AKA Theme: Service To Mankind

By Faye E. Smith

The Sorors of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. gave tribute to their sorority with a week of activities.

With emphasis on religion and "service to mankind", a vesper was spondored. Dr. Marcus V. Ingram, Chairman of the Business Department and a Brother of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. delivered an inspirational message. His theme was "Time is Running Out." Several baskets of food and clothes that had been collected were given to a needy family in the area. The Sorors would like to thank each organization for making such a sacrifice to help others in the time of need.

Chancellor Thorpe praised the work of the sorority in their effort to aid such a needy cause. The Brothers of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. were given a special thanks for their assistance in making the program a success. Although attendance was small in body, it was big in heart.

At the beginning of the week, a showcase was displayed in Moore Hall. It featured tokens, books, pillows, pens, a pennant, the chapter sweater, jewelry and other fine articles that belonged to the Sorors of Delta Theta Chapter.

During this week, the brothers Alpha Phi Alpha and the Sweethearts of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternities had opportunities to eat dinner with the AKA's alternately. Their table was decorated in pink and green and ivy leaves added that special touch. A campus Beautification Day was held and cards were placed on the tables in the cafeteria encouraging students to take their trays up after they finished eating.

The Sorors really enjoyed their week and wish to thank everyone who made it so enjoyable and successful.

Honor Society Chapter Holds Initiation

After congratulations from the members and comments from Dr. Louise N. Sutton, one of the advisors, a reception followed.
