

Honorees Mary L. Hagwood (L.), Hallie Forte, and Patricia Adams Johnson chat with Mrs. Annie S. Frasier, Scholars Day Chairman, and Attorney Julius L. Chambers, speaker.

OUTSTANDING STUDENTS HONORED ON AWARDS DAY

On May 8, Winston-Salem State College honored those students and faculty members who have been active in various school activities and sports events during the 1967-68 school term.

After the prelude and invocation, Lewis Turner, president of the Student Government Association, spoke briefly using as his topic, "What Kind of Citizen are You?" "In many respects," said Mr. Turner, "being a citizen of the United States is like being a citizen of Winston-Salem State. You have both rights and duties. You have the right to an education. You have the right to fair treatment as an individual."

The Awards Day Program address was delivered by Mr. Carl Eller, a native of Winston-Salem. Presently Mr. Eller is playing professional football with the Minnesota Vikings.

Mr. Eller said, "As Negro youth, we are faced with a new dilemma, to challenge or to accept. To challenge is to employ every resource, every energy to reconstruct the traditions that govern our daily lives. Do not allow yourselves to become stagnant in an everchanging world. After 400 years, this is no time to camouflage under a blanket of ignorance and complacency. Now is the time when we must go on faith and assert ourselves in becoming better educated, getting better jobs and raising better children."

The awards were divided into four categories: special honors and awards, faculty awards, student leadership-citizenship awards, fine arts and outstanding performers.

The SNEA certificate was awarded to Ernest Clemons and Linda Whitfield; Terry Morgan received the Student Teacher of the Year Certificate. Janet Mason was the recipient of the Zeta Phi Beta Woman of the Year Award. The Day Student Merit Award for outstanding participation in student organizations was received by Robbin Kirkland and Wilma F. Peoples. Robbin Kirkland presented Lewis Turner, Student Government President, the Omega Plaque. This award is given for outstanding leadership and service to the college community.

The faculty awards were given to Mr. Robert Cummings, Mr. Robert Shepherd, and Dr. Joseph N. Patterson. These three faculty members, in the students' opinions, have made the greatest contributions in classroom teaching, campus activities and community services.

The student leadership-citizenship awards were given to members of the respective classes and organizations. The Freshman recipient was Randolph Mills, Jr. The Sophomore award went to Janet Beckett. William S. Crews won the honors for the Junior Class. Lewis Turner was the honoree for the Senior Class.

Leah K. Pulliam was recognized for her leadership in the Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority; Norma A. Wright was honored for her leadership in the Delta Sigma Theta sorority; and Carolyn F. Page won the honors from the Zeta Phi Beta sorority.

For outstanding leadership in a fraternity the recipients were: Joseph Lightsey for Alpha Phi Alpha, David Corry, Kappa Alpha Psi, Johnson B. Hunter, Phi Beta Sigma, and Carolyn F. Page, for Phi Beta Lambda.

James Hairston received an award for his leadership in Brown Hall. Doretha Clifton and Annie Graves received the award from Atkins Hall. Other awards were: Hallie Forte, and Shirley Gilchrist, Bickett Hall; Rosalyn Hill and Ina Orr, Colson Hall; Melva Cannon and Betty Floyd, Moore Hall; Lillian Hoggard and Linda Whitfield, Pegram Hall.

Charles Thornton is the recipient of the Afro-American Club award; Janet Beckett, and Wilma F. Peoples, the Argus Newspaper Staff; Fannie Satterfield, the Charm Club; Willie Jones, the Dramatics Guild; English Club, Arthur Blue; Linda B. Twitty, the NAACP; and Shirley Clavon, and Sandra Hewett, P Phi E. For various religious activities, Ella Belle, Westminster Fellowship; Kenneth Griffin, the Lutheran Club; and Janet Mason, the Baptist Student Union. Carole

(Continued on Page Eight)

WSSC HONORS TOP STUDENTS ON SCHOLARS DAY

Winston-Salem State College honored sixteen students who have excelled scholastically during a Scholars Day Program held April 24.

The speaker for the Scholars Day program was Mr. Julius L. Chambers, an outstanding Charlotte attorney. Attorney Chambers is a graduate of North Carolina College at Durham with an M.A. degree in History from the University of Michigan. He received his Law degree from the University of North Carolina and was the first legal intern with the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund in 1963-64, working principally in civil rights cases in Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and Alabama.

Heading the list of those honored was Patricia Adams Johnson, a senior from Tobaccoville, who was honored for having the highest average in English, for achieving a perfect average during the fall semester, achieving honorable mention status in the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship competition, for receiving a $2,200 fellowship to attend Wake Forest University, for the membership in Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society, for being elected to Who's Who among students in American Universities and Colleges and for earning better than a 3.0 average over a four year period.

Hallie Forte, a senior from Raleigh, shared the spotlight with Mrs. Johnson. She was honored for having the highest average in education and psychology, for earning a perfect average during the fall semester, for being inducted into Alpha Kappa Mu and for maintaining better than a 3.0 average for a four year period.

The program was designed to honor those beyond the freshman class. However, Mary L. Hagwood of Leaksville was honored for superior scholarship in the freshman class.

Awards were given for highest scholarship in the areas as indicated below: Art, Maggie E. Whitt of Roxboro; Biology, Cynthia E. Wells of Sedalia; Business Education, Frances L. Riddick of Ahoskie; Chemistry, Frank A. Robinson of Winston-Salem; Drama, Jacquelyn Taylor of Brooklyn, N. Y.; History, William Crews of Advance; Library Science, Mary Taylor of Greenville; Mathematics, Larry Butler of Winston-Salem; Music, Susie C. Siler of Greensboro; Nursing, Barbara A. Spencer of Goldsboro; Physical Education, Claudia M. Cherry of Sharpsburg; Physics, Benjamin G. Penn of Martinsville, Va., and Sociology, Gloria Herring of Lakewood, N. J.

Mrs. Annie S. Frasier, chairman of the college Honors Committee presided and introduced Mr. Chambers. The college choir furnished music. President Kenneth R. Williams made remarks and Dean Lafayette Parker presented special awards. Those receiving special awards were: Jacquelyn Taylor, an NDEA Grant to attend the University of California at Santa Barbara; Cynthia E. Wells, a research grant in biology from the North Carolina Academy of Science; and Dorothy Newkirk, an award from the Forsyth County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Robbin Kirkland presents gift to Mr. Robert Cummings, SGA advisor, as Lewis Turner looks on.

Carl Eller gives autographs to WSSC students Calvin Horne (left), Arthur Blue and Larry Spenser.

Helping Lewis Turner hold his awards are SGA officers Nancy Wright (L.) and Gail Owens.