To Release the Crown

Coronation 1983 was an enchanting Affair. Through its majestic and dazzling air, the princesses, knights, nobles, and even the subjects were captivated by the ideal beauty of the event.

In every crowning of a new campus queen, the presence of the proceeding queen brings back fond memories. The reign of the queen who is about to give up her crown is always thought of as she takes her last walk as the official reigning dignitary.

How does one say good-bye to a queen who has made an outstanding impact on the royalty of ECSU?

As Patti Austin and James Ingram sings "The Music Never Ends," the reign of Lynette Lorraine Watson, Miss ECSU 1982-83 will never come to a complete stop.
