6. It was for a grand occasion and was treated in a grand way.

The big day started with a parade, the largest held in the city in the last several years. As the high stepping bands marched down the main streets of the city, they were applauded time and time again. The eyes of the spectators sparkled as they viewed the many lovely floats. The winning floats represented the Industrial Arts Department, Science Department, and Physical Education Department. Only six points separated first and third place floats. Some commented that these were the best ever.

Enroute to the campus, the parade picked up many followers. Many were detained by the heavy traffic and as the teams entered Vikings Stadium, there were few spectators present. However, as the game proceeded, the stands were soon filled. The atmosphere was decorated with cheers as the fans were engulfed by the excitement of the game.

"Miss ECSC," Bessie Carr, a senior English major, was presented a bouquet of flowers by President Walter N. Ridley. Mrs. Bessie Gladys Jones '27 was crowned "Miss Alumni" by Mr. Isaac A. Battle, president of the General Alumni Association.

As always the homecoming game was the center of attraction and what a game it was as the "Vikings" rolled to a 22-8 victory over the Fayetteville "Broncos." This was a very fine ending to a wonderful beginning.

The annual Alumni dance was given at the National Guard Armory and a student dance was given in Williams Hall to end the gala occasion.
