Gone Is Snipes -- Now The "Falcon"

by Dallas Brown

Eugene Snipes

Eugene Snipes, whom most of us know as just Snipes, will be transferring his athletic skills away from our ECSC football field to wherever the Atlanta Falcons battle.

Snipes, a tall 6 ft., 188 lb. package, was through the year closely scouted by the San Francisco Forty-Niners, Dallas Cowboys, Pittsburgh Steelers, Oakland Raiders, New York Jets, and Baltimore Colts. Then, he was drafted by the Los Angeles Rams who in turn immediately sold him to the Atlanta Falcons, who were fast after him as well.

Playing split-end, flanker-back and possibly on the specialty team, will yield Snipes a salary "in the neighborhood" of $30,000. How did he ever get to sign a contract for such a large sum? Well, the pros say it was speed, hands, height, personal carriage, and his ability in negotiating his contract.

Old ECSC football fans may remember Snipes in action as end, half-back, split-end, or flanker-back. He totaled 93 passes in three years, 18 touchdowns, as well as 11 extrapoints. Sometimes Coach Caldwell utilized his skill as a blocker, where the coach says "he performed quite adequately."

The Falcons are hoping that Snipes can solve one of their biggest problems, created by the lack of a wide and fast receiver. ECSC thanks Raleigh and Legion High for giving us Snipes or "The Falcon" for a few years.

Matmen Finish Season With Honors

by Mack Thompson

The wrestlers of Vikingland, led by co-captains Wayne Holmes and William Hill, rewarded us with overwhelming victories derived from desire, determination, and hard training. According to Coach Roy Knight, "it was the best team we have had in the four years of wrestling." He stated that the leading contributing factors of improvements were due to outstanding freshmen who had previous wrestling experience in high school.

Coach Knight gave special recognition and congratulations to some members of the team for outstanding performances. They were Eliza Barco, Irvin Coggins, Wayne Holmes, William Hill, Julius Webb, and Eric Keyes. Three of these gained honors in the CIAA wrestling tournament held at Howard University which paced the Vikings with a team standing of fourth. They were William Hill-third place 130 lbs., Julius Webb-third place 145 lbs., and Eric Keyes-second place 160 pounds. Keyes was voted as runnerup for the most outstanding wrestler of the tournament.

Coach Knight's comments on next year's expectations were "We will have a better team because of the increased experience of the present members and of incoming students." He also expressed his intentions of participating in next year's annual national tournaments held in Pennsylvania-NCAA, Minnesota-NAIA, and Cleveland, Ohio-41's.

From the Compass Staff we say to the wrestling team and its coach-CONGRATULATIONS.

Intramural Highlights Basketball

by Mack Thompson

The National and American Intramural Basketball League has finished an exciting season which many students witnessed unbelievably spectacular dribbling, shooting, and rebounding from outstanding members of each team! The leagues were composed of six teams: Ques, Raiders, Feltas, Royals, All-Stars, and Freshmen.

At the end of regular season play, the Ques, led by Marvin Spaulding, had obtained first place in the American League by finishing a perfect season of three wins and no losses (3-0). The Royals, led by flashy Timothy Williams, dominated the National League with a 3-0 record and took sole possession of first place.

Favored to win the annual tournament which all teams will participate are the Royals, who seem to have more balance and depth. At present, the first round of the tournament has been completed with the Raiders defeating the Majors by a forfeit, the Royals over the Feltas by forfeit, and the All-Stars placing victory over the Freshmen by a score of 62 to 58. Leading the scoring for the All-Stars were William Johnson and George Riley with 28 and 20 points respectively. Donnell Moore and Michael Andrews paced the losers with 18 and 16 points respectively.

At the end of this season there will be great anticipation of cooperation and participation of all students in intramural softball.
