

Repas given at Bias Hall

Bias Hall was the setting of a lovely repast with Freshmen and their Supervisors Mrs. M.G. Lewis and Mrs. D. B. Newby as hostesses.

Mr. W.C. Witherspoon, Director of Student Personnel and Mr. W.B. Spence, Associate Director of Student Personnel were guest speakers.

Mrs. Witherspoon praised the student's for their behavior, their dress and for what he believed they would continue to do.

Mr. Witherspoon further stated that ideally, every woman who enrolls in college should have gained the experience and maturity of judgement to handle her own affairs in a socially approved ways. Her ability to take

ECSU choir

The University Choir, under the direction of Miss Fvelyn Johnson, has embarked upon a new year. The choir has already begun to prepare for a successful and enjoyable year.

There are now 80 mixed voices in this year's choir. Under the dynamic leadership of Charles Moore as president, the

Delta dance and Lampodas

Rush party

The Deltas and Lampodas entertained fellow Vikings which brought excitement to ECSU campus.

Everyone had a wonderful time dancing plus entertainment was given by the Lamps. The Lamps gave one of the best shows ever on this campus.

The show consisted of the introduction of the Lamps followed by recitation of poems, the history of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. The most exciting phase of the show was a series of mood steps and the serenade of many popular songs.

responsibility for what she says and does in the college community, more than anything else she should be able to accept responsibility for freedom she enjoys. He assured the young ladies that he understood them and their problems — For though he was chronologically older — His mind was yet young.

He also stated his willingness and readiness at all times to help them in any way possible.

Mr. Spence, also commended the young ladies and stated that he desired to help with any problems they might encounter at any time.

To the Freshmen—this was their first great night at ECSU! They look forward to more teams, like Mr. Witherspoon and Mr. Spence, to join their caravan of TOGETHERNESS.

choir has big plans. The scholarship fund provided many needed voices in the Soprano and Bass scores.

To the choir members—freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors, we salute and we are kicking you one-hundred percent

Acquaintance affair

The Women's Government Association sponsored a Getting To Know You Affair in the University Center.

Jean Boyd, President of WGA presided the session. The introduction of the guest speaker was by Rena Hackney, Vice-President of WGA. Our Viking brother Clavin Nunnally merely gave a brief talk on the important facts as the women's liberation plus other facts were expressed. Nunnally emphasized that students should use their mouth to tell some of their grips to the head personnel instead of discussing them among themselves.

The audience actively participated with some important gripes.

They were: Why we have no meat for breakfast?

The lack of furniture in some rooms. Of course, ladies hours.

These are only a few in number of the many gripes that were stated in the session. Also very constructive things about the University were stated. A staff member of the University made a statement about the women students very respectable and well mannered mood of dress. After the Nunnally presentation, the treasurer report was given by Ruby Kennedy. Many faculty and staff members attended this wonderful affair. Refreshments were served after the session was closed with the benediction by Jean Boyd.

Introducing Alpha Phi Gamma

Alpha Phi Gamma National Journalism Fraternity was founded December 11, 1919. Its principal purposes are to give honor to those individuals who have made achievements in journalism and to help maintain and improve the quality of student publications.

The general purposes of the fraternity are to give recognition and honor to individual ability and participation in student publications in a college. The fraternity is coed.

The Elizabeth City State University Chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma is the Delta Rho Chapter, which was established May 5, 1970 with active and Associate members.

The active members of Alpha Phi Gamma are: Samuel King, President, John Spencer, Vice-President, Geraldine Cox, Secretary, Ka-Esbia Phillips, Treasurer; Robert Ward, Bailiff, and Velmar Roundtree.

Dr. Anne Henderson is an associate member.

Mr. Leonard Ballou and Mr. Lawrence E. Sugg are the advisors.

Active membership is open only to those eligible students who have leading positions in a college publication. Associate membership is open to heads of departments and faculty members and administrators who are actively involved in public relations or institutional publications.

The Delta Rho Chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma is now an active organization. Many activities are being planned that will promote greater recognition and strengthen publications at ECSU.

Help!

The Compass

The Compass Staff is pleading to passers by for help in keeping the Compass rating high. The Compass is rated yearly, presently our standings are 2nd place and 55 points away from 1st place. With all the different personalities there are on the campus of ECSU, next year our paper will rate 1st place. Notices will be posted informing time and place of meetings. I will be waiting for your assistance.
