

Stuff ya oughta know

by Jeanne Rutledge

University Center

The University Center offers students recreational, cultural and educational activities. Classes in chess, billiards and other table games are offered. For those who feel they have gained the expertise, or just want to have fun competing, December is tournament month. Tournament winners will be presented with trophies.

Speaking of competition, there are video games to test your "computer age" talents.

Magazines, television, free TV schedules, bingo, poetry hour and piped music are just a few of the extra services offered at the center. New additions are the Beauty Salon and Post Office. Free lockers are available for commuting students, and for everyone who eats - there is a cafeteria, complete with a salad bar.

International Week is another of the University Center's highlights. During the week of Nov 7, there will be a carnival, a panel discussion on major religions of the world with a noted speaker, and many other activities. The week concludes with a dinner where each guest brings an international dish and enjoys an evening of music and dance. Everyone at ECSU is invited to attend. As Program Director, Charles Foster says, "International Week is designed to foster greater understanding and good will throughout the community."

Panels and forums on current national and international affairs are also held at the University Center, along with seminars for students on various topics such as how to study, etiquette and assertiveness.

Sound interesting? A calendar with the center's monthly activities is available at the front desk in the center. Mr. Foster would also like students to know, "The University Center is always open to suggestions and constructive criticism."

Hours for the center are Monday - Friday 8:00-11:00, Saturday 2:00-11:00, and Sunday 3:00-11:00. For further information call EXT: 288.

BEEP

The Basic Education Enrichment Program (BEEP) offers tutorial assistance to students having problems with subjects. After all, we all need help sometimes.

Mrs. Wanda McLean, Director of BEEP, suggests students who are having problems should not wait until mid-term exams before seeking assistance.

One benefit of a tutor, is just having the material explained a little differently by someone other than the instructor. This is often enough to make the difference. Often the student's and instructor's schedules do not allow extra time for out of class reinforcement. With a tutor, the student has a time and location which allow him/her to ask questions and fully understand the subject that is causing endless nights of lost sleep-not mentioning unwanted grades.

Mrs. McLean suggests, "Once a student comes in for tutoring, a teacher may take the fact into consideration when it comes time for the final grade. Attending tutoring sessions on a regular basis is highly encouraged once a student begins." BEEP also offers tutoring for our visual and hearing impaired students.

The tutor may be a faculty member or a student. Mrs. McLean would eventually like those students who tutor in the area of their major to receive one hour credit. Students interested in becoming tutors must have a B average and a reference letter from the Department Head of the subject which they wish to tutor. At the present time Math, World Civilization, and Academic Skills (Speech & Writing) tutors are needed. Both faculty and students are urged to volunteer.

For more information call Mrs. McLean at ext:468, or visit her office in Lane Hall Room 106-112.

Career Counseling Center

Where can you find assistance in filling out a resume or job application? Student Services not only offers professional assistance in that area, but in career counseling and placement as well. This is the place to go if you would like to know where your degree will take you in the business world.

As you continue with your education, or for job placement, testing is available in the following areas:

NTE (National Teachers Exam); GRE (Graduate Record Exam); SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test); and others.

Throughout the year, the visiting business and industry recruiters are posted at the University Center.

According to Dr. Harry Ghee, Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, "Student Services offers the mechanics of job seeking to interested students."

Intramural sports are offered through Student Services, and the Director of Residence Life, Kenneth Roberts, has his office located in Student Services.

Office hours are from 8-5, Monday - Friday, EXT: 276.

Stuff ya gotta do...

Seniors, Get Your Fee Waivers!!

If you are a senior and meet the financial eligibility guidelines, do not miss this opportunity to take a national standardized test at no cost to you.

The GRE will be administered on ECSU's campus Saturday, December 10, 1983. See a counselor for additional information and GRE bulletins.

PRE-GRADUATE TESTING SCHEDULE

MCAT- To Be Announced.

LSAT-October 1, 1983

GMAT-October 22, 1983

NTE-Core Battery October 29, 1983

Speciality Battery November 12, 1983

GRE- December 10, 1983

Stuff ya better remember...

October 6---Graduate and Professional School Day.

October 10-14-5-day Plan to Stop Smoking Seminar.

October 14---Last day to drop classes!!

October 21---Coronation Ball.

October 22---Queen's Dance.

October 23-28-Homecoming Week.

N U C L E A R

