Students Vote Lewis Turner President

By Mary Session

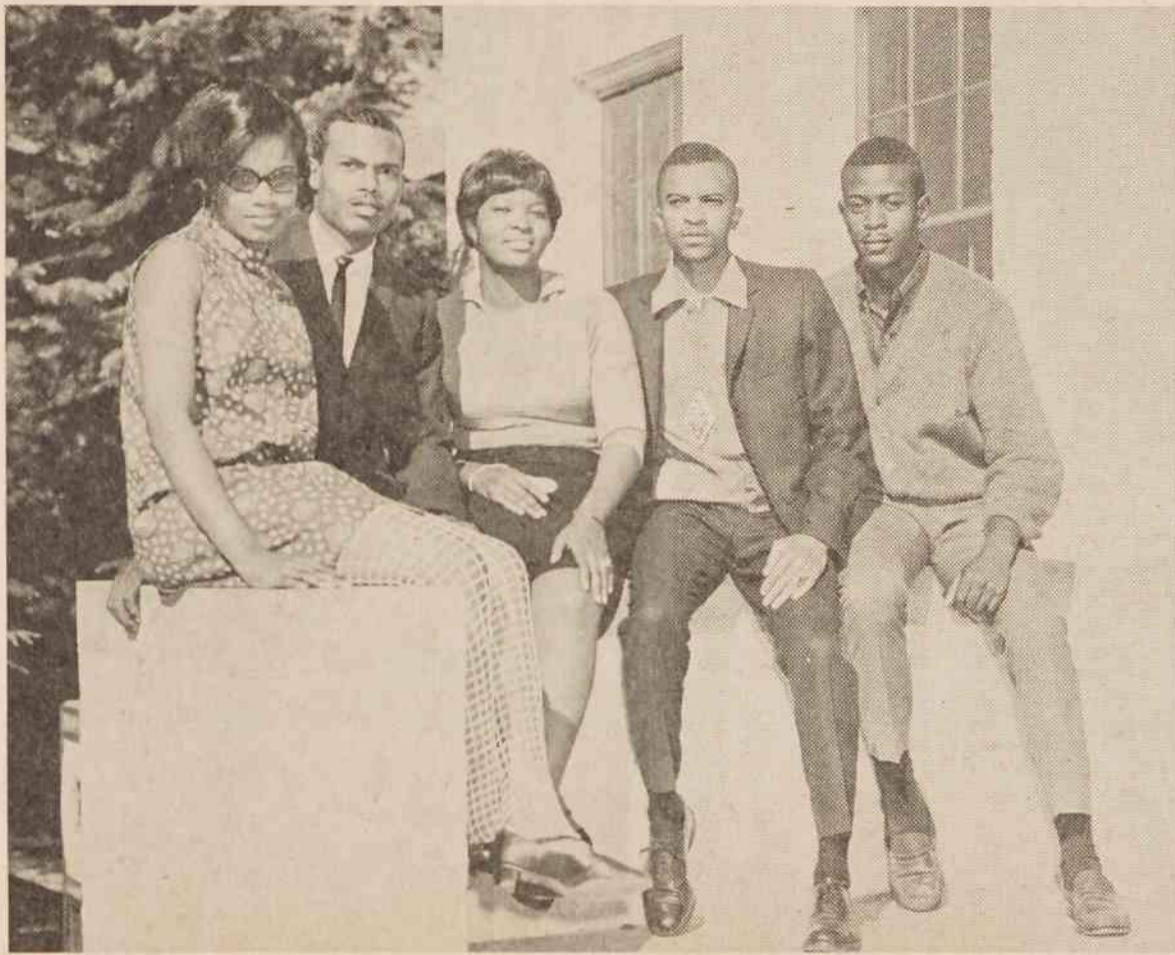

The outcome of the student government election proved to be an excellent way for the students here at WSSC to show their judgment.

Because a voting machine was used this year, the results of the election were determined after the last voter.

Officers elected were:

Lewis Turner, Jr., president, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Turner, Sr. of Newark, N. J. A senior, Turner is majoring in physical education with a minor in Sociology. His extra-curricular activities include membership on the varsity football and baseball teams; on the Brown Hall's Dormitory Council; in the Physical Education Club (treasurer); on the yearbook staff (business manager); and in the "Regulars" social organization. He was president of his junior class and social vice-president of the SGA last year. He had this to say:

"I believe with the help and cooperation of the student body entirely, we as members of the student council can help make this year one of the biggest, best and most prosperous school years ever. We are working for you as students and with the administration as well. With this in mind, give us your full support and we will strive endlessly for your cause."

James Foster, Jr., Director of Student Affairs, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Foster, Sr. of Tuckahoe, N. Y. A senior, Foster is majoring in music, with a minor in voice. His current activities include president of the college choir, vice-president of the senior class, and membership in the MENC. He was class reporter his freshman year, and class vice-president and vice-president and business manager of the college choir his junior year. He had this to say:

"I have been very much impressed and satisfied with the council meetings we have had to date. My committee is composed of the presidents of each class. Together we are striving to obtain some of the things we have not had in the past. I would like to remind all students that we need your complete support in matters concerning student affairs. So help us obtain the things for you that you want."

David C. Corry, director of judicial affairs, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Corry of Salisbury, N. C. A senior, Corry is majoring in elementary education. At present his extra-curricular activities include: art editor of yearbook staff and president of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity. He was also a past SGA officer. He had this to say:

Barbara Tuck Is Homecoming Queen

The Wednesday assembly was the setting for the speeches of Miss Barbara Still and Miss Barbara Tuck, candidates for the title of Miss Winston-Salem State College.

Miss Still, the junior candidate said, "Who ever wears the crown must be willing and capable of adjusting to many intricate situations. The queen must portray finer womanhood, school spirit, scholarship and most of all a dedication to the welfare of the entire student body."

I feel that I exemplify each of these qualities and I hope that I am worthy of your consideration to be the next Miss Winston-Salem State College.

Miss Tuck, the senior candidate compared herself with three important women in our history. She compared her ability to use weapons to that of Joan of Arc, her cunning charm that raised her to great heights to that of Cleopatra, and her beauty to that of Helen of Troy.

Miss Tuck said, "I want to represent a complete and unified student body composed of newly orientated freshmen, dynamic sophomores and loyal seniors and even the worthy juniors, who have not discouraged me."

After the election, Miss Tuck received word that she had won the title. Upon hearing the news, she said, "I am very happy and thankful to everybody that supported me at the polls."

Sophomore attendant to Miss Tuck was Alease E. Manns, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis S. Manns of 5045 Butterfield Drive in Winston-Salem. Her major is elementary education, and her minor is sociology.

Freshman attendant was Janice Lynnette Gore, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar L. Gore of Southport, N. C. She is a major in elementary education and minor in sociology.
