"Roy Smith". "How old is you Roy?" ... "I'm twelve." "Are you Roy?" "No I'm not Roy, I just told you my name was Henry."

"I mean you don't say 'is you' but 'are you' and I'm twenty five."

"Oh I see, can I call you brother, Roy? "Can I call you Henry Jr.? .. Henry Jr." "Yep.. he answered."

Okay Henry Jr. shake on that, you and I are now full blood bound soul brothers, "through thick and thin till the end," replied Henry Jr. Okay brother since you ain't got no place to stay you can stay with me.

"And where do you live might I ask?" "Right now I'm staying at Uncle Bill's house he went to California driving a truck and he let me keep the house." "Come on man, I can take the suit case."

"Well if you absolutely insist and I'll take your box, Roy answered.

Off they strode with Henry Jr. asking questions about this and that, eager to know everything about Roy and his past. Ed. Note: To be continued in future issues.

FINANCIAL AID

Thorpe, "We raised this amount above our normal budget through grants or contributions from the federal government, the state of North Carolina, private organizations, and individuals." In addition to the above amount, more funds are expected to be received before July 1, 1969 that will push the total well over one million dollars.

A breakdown of the fundraising report showed the following sources of financial contributions: federal government, $527,915 plus a balance of $48,029 which was

G.R. Little Library Awarded Grant

The G. R. Little Library at Elizabeth City State University has been awarded a $6,058 grant under Title II-A, Higher Education Act of 1965. Granted under the college Library Resources Program, the grant will be used to upgrade ECSU's collection of books and other materials.

According to Hobson Thompson, the university's librarian, this will be the fourth such grant received by ECSU since 1965. The library, which currently has 63,389 volumes, was recently selected to participate in the Education Improvement Project of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. Under this program ECSU is now scheduled to receive $1,000 worth of books (mostly paperbacks) in the area of black studies. Both grants will greatly expand the collections in organizations, $26,019; and individuals $7,247. The latest amount recommended was a $25,000 federal grant, authorized under Title VI, Higher Education Act of 1965.

SCHOOL MASTERS AT ECSU

The Northeastern North Carolina School Masters Club held its monthly meeting at Elizabeth City State University. Headed by W. H. Creecy, Principal, White Oak School, the 28 member organization met to continue its discussion of current issues and proposals affecting public school education. Dr. Marion D. Thorpe, President of Elizabeth City State University; Thomas E. Carter, Acting Dean; Dr. Ernest A. Finney, Director of Student Teaching and Summer School, and Lawrence E. Sugg, Assistant Professor of English are members of the organization from the host school.

Dr. Thorpe was confident that "Additional funds will be received by Elizabeth City State University before July 1." "These funds have been and will be used to secure, improve, and/or expand: student services and financial aid; equipment; research; the library; athletics; and other areas and aspects of development at the college," he explained.

GREETINGS

I have a dream of a "oneness" here at ECSU a togetherness, I believe that we together, "us" can fulfill this and reach heights which once seemed impossible for ECSU.

Just look around, we're winners on all sides, "we're moving on up".
